Elia, 2024-08-26 Permanent Sovereignty Over Natural Resources in International Law Kamal Hossain, Subrata Roy Chowdhury, 1984 Permanent Sovereignty over Natural Resources Marc Bungenberg, Stephan Hobe, 2015-04-15 Fifty years after the adoption of the Declaration on Permanent Sovereignty over Natural Resources by the General Assembly of the United Nations in December 1962 this volume assesses the evolution of the principle of permanent sovereignty over natural resources into a principle of customary international law as well as related developments International environmental and human rights law leave unresolved questions regarding the limitations of this principle e g extraterritorial and international influences such as the applicable criminal and tort law as well as the extraterritorial and international promotion of good governance including transparency obligations Principles of International Environmental Law Philippe Sands, 2003-10-09 This second edition of Philippe Sand s leading textbook on international environmental law provides a clear and authoritative introduction to the subject revised to December 2002 It considers relevant new topics including the Kyoto Protocol genetically modified organisms oil pollution chemicals etc and will remain the most comprehensive account of the principles and rules relating to environmental protection and the conservation of natural resources In addition to the key material from the 1992 Rio Declaration and subsequent developments Sands also covers topics including the legal and institutional framework the field s historic development and standards for general application This will continue to be an invaluable resource for both students and practitioners alike Principles of International Energy Transition Law Frédéric Gilles Sourgens, Leonardo Sempertegui, 2023 Principles of International Energy Transition Law provides a succinct treatment of the legal principles that govern the transition to green energy The book positions energy transition in a broader energy context and outlines the interactions between different legal disciplines giving direction on how they can be reconciled Principles of a New International Economic Order Jerzy Makarczyk, 2024-12-02 Principles of International Environmental Law I Philippe Sands, 1995 This post UNCED account of the frameworks standards and implementation of the international environmental law is intended for undergraduates and academics in the fields of international law politics geography economics and environmental studies It can be used on its own as a reference or course text or in conjunction with its companion collections of documents The Concept of the Common Heritage of Mankind in International Law Kemal Baslar, 2024-02-06 The concept of the common heritage of mankind is one of the most extraordinary developments in recent intellectual history and one of the most revolutionary and radical legal concepts to have emerged in recent decades The year 1997 marks the thirtieth anniversary of the advent of the concept in the domain of public international law Ever since its emergence it has become evident that no other concept notion principle or doctrine has brought as much intensive debate controversy confrontation and speculation as the common heritage phenomenon did This is because it is a philosophical idea that questions the regimes of globally important resources

regardless of their situation and requires major changes in the world to apply its provisions. In other words, the application and enforcement of the common heritage of mankind require a critical reexamination of many well established principles and doctrines of classical international law such as acquisition of territory, consent based sources of international law, sovereignty, equality, resource allocation and international personality. This book aims to explore the legal theory and implications of the concept of the common heritage of mankind. It addresses almost all aspects of the concept in the light of the experience of three decades. The author takes into account the elements of the common heritage concept in the fields of jurisprudence, outer space law, the law of the sea, the law of Antarctica, international environmental law, human rights and general principles of public international law. It tries to develop a normative framework through which the concept may offer alternatives for the governance of the global commons.

Through its discussion of how best to achieve sustainable land use, Agriculture and Sustainable Land Use in Europe tackles this wide range of issues, examining problems faced by the EU concerning the future of rural communities, the maintenance of an attractive and diverse countryside and more. This work comprises papers presented at two conferences organised by groups of European Environmental Advisory Councils. These papers offer the reader access to a broad range of experience and points of view, making Agriculture and Sustainable Land Use in Europe a contribution of particular value to the debate on these issues.
