Lost Leaves Rebecca L. Copeland, 2000-06-01 Most Japanese literary historians have suggested that the Meiji Period 1868 1912 was devoid of women writers but for the brilliant exception of Higuchi Ichiyo 1872 1896 Rebecca Copeland challenges this claim by examining in detail the lives and literary careers of three of Ichiyo's peers each representative of the diversity and ingenuity of the period Miyake Kaho 1868 1944 Wakamatsu Shizuko 1864 1896 and Shimizu Shikin 1868 1933 In a carefully researched introduction Copeland establishes the context for the development of female literary expression She follows this with chapters on each of the women under consideration Miyake Kaho often regarded as the first woman writer of modern Japan offers readers a vision of the female vitality that is often overlooked when discussing the Meiji era Wakamatsu Shizuko the most prominent female translator of her time had a direct impact on the development of a modern written language for Japanese prose fiction Shimizu Shikin reminds readers of the struggle women endured in their efforts to balance their creative interests with their social roles Interspersed throughout are excerpts from works under discussion most never before translated offering an invaluable window into this forgotten world of women's writing Loss Leaves Hollows D. J. Andersen, C. Stephen Badgley, 2010-06-21 I am not a poet in the traditional sense I rarely have a rhyme I don't care about stanzas or acceptable academic style I am telling stories in short form in thought patterns that stop and start Periods and commas fall where they will and I let them I have found it the best way to write about my subject matter without losing my own mind or the reader's My poems will give but brief glimpses into detailed often harsh subject matters such as severe child abuse by adoptive parents the lost the unfortunate the homeless Others tell about the joyful reunion with biological family or a crooked Christmas tree or people I have known places I have been and those who have inspired me

Manganese in Soils and Plants R.D. Graham,R.J. Hannam,N.C. Uren,2012-12-06 Sixty years ago at the Waite Agricultural Research Institute G Samuel a plant pathologist and C S Piper a chemist published their conclusion that the cause of roadside take all a disease of oats was manganese deficiency This report together with the concurrent and independent studies of W M Carne in Western Australia were the first records of manganese deficiency in Australia and came only six years after McHargue s paper which is generally accepted as the final proof of the essentiality of this element There must have been a few doubts for some people at the time however as the CAB publication The Minor Elements of the Soil 1940 expressed the view that further evidence to this effect was provided by Samuel and Piper Their historic contributions are recognised by the International Symposium on Manganese in Soils and Plants as it meets on the site of their early labours to celebrate the 60th anniversary This year Australians also acknowledge 200 years of European settlement in this country and so the Symposium is both a Bicentennial and a diamond jubilee event which recognises the impact of trace elements on agricultural development in Australia In a broader sense a symposium such as this celebrates as it reviews the efforts of all who over the ages have contributed to our knowledge of manganese in soils and plants
