A Rich Broth David Reece, 1993

Canada Among Nations, 2008 Robert Bothwell, Jean Daudelin, 2009-03-17 The editors take a critical look at the now almost mainstream declinist thesis and at the continued relevance of Canada's relationships with its principal allies the United Kingdom France and the United States Contributors discuss a broad range of themes including the weight of a changing identity in the evolution of the country's foreign policy the fate of Canadian diplomacy as a profession the often complicated relationship between foreign and trade policies the impact of immigration and refugee procedures on foreign policy and the evolving understanding of development and defence as components of Canada's foreign policy

Canada's Department of External Affairs, Volume 2 John Hilliker, Donald Barry, 1995-04-04 In 1946 with its own minister for the first time the Department of External Affairs embarked on a period of impressive growth and assumed responsibility for a broader range of foreign policy issues than ever before Under the expert guidance of Lester Pearson for a decade the department enjoyed popular and parliamentary consensus about international interests The election of the Diefenbaker government in 1957 deprived the department of Pearson's experienced ministerial direction and exposed it to new priorities and new ways of doing things At this time foreign policy consensus began to erode As well there was pressure to respond to the administrative revolution inaugurated by the Royal Commission on Government Organization the Glassco Commission appointed in 1960 After Pearson returned to office as prime minister in 1963 questioning by the public and also by the governing party and the cabinet became more fervent Coming of Age concludes in 1968 as indications of a challenge to the principles underlying Canadian foreign policy emerged from a new generation of ministers a challenge that would produce major changes after Pierre Trudeau became prime minister

Conflicting Visions Ryan Touhey, 2015-05-15 In 1974 India shocked the world by detonating a nuclear device In the diplomatic controversy that ensued the Canadian government expressed outrage that India had extracted plutonium from a Canadian reactor donated only for peaceful purposes In the aftermath relations between the two nations cooled considerably As Conflicting Visions reveals Canada and India's relationship was turbulent long before the first bomb blast From the time of India's independence from Britain Ottawa sought to build bridges between Indian and the West through dialogue and foreign aid New Delhi however had a different vision for its future and throughout the Cold War mistrust between the two nations deepened Ryan Touhey draws on archival records personal papers and interviews from Canada India the United States and Britain to trace the breakdown of this complicated bilateral relationship In the process he deepens our understanding of the history of Canadian foreign aid and international relations during the Cold War

Index, 1975 Special Trust and Confidence David Reece, 1996 These eclectic memoirs by seventeen former Canadian ambassadors explore the challenges both novel and routine confronting diplomats abroad They eschew the great moments in history in favour of real life problems designing a new embassy building furthering aid trade and immigration the closing of missions coping with war in the host country or dealing alternately with headquarters in Ottawa and mercurial heads of government Postings range from India Pakistan Bangladesh and Indochina the UN and NATO the Middle East and Iraq China and Japan Africa and the Caribbean to Western Europe Hungary and the former USSR These essays lend credence and force to the view that embassies often need or choose to take important initiatives and that instructions from Ottawa are often adapted or reinterpreted to deal with rapidly evolving local situations Special Trust and Confidence will appeal to government officials of every stripe to students and teachers of international relations indeed to any reader of worldly bent
