Writing in Dust Jenny Kerber, 2011-03-17 Writing in Dust is the first sustained study of prairie Canadian literature from an ecocritical perspective Drawing on recent scholarship in environmental theory and criticism Jenny Kerber considers the ways in which prairie writers have negotiated processes of ecological and cultural change in the region from the early twentieth century to the present The book begins by proposing that current environmental problems in the prairie region can be understood by examining the longstanding tendency to describe its diverse terrain in dualistic terms either as an idyllic natural space or as an irredeemable wasteland It inquires into the sources of stories that naturalize ecological prosperity and hardship and investigates how such narratives have been deployed from the period of colonial settlement to the present It then considers the ways in which works by both canonical and more recent writers ranging from Robert Stead W O Mitchell and Margaret Laurence to Tim Lilburn Louise Halfe and Thomas King consistently challenge these dualistic landscape myths proposing alternatives for the development of more ecologically just and sustainable relationships among people and between humans and their physical environments Writing in Dust asserts that reading environmentally can help us to better understand a host of issues facing prairie inhabitants today including the environmental impacts of industrial agriculture resource extraction climate change shifting urban rural demographics the significance of Indigenous understandings of human nature relationships and the complex often contradictory meanings of eco cultural metaphors of alien invasiveness hybridity and wildness

Physics and the Modernist Avant-Garde Rachel Fountain Eames, 2023-02-09 Developing a reading of modernist poetics centred on the three way relationship between literature modern physics and avant garde art movements this book focuses on four key poets William Carlos Williams Mina Loy the Baroness Elsa von Freytag Loringhoven and Wallace Stevens whose lives crossed paths in 20th century New York This book explores how modernist art movements have shaped these writers thinking about physics in relation to their work demonstrating how science s new ideas about measurement and how to visualize material reality provoked innovative poetic forms and images From Einstein s visit to New York City in 1921 to the impact of the atomic bomb the author traces the flow of ideas about physics through culture linking the new physics with modern approaches to art found in Cubism Futurism Dada and Surrealism Modernist Wastes

Caroline Knighton,2020-06-11 Modernist Wastes is a profound new critical reflection on the ways in which women writers and artists have been discarded and recovered in established definitions of modernism Exploring the collaborative autobiographical writings of Djuna Barnes and the artist poetic and Dada performer Baroness Elsa von Freytag Loringhoven Caroline Knighton reveals how these very processes of discarding recovery and re use can open up new ways of understanding a distinctively female modernist artistic practice Illustrated throughout with artworks original letters and manuscript facsimiles the book draws on new archival discoveries to place the feminist recovery of neglected female voices at the heart of our understanding of modernist and avant garde literary culture Home-work Cynthia Conchita

Sugars,2004-06-22 Canadian literature and specifically the teaching of Canadian literature has emerged from a colonial duty to a nationalist enterprise and into the current territory of postcolonialism From practical discussions related to specific texts to more theoretical discussions about pedagogical practice regarding issues of nationalism and identity Home Work constitutes a major investigation and reassessment of the influence of postcolonial theory on Canadian literary pedagogy from some of the top scholars in the field Africa in Narratives Ce, Chin,Smith, Charles,2014-04-03 Africa in Narratives illuminates or proves against the backdrop of attitudes toward nations deemed ethnic or minorities that literature in Africa can live up to the challenge of aesthetic imagination to form an active refreshing part of world cultural discourse African countries have evolved imaginatively beyond their present ephemeral stages of social and political turmoil not to talk of intellectual imitations of western thought nation literatures should be subject to the imperative of a continental cooperation

Gender and Landscape Josephine Carubia,Lorraine Dowler,Bonj Szczygiel,2013-04-15 Gender and Landscape is a feminist inquiry into a long ignored area of study the landscape Although there has been an exhaustive investigation into issues of gender as they intersect with space and place very little has been written about the gendering of the landscape This volume provides a bridge between feminist discussions of space and place as something lived and landscape interpretations as something viewed Critical Play Mary Flanagan,2013-02-08 An examination of subversive games like The Sims games designed for political aesthetic and social critique For many players games are entertainment diversion relaxation fantasy But what if certain games were something more than this providing not only outlets for entertainment but a means for creative expression instruments for conceptual thinking or tools for social change In Critical Play artist and game designer

Mary Flanagan examines alternative games that challenge the accepted norms embedded within the gaming industry and argues that games designed by artists and activists are reshaping everyday game culture. Flanagan provides a lively historical context for critical play through twentieth century art movements connecting subversive game design to subversive art. Her examples of playing house include Dadaist puppet shows and The Sims. She looks at artists' alternative computer based games and explores games for change considering the way activist concerns including worldwide poverty and AIDS can be incorporated into game design. Arguing that this kind of conscious practice which now constitutes the avant garde of the computer game medium can inspire new working methods for designers, Flanagan offers a model for designing that will encourage the subversion of popular gaming tropes through new styles of game making and proposes a theory of alternate game design that focuses on the reworking of contemporary popular game practices.

Four Metaphors of Modernism

Jenny Anger, 2018-02-20 Exploring the significance of metaphor in modern art. Where do the roots of art lie? asked Der Sturm founder Herwarth Walden. In the people. Behind the mountains. Behind the planets. He who has eyes to hear feels. Walden's Der Sturm, the journal, gallery, performance venue, press, theater, bookstore and art school in Berlin, 1910-1932, has never before been the subject of a book length study in English. Four Metaphors of Modernism positions Der Sturm at the center of the avant garde and as an integral part of Euro American modern art theory and practice. Jenny Anger traces Walden's aesthetic and intellectual roots to Franz Liszt and Friedrich Nietzsche, forebears who led him to embrace a literal and figurative mixing of the arts. She then places Der Sturm in conversation with New York's Société Anonyme, 1920-1950, an American avant garde group modeled on Der Sturm and founded by Katherine Sophie Dreier, Marcel Duchamp and Man Ray. Working against the tendency to examine artworks and artist groups in isolation, Anger underscores the significance of both organizations to the development and circulation of international modernism. Focusing on the recurring metaphors of piano, glass, water and home, Four Metaphors of Modernism interweaves a historical analysis of these two prominent organizations with an aesthetic analysis of the metaphors that shaped their practices, reconceiving modernism itself. Presented here is a modernism that is embodied, gendered, multisensory and deeply committed to metaphor and a restoration of abstraction's connection with the real.

Muses, Mistresses and Mates

Anna Suwalska-Kołecka, Izabella Penier, 2015-06-18 The Muse is one of the oldest archetypes in human civilization and in the past was a representation of an idealized woman blessed with beauty and creativity and exerting irresistible attraction for many a man. Nowadays in the wake of feminism the idea of the Muse seems a bit obsolete, quaint or downright sexist and is said to enhance a vicious stereotype of the creative, productive and active man and the passive, submissive and docile woman.

However, this book shows that this is in fact not the case. Interpreting Cultures J.
