Preventing Violence Against Women A European Perspective:

Contre la violence à l'égard des femmes Sheila Reid, 2003-01-01 Cet ouvrage présente la synthèse des récents rapports, publications et textes juridiques produits dans le cadre du Conseil de l'Europe afin d'identifier quelques principes généraux et quelques exemples de stratégies et plans d'action de prévention en ce domaine

Preventing Violence Against Women Sheila Reid, Council of Europe, 2003-01-01 This publication the eighth in a series focusing on Council of Europe activities and projects related to violence prevention reviews recent reports and legal texts to identify common principles and best practice in strategies to combat violence against women The book is divided into six main sections covering understanding the problem developing policy responses work on prevention and protection developing service provision and lessons to be learned It includes the text of the Committee of Ministers Recommendation Rec 2002 5 on the protection of women against violence as well as details of other relevant Council of Europe documents

The Council of Europe Convention on Preventing and Combating Violence against Women and Domestic Violence - A tool to end female genital mutilation Council of Europe, 2014-12-01 This guide produced jointly by Amnesty International and the Council of Europe aims at helping design policies and measures to better address female genital mutilation and to pave the way for change It is based on the Council of Europe Convention on Preventing and Combating Violence against Women and Domestic Violence also known as the Istanbul Convention which entered into force in August 2014 The Istanbul Convention is the first treaty to recognise that female genital mutilation exists in Europe and that it needs to be systematically addressed Article 38 of the Convention It requires states parties to step up preventive measures by addressing affected communities as well as the general public and relevant professionals It entails obligations to offer protection and support when women and girls at risk need it most and makes sure that their needs and their safety always come first

Violence against women & health , Protecting Vulnerable Groups Francesca Ippolito, Sara Iglesias Sánchez, 2015-04-30 The concept of vulnerability has not been unequivocally interpreted either in regional or in universal international legal instruments This book analyses the work of the EU and the Council of Europe in ascertaining a clear framework or a set of criteria suitable to determine those who should be considered vulnerable and disadvantaged It also explores the measures required to protect their human rights Key questions can be answered by analysing the different methods used to determine the levels of protection offered by the two European systems These questions include whether the Convention and the case law of the Strasbourg Court the monitoring mechanisms of the Council of Europe EU law and the case law of the European Court of Justice enhance the protection of vulnerable groups and expand the protection of their rights or alternatively whether they are mainly used to fill in relatively minor gaps or occasional lapses in national rights guarantees The analysis also shows the extent to which these two European systems provide analogous or indeed divergent standards and how any such divergence might be problematic in light of the EU accession to the European Convention on Human Rights quantitative and qualitative data collection as well as the impact of culture It proposes the establishment of a European Observatory on Femicide as a new direction for the future showing the benefits of cross national collaboration united to prevent the murder of women and girls

Preventing and Combating Violence Against Women and Domestic Violence Sara De Vido, Micaela Frulli, 2023-12-11 This Commentary provides the first comprehensive analysis of the Council of Europe CoE Convention on preventing and combating violence against women and domestic violence the Istanbul Convention It offers a complete article by article guide to the Convention with reference to the explanatory report the findings of the monitoring body GREVIO and relevant State practice

Legal Protection of Vulnerable Groups in Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia and Poland Agnė Limantė, Dovilė Pūraitė-Andrikienė, 2022-08-27 This book analyses the current legal situation and protection of vulnerable groups in Lithuania Latvia Estonia and Poland In recent decades national legislation in many European states has especially focused on vulnerable groups with the aim of securing their enhanced protection and social inclusion This trend is also noticeable in North Eastern Europe where the legal frameworks are constantly being revised to address the needs of vulnerable parts of society including women children the elderly people with disabilities and minorities as well as prisoners and victims of crime But despite these positive changes many challenges persist In this book the authors provide a comprehensive comparative analysis of legal regulations and practices intended to protect vulnerable groups in Lithuania Latvia Estonia and Poland and in the process share insights into the current situation and trends in this often overlooked region Part I introduces readers to the topic by defining the concept of vulnerable groups and elaborating on its understanding in the European and national contexts Part II analyses the legal protection of groups characterised by inherent and or circumstantial vulnerability while Part III addresses specific crime related vulnerability issues in the target region In closing Part IV puts the spotlight on three specific vulnerable groups in the discussed countries

Defending Women's Rights in Europe Olga A. Avdeyeva, 2015-04-17 Comparative analysis of gender equality reforms enacted in ten post communist states who became members of the European Union Between 2004 and 2007 ten post communist Eastern European states became members of the European Union EU To do so these nations had to meet certain EU accession requirements including antidiscrimination reforms While attaining EU membership was an incredible achievement many scholars and experts doubted the sustainability of accession linked reforms Would these nations comply with EU directives on gender equality To explore this question Defending Women's Rights in Europe presents a unique analysis of detailed original comparative data on state compliance with EU gender equality requirements It features a comprehensive quantitative analysis combined with rigorous insightful case studies of reforms in Poland the Czech Republic and Lithuania Olga A Avdeyeva reveals that policy and institutional reforms developed furthest in those states where women's advocacy NGOs managed to form coalitions with governing political parties After becoming members of the EU the governments did not abolish these policies and institutions despite the costs and lack of popular support Reputational concerns prevented state elites from policy dismantling but gender equality policies and institutions became marginalized on the state agenda after accession

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN Vitulia Ivone, Stefania Negri, 2019-12-05 Violence against women is one of the most widespread pervasive and serious violations of human rights affecting every country or area of the globe Domestic violence against women and girls commonly known as intimate partner violence or family violence concerns any form of physical psychological sexual or economic abuse perpetrated by partners and relatives It encompasses multiple and varied acts and behaviors ranging from emotional and verbal abuse to femicide aiming at affirming power and control over women and their lives Although combating this form of violence is especially challenging in the context of private settings domestic violence is no longer treated as a private matter Decades of mobilization and sensitization of societies and institutions strongly supported by the restless action of women's movements have contributed to making violence against women a priority on the national and international agendas Indeed the road to the adoption of international binding instruments and national legislation on domestic violence has been long and twisted Nonetheless today women are protected against violence by some landmark legal instruments adopted at the global regional and national levels This book aims to offer a systematic overview of the legal protection afforded to women and girls against domestic violence and other relevant forms of violence and discrimination while also critically assessing the state of the law at international regional and domestic levels Special focus is placed on the European and Italian legal frameworkS

Gender-Based Violence and the Law Agnė Limantė, Artūras Tereškinas, Rūta Vaičiūnienė, 2023-12-06 This book presents a novel and insightful examination of gender based violence inviting readers to consider this topic from various perspectives It encompasses various conceptual discussions and international regulations and trends while concurrently emphasising the legal regulations and practices of select Central and Eastern European countries Significantly underrepresented in legal scholarship this region has been overlooked and subject to limited comprehensive analyses The authors address different aspects of gender based violence also covering some areas that have received little attention in academic literature such as gender based violence in academia and cyberstalking Furthermore the book incorporates recent empirical studies thereby endowing readers with valuable insights into the specific challenges encountered in the region By contributing to current research on gender based violence in Europe this publication is an invaluable resource for researchers students policymakers and general readers interested in gender based violence and the fight against it in the Central and Eastern European region multidisciplinary scholars practitioners advocates survivors and technologists from 17 countries The EU and its Member States' Joint Participation in International Agreements Nicolas Levrat, Yuliya Kaspiarovich, Christine Kaddous, Ramses A Wessel, 2022-02-24 EU law has developed a unique and complex system under which the Union and its Member States can both act under international law separately jointly or in parallel International law was not set up to deal with such complex and hybrid arrangements which raise questions under both international and EU law This book assesses how EU law has been adapted to cope with the constraints of international law in situations in which the EU and its Member States act jointly in relations with other States and international organisations In an innovative scholarly approach reflecting this duality each chapter is jointly written by a team of two authors The various contributions offer new insights into the tension that continues to exist between EU and international law obligations in relation to the joint participation of the EU and its Member States in international agreements Laws and policies to contrast and prevent Gender-Based Violence Against Women Stellamarina Donato, 2023-10-10 What stage of development are women's rights as human rights By specifically regarding the prevention and elimination of all forms of Violence Against Women the book focuses on two European Mediterranean countries Italy and Spain The book first considers the chronological description and analysis of the main international documents those belonging to the United Nations apparatus followed by the analysis of the sources on Gender Based Violence Against Women GBVAW of the Council of Europe and the European Union The analysis of international documents guarantees an initial overview of the debate on GBVAW following a top down approach from the UN to the national level Successively the focus is on both national sources as well as the level of government responsiveness in terms of policies on GBVAW in Italy and Spain while also comparing the cases The book adopts multimethod research based on qualitative text analysis an examination of the level of national Government Responsiveness to GBVAW and a series of in depth interviews with targeted individuals The final aim of this book is to understand how international UN and regional CoE EU documents on GBVAW along with the categories and expressions used within the documents have contributed to different policies in countering GBVAW in Italy and Spain while also highlighting the reasons why the two countries responded differently Within a comprehensive international scenario this book intends to create space for debate on possible future EU policies aimed at contrasting GBVAW Human Rights Law and Evidence-Based Policy Rosemary Byrne, Han Entzinger, 2019-12-06 The EU Fundamental Rights Agency FRA was established to provide evidence based policy advice to EU institutions and Member States By blending social science research with traditional normative work it aims to influence human rights policy processes through new ways of framing empirical realities The contributors to this volume critically examine the experience of the Agency in its first decade exploring FRA's historical political and legal foundations and its evolving record across major strands of EU fundamental rights Central themes arising from these chapters include consideration of how the Agency manages the tension between a mandate to advise and the more traditional approach of human rights bodies to monitor and how its research impacts the delicate equilibrium between these two contesting roles FRA's experience as the first embedded human rights agency is also highlighted suggesting a role for alternative and less oppositional orientations for human rights research While authors observe the benefits of the technocratic approach to human rights research that is a hallmark of FRA's evidence based policy advice they also note its constraints FRA's policy work requires a continued awareness of political realities in Brussels Member States and civil society Consequently the complex process of determining the Agency's research agenda reflects the strategic priorities of key actors This is an important factor in the Agency's role in the EU human rights landscape This pioneering position of the Agency should invite reflection on new forms of institutionalized human rights research for the future
