Politics Of Africa's Economic Recovery:

The Politics of Africa's Economic Recovery Richard Sandbrook, 1993-04 The waning of the Cold War means that major political powers no longer feel compelled to support African authoritarianism Revised official consensus holds that in Africa as elsewhere political reform must accompany economic adjustment According to this view African recovery requires a reduction in the size and economic role of monopolistic and inefficient states and their transformation into accountable liberal democracies Is this a desirable and practicable political programme Certainly all over Africa the number of liberal democracies is growing But can they survive and are they compatible with renewed economic growth Richard Sandbrook answers these questions and assesses the feasibility of the new political programme in reinforcing Africa's economic recovery He argues that the programme has merit in the short term but in the longer term a more self-reliant state directed approach should be adopted to ensure prosperity and durable democracy in the region "The" Politics of Africa's Economic Recovery Richard Sandbrook, 1994 African Economies and the Politics of Permanent Crisis, 1979-1999 Nicolas Van de Walle, 2001-09-24 This Book explains why African countries have remained mired in a disastrous economic crisis since the late 1970s It shows that dynamics internal to African state structures largely explain this failure to overcome economic difficulties rather than external pressures on these same structures as is often argued Far from being prevented from undertaking reforms by societal interest and pressure groups clientelism within the state elite ideological factors and low state capacity have resulted in some limited reform but much prevarication and manipulation of the reform process by governments which do not really believe that reform will be effective The Politics of Patronage in Africa Roger K.

Tangri, 1999 This is a survey of the influence of political factors on economic performance throughout Africa with case studies drawn from Ghana Zambia and Uganda It is a comparative study of the difficulties in developing a private enterprise economy An Introduction to African Politics Alex Thomson, 2005-02-28 An Introduction to African Politics is the ideal Soludo, Michael Osita Ogbu, Ha-Joon Chang, 2004 This book maps the process and political economy of policy making in Africa. Its focus on trade and industrial policy makes it unique and it will appeal to students and academics in economics, political science and African studies. Detailed case studies help the reader to understand how the process and motivation behind policy decisions can vary from country to country depending on the form of government, ethnicity and nationality and other social factors.

The Politics of Development Co-operation Lisa Aubrey, 2002-11 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis, an information company

Closing the Circle Richard Sandbrook, 2000 It is a truism that many African countries face a three pronged tribulation: political tyranny, failed capitalist development and violent domestic conflict. The relationship between effective democratic institutions, successful development and civil peace is less clear. This book analyzes the experience with democratization of a carefully selected sample of countries: Ghana, Mali and Niger in West Africa; Zambia, Tanzania and Madagascar in East Africa; and Sudan.

The Oxford Handbook of the Politics of Development Carol Lancaster, Nicolas van de Walle, 2018-05-01 In many discussions of nations' development we often focus on their economic and social development. Is it becoming wealthier? Is its society modernizing? Is it becoming more technologically sophisticated? Are social outcomes improving for the broad mass of the public? The process of development policy implementation, however, is always and inevitably political. Put simply, regime type matters when it comes to deciding on a course of development to follow. Further, political institutions matter. When a government's institutional capacity is low, the chances of success severely decline regardless of the merits of the development plan. In The Oxford Handbook of the Politics of Development, two of America's leading political scientists on the issue, Carol Lancaster and Nicolas van de Walle, have assembled an international cast of leading scholars to craft a broad state of the art work on this vitally important topic. This volume is divided into five sections: major theories of the politics of development organized historically (e.g. modernization theory, dependency theory, the Washington consensus, of policies without politics, etc.); key domestic factors and variables; key international factors and variables; political systems and structures; and geographical perspectives inclusive of regional dynamics. A comprehensive and cross regional examination on key issues of political development, this Handbook not only provides an authoritative synthesis of past scholarship but also sets the agenda for future research in this discipline.

Global Geopolitical Power and African Political and Economic Institutions John James Quinn, 2015-12-30 Global Geopolitical Power and African Political and Economic Institutions: When Elephants Fight describes the emergence and nature of the prevailing African political and economic institutions in two periods. In the first, most countries adopted political and economic institutions that funneled significant levels of political and economic power to the political elites, usually through one or no party military political systems, inward oriented development policies, and/or state led and often state owned industrialization. In the second period, most countries adopted institutions that diluted the overarching political and economic power of ruling elites through the adoption of de jure multiparty electoral systems more outward oriented trade policies and the privatization of many state owned or controlled sectors though significant political and economic power remains in their hands The choices made in each period were consistent with prevailing ideas on governance and development the self interests of political elites and the perceived availability of support or autonomy vis vis domestic regional and international sources of power at the time This book illustrates how these two region wide shifts in prevailing political and economic institutions and practices of Africa can be linked to two prior global geopolitical realignments the end of WWII with the ensuing American and Soviet led bipolar system and the end of the Cold War with American primacy Each period featured changed or newly empowered international and regional leaders with competing national priorities within new intellectual and geopolitical climates altering the opportunities and constraints for African leaders in instituting or maintaining particular political and economic institutions or practices The economic and political institutions of Africa that emerged did so as a result of a complex mix of contending domestic regional and international forces material and intellectual all which were themselves greatly transformed in the wake of these two global geopolitical realignments

Common Security and Civil Society in Africa Lennart Wohlgemuth,1999 This book is the outcome of a conference on common security and civil society in Africa The contributions seek to go beyond the war of images to imagine a different and more secure future They are concerned with five different themes economic and social change prevention of violent conflicts the causes of conflict political security and the international politics of development partnership

Critical Perspectives on African Politics Clive Gaby,Carl Death,2014-05-09 Strong states and strong civil societies are now increasingly hailed as the twin drivers of a rising Africa Current attempts to support growth and democracy are part of a longer history of promoting projects of disciplinary regulatory and liberal rule and values beyond the West Yet this is not simply Western domination of a passive continent Such an interpretation misses out on the complexities and nuances of the politics of state building and civil society promotion and the central role of African agency Drawing upon critical theory including postcolonial and governmentality approaches this book interrogates international practices of state building and civil society support in Africa It seeks to develop a theoretically informed critical approach to discourses and interventions such as those associated with broadly Western initiatives in Africa In doing so the book highlights the power relations inequalities coercion and violence that are deeply implicated within contemporary international interventions on the African continent Providing a range of empirical cases and theoretical approaches the chapters are united by their critical treatment of political dynamics in Africa This book will be of interest to students and scholars of African politics development studies postcolonial theory International Relations international political economy and peacekeeping making
