Overcoming Learning and Behaviour Difficulties Tony Charlton, Dr Kevin Jones, 2002-01-04 Partnership with students involving them more in decisions which effect their education can improve both motivation and behaviour This is recognised by recent legislation notably the Code of Practice for special needs The contributions in this collection first consider issues such as empowerment and sources for learning and behaviour difficulties The central sections written by respected experts look at different kinds of partnership and how they can be used including peer tutoring counselling contracts class based support self monitoring and a range of whole school approaches

Policies for Diversity in Education Tony Booth, Mary Masterson, Patricia Potts, Will Swann, 2013-09-27 The emphasis in this book shifts to the coordination of practice into schools regional and national policies and the power and interest groups concerned with educational difficulties and disability In the opening section the authors review the location of power in the systems the impact of Local Management of Schools case studies of Union policy the National Curriculum Council and voluntary societies They then look at one threatened element of the power structure the local education authorities They examine the features of local authority policy and attempt to systematise local policy The experience of families is examined in their relationships with professionals particularly during the preparation of Statements of Special Educational Need This is followed by sections on services for under fives integrating education and the authors provide examples of changing school policies and the practices that have arisen from them supporting the learning of all pupils in primary and secondary schools changing the role of special schools ensuring that girls and boys are provided with equal opportunities writing a development plan and the experience of a teacher with a disability They then examine policies and practices in education after school and finish with theories of integration and disability

Equality and Diversity in Education 1 Felicity Armstrong, Mary Masterton, Patricia Potts, 2013-10-08 Designed to accompany the Open University course Developing Intensive Curricula Equality and Diversity in Education Vol 1 will appeal to research students undertaking research in the area of education focusing on special needs

From Them to Us Mel Ainscow, Tony Booth, 2005-06-23 Inclusive education has become a phrase with international currency shaping the content of conferences and national educational policies around the world But what does it mean Is it about including a special group of disabled learners or students seen to have special needs them or is it concerned with making educational institutions inclusive responsive to the diversity of all their students us In this unique comparative study the editors have brought together an international team of researchers from eight countries to develop case studies which explore the processes of inclusion and exclusion within a school or group of schools set in its local and national context The study includes classroom observation the experiences of the school day of students and interviews with staff students parents and school governors Through an innovative juxtaposition of the case studies and commentaries on them differences of perspective within and between countries are revealed and analysed The study arose from a dissatisfaction with previous research which presents national perspectives or seeks findings that have global significance This book avoids such simplification and draws attention to the problems of translation of practice across cultures The editors start from an assumption of diversity of perspective which like the diversity of students within schools can be viewed as problematic or as a resource to be recognized and celebrated

Disabling Policies? Gillian Fulcher, 2015-12-22 First published in 1989 this book is about integrating or mainstreaming policies looking specifically at how to improve circumstances for schoolchildren with disabilities or handicaps and their teachers The author draws on her experiences both within and outside the academic institution to conceptualise and theorise policy so as to place this policy in a political framework and locate it in a wider model of social life This model is then used to disentangle the nature and effects of policy practices surrounding integration and mainstreaming looking at practice in various parts of Europe the US and Australia at that time Although written at the end of the 1980s this book discusses topics that are still relevant today

Improving Schools, Developing Inclusion Mel Ainscow, Tony Booth, Alan Dyson, 2006-09-27 While many books explore the possibilities for developing inclusive practices in schools and inclusion is widely regarded as a desirable goal much of the literature on the subject has been narrowly concerned with the inclusion of pupils with special educational needs This book however takes the view that marginalisation exclusion and underachievement take many forms and affect many different kinds of child As such a definition of inclusion should also touch upon issues of equity participation community entitlement compassion respect for diversity and sustainability Here the highly regarded authors focus on barriers to participation and learning experienced by pupils the practices that can overcome these barriers the extent to which such practices facilitate improved learning outcomes how such practices can be encouraged and sustained within schools and LEAs The book is part of the Improving Learning series published in partnership with the Teaching and Learning Research Project
