Politics Of Prostitution Womens Movements Democratic States And The Globalisation Of Sex Commerce:

The Politics of Prostitution Joyce Outshoorn, 2004-01-08 The most effective way to deal with prostitution has always been hotly debated by governments and women's movements alike Feminists want it abolished or regulated as sex work governments have to safeguard public health and order This book first published in 2004 shows how women's movements in Western Europe North America and Australia have affected politics on prostitution and trafficking of women since the 1970s asking what made them successful in some countries but a failure in others It also assesses whether government institutions to advance the status of women so called women's policy agencies have played a key role in achieving policy outcomes favourable to movement demands Written by an international team of experts and based on original sources all chapters follow the same framework to ensure comparability The final chapter offers an overall comparison identifying what makes women's movements successful and women's agencies effective presenting the case for state feminism

The Politics of Sex Trafficking E. O'Brien, S. Hayes, B. Carpenter, 2013-09-06 This book offers a unique insight into the moral politics behind human trafficking policy in Australia and the USA including rare interviews with key political actors and a critical account of Congressional and Parliamentary hearings

Criminalising the Purchase of Sex Jay Levy, 2014-09-15 In an attempt to abolish prostitution Sweden criminalised the purchase of sex in 1999 while simultaneously decriminalising its sale In so doing it set itself apart from other European states promoting itself as the pioneer of a radical approach to prostitution What has come to be referred to as the Swedish model has been enormously influential and has since been adopted and proposed by other countries This book establishes the outcomes of this law and the law's justifying narratives for the dynamics of Swedish sex work and upon the lives of sex workers Drawing on recent fieldwork undertaken in Sweden over several years including qualitative interviewing and participant observation Jay Levy argues that far from being a law to be emulated the Swedish model has had many detrimental impacts and has failed to demonstrably decrease levels of prostitution

Criminalising the Purchase of Sex Lessons from Sweden utilises a wealth of respondent testimony and secondary research to redress the current lack of primary academic research and to contribute to academic discussion on this politically charged and internationally relevant topic This original and timely work will be of interest to sex worker rights organisations policy makers and politicians as well as researchers academics and students across a number of related disciplines including law sociology criminology human geography and gender studies

Local Violence, Global Media Lisa M. Cuklanz, Sujata Moorti, 2009 This series publishes critical scholarship that seeks to engage and transcend the disciplinary isolationism and genre confinement that now characterize so much of contemporary research in communication studies and related fields It focuses on studies that address the broad intersections and hybrid trajectories that define the encounters between human groups in modern institutions and societies and the way these intersections are represented in contemporary popular cultural forms of knowledge

European Women's Movements and Body Politics J. Outshoorn, 2016-01-12 This book examines how feminist movements have contested the dominant discourses and state politics that have impeded women's autonomy over their bodies since the late 1960s. It deals with two important facets of this struggle: prostitution and the right to abortion as they relate to the Czech Republic, the Netherlands, Portugal, and Sweden. Gender Matters in Global Politics, The State of Sex Barbara Brents, Crystal Jackson, Kathryn Hausbeck, 2009-12-16 This study of Nevada's brothels uses empirical data and sociological theory to situate the United States' only legal brothel industry in the political economy of contemporary tourism. The personal accounts of sex workers make this a compelling read for students and those interested in the sex industry. Changing State Feminism J. Outshoorn, J. Kantola, 2007-10-11 Most Western democracies established women's policy agencies to improve the status of women by the 1990s. One of the book's key questions is how have women's policy agencies been able to develop, maintain, or enhance their roles in the transformed political context, and how have women's movements adapted to change in twelve states. The Oxford Handbook of the History of Crime and Criminal Justice Paul Knepper, Anja Johansen, 2016 The Oxford Handbook of the History of Crime and Criminal Justice provides a systematic and comprehensive examination of recent developments across criminology and criminal justice. Chapters examine methodological and theoretical approaches to criminology, ongoing debates and controversies, and contemporary issues such as drug trafficking, terrorism, and the intersections of gender, race, and class in the context of crime and punishment.

Morality Politics in a Secular Age Eva-Maria Euchner, 2019-05-02 Euchner's carefully researched and cogently argued study of morality politics in Europe adds an outstanding piece of research to the ever-growing literature on religion and politics. Its combination of quantitative and qualitative comparative analysis involving a novel data set and cross-policy perspectives demonstrates persuasively the role of religion as a resource for political action even in secularized societies. Michael Minkenberg, Viadrina European University, Germany Building upon the dichotomy between the secular and religious worlds of European morality politics, Dr. Euchner plumbs the empirical depths of four nations to unearth a compelling theoretical explanation for when value-laden conflicts surface in parliaments with a strong secular-religious party cleavage. This singularly important volume belongs in the institutional libraries and bibliographic collections of every serious student of public policy analysis, especially those of us who focus on morality policy. Raymond Tatalovich, Loyola University Chicago, USA This book introduces a new theoretical framework from which to understand religion and morality politics in Europe. This framework provides a first and rather provocative answer to the general debate on how religion influences policy-making processes. Specifically, the book argues that religion is more a strategic resource for political parties than a fundamental normative doctrine shaping political parties' policy-making behavior in a systematic and coherent way. The framework proposes a mechanism, i.e., wedge issue competition, that can be used to identify and explain the conditions under which issues related to religious values rise and fall in parliaments of the religious world in Europe and what consequences we may expect in terms of policy reforms. Gender Violence in Russia Janet Elise Johnson, 2009-02-18 Just a few years ago most Russian citizens did not recognize the notion of domestic violence or acknowledge that such a problem existed Today after years of local and international pressure to combat violence against women things have changed dramatically Gender Violence in Russia examines why and how this shift occurred and why there has been no similar reform on other gender violence issues such as rape sexual assault or human trafficking Drawing on more than a decade of research Janet Elise Johnson analyzes media coverage and survey data to explain why some interventions succeed while others fail She describes the local global dynamics between a range of international actors from feminist activists to national governments and an equally diverse set of Russian organizations and institutions

The Oxford Handbook of Foreign Policy Analysis Juliet Kaarbo, Cameron G. Thies, 2024 The Oxford Handbook of Foreign Policy Analysis provides an inclusive and forward looking assessment of this subfield Edited and written by a team of world class scholars it sets the agenda for future research in FPA and in IR

Sex, Slavery and the Trafficked Woman Ramona Vijeyarasa, 2016-03-03 Sex Slavery and the Trafficked Woman is a go to text for readers who seek a comprehensive overview of the meaning of human trafficking and current debates and perspectives on the issue It presents a more nuanced understanding of human trafficking and its victims by examining and challenging the conventional assumptions that sit at the heart of mainstream approaches to the topic A pioneering study the arguments made in this book are largely drawn from the author's fieldwork in Ukraine Vietnam and Ghana The author demonstrates to readers how a law enforcement and criminal justice oriented approach to trafficking has developed at the expense of a migration and human rights perspective She highlights the importance of viewing trafficking within a broad spectrum of migratory movement The author contests the coerced female victim archetype as stereotypical and challenges the reader to understand trafficking in an alternative manner introducing the counterintuitive concept of the voluntary victim Overall this text provides readers of migration and development gender studies women's rights and international law a comprehensive and multidisciplinary analysis of the concept of trafficking

Sexual Equality in an Integrated Europe R. Elman, 2007-11-26 This book examines the role of Europe in defining maintaining constructing and remedying sex discrimination The author investigates the origins institutions and policies associated with recent European Union efforts to stem violence against women sex trafficking racism and heterosexism

Sex Work Matters Melissa Hope Ditmore, Antonia Levy, Alys Willman, 2013-04-04 Sex Work Matters brings together sex workers scholars and activists to present pioneering essays on the economics and sociology of sex work From insights by sex workers on how they handle money intimate relationships and daily harassment by the police to the experience of male and transgender sex work this fascinating and original book offers new theoretical frameworks for understanding the sex industry The result is a vital new contribution to sex worker rights that explores the topic in new ways especially its cultural economic and political dimensions Readers weary of the sensational and often salacious treatment of the sex industry in the media and literature will find Sex Work Matters refreshing governments around the globe have introduced institutional mechanisms to promote the advancement of women including measures to increase women's political participation rates and to incorporate women's interests into policy making. Why have they done so? How successful have these initiatives been? What are the emerging agendas facing gender equality advocates now? In The New Politics of Gender Equality Judith Squires examines the origins, evolution, and key features of three strategies that have been employed across the world in pursuit of gender equality: quotas, policy agencies, and gender mainstreaming. The author critically examines each strategy to see how far they transform political institutions and agendas and to what extent they lead rather to the assimilation of women in male-defined structures. Squires argues that a multi-pronged approach drawing on democratic rather than technocratic strategies offers the best potential for advancing gender equality. She highlights too the limitations of approaches that ignore inequalities among women and the challenges of developing equality initiatives to address multiple and cross-cutting inequalities between groups. Judith Squires is Professor of Political Theory, University of Bristol. She has written, researched, and published widely in the field of gender politics and gender equality.

Gender Matters in Global Politics Laura J. Shepherd, 2014-07-17 Fully revised and updated, this second edition of Gender Matters in Global Politics is a comprehensive textbook for advanced undergraduates studying feminism, War, Terrorism, and political violence, Land, food, and water, International legal institutions, Peacebuilding institutions, and post-conflict reconstruction, Citizenship, Art, aesthetics, and emotionality, and New social media and global resistance. This text enables students to develop a sophisticated understanding of the work that gender does in policies and practices of global politics.

Why Men Buy Sex Philip Birch, 2015-02-20 Sex work has been a contentious issue in a variety of ways throughout history: socially, morally, ethically, religiously, and politically. Traditionally noted as one of the oldest professions in the world, sex work has commonly been demonised and is often viewed as a social disgrace. While sex work involves both providers of sexual services (most commonly women) and purchasers of sexual services (most commonly men), providers have attracted the most social commentary. Recent research shows that a limited number of studies have been conducted since 1990 concerning men who procure sexual services. This book aims to help reset this balance. In this book, Philip Birch examines the procurement of female sexual services with a focus on the personal and social aspects of men who procure such exchanges and offers insight into the demographics amongst men who purchase sexual services alongside an analysis of the reasons why they purchase sex. This book brings together existing literature with analyses of new data to develop a multi-factor model reflecting men's procurement of sexual services and demonstrates the complexities surrounding the procurement of these sexual services in exchange for money. The book considers what contribution the understanding of the personal and social aspects of men who procure sexual services has on re-theorising the purchasing of sex in the 21st Century and will be of interest to academics and students involved in the study of criminology, criminal justice, social policy, law, sociology, sexuality, and gender studies.

European Politics Klaus H. Goetz, Peter Mair, Gordon Smith, 2013-09-13 This book arises

out of a specially commissioned issue of West European Politics marking the journal's 30th anniversary. It examines the profound changes in the European political landscape over the last three decades including the fall of Communism, progressive European integration, territorial restructuring, public sector reforms at European, national, regional and local levels, changes in democratic participation, protest elections, political communication, political parties and party competition, and challenges to the welfare state. The book also discusses how political science has responded to these changes in terms of its substantive focus, concepts, methods and theories. Many of the 17 contributions included identify important challenges for the future, including those stemming from EU integration, the reduced electoral accountability of politicians, the problematic legitimization of party government and the sharpening of the edges of the state. Contributors include K. A. Anderson, F. C. Castles, C. Crouch, M. Egeberg, M. Ferrera, H. Goetz, L. Hooghe, E. M. Immergut, R. F. Inglehart, M. Keating, H. D. Klingemann, H. Kriesi, M. Lodge, J. Lovenduski, P. Mair, G. Marks, Y. M. Ny, L. Morlino, H. Obinger, V. A. Schmidt, P. C. Schmitter and G. Smith. This book was published as a special issue of West European Politics.

Global Human Trafficking Molly Dragiewicz, 2014-12-05. Human trafficking has moved from relative obscurity to a major area of research, policy and teaching over the past ten years. Research has sprung from criminology, public policy, women's and gender studies, sociology, anthropology and law, but has been somewhat hindered by the failure of scholars to engage beyond their own disciplines and favoured methodologies. Recent research has begun to improve efforts to understand the causes of the problem, the experiences of victims, policy efforts and their consequences in specific cultural and historical contexts. Global Human Trafficking: Critical issues and contexts foregrounds recent empirical work on human trafficking from an interdisciplinary, critical perspective. The collection includes classroom-friendly features such as introductory chapters that provide essential background for understanding the trafficking literature, textboxes explaining key concepts, discussion questions for each chapter and lists of additional resources including films, websites and additional readings for each chapter. The authors include both eminent and emerging scholars from around the world drawn from law, anthropology, criminology, sociology, cultural studies and political science, and the book will be useful for undergraduate and graduate courses in these areas as well as for scholars interested in trafficking.
