Education and the Politics of Difference Ratna Ghosh, Ali A. Abdi, 2013 Despite decades of multicultural education policies cultural minorities and the peoples of the First Nations continue to be marginalized in Canadian schools In Education and the Politics of Difference authors Ratna Ghosh and Ali A Abdi expose the problematic constructions of difference in schooling contexts where differences are either treated as surface issues that do not affect the lives of learners or superficially celebrated in terms that do not question power relations in schools and society This revised and expanded second edition engages the broad theories of multicultural and inclusive education and provides case studies of Canadian multicultural education policies such as the unique situation of Aboriginal education. With this discussion of how differences of race, class, gender, sexuality, and other differences are viewed, particularly in a post 9/11 world, this book extends the possibilities of a more open-minded global understanding and appreciation of difference. The book closes with a discussion of the future of multicultural and inclusive education, envisioning a school system where difference is normalized and seen as a fundamental human trait essential for social and human well-being.

Leading For Democracy Patrick M. Jenlink, Lee Stewart, Sandra Stewart, 2012-06-21 At a time when America's schools face many of the most difficult challenges ever, the authors of Leading for Democracy: A Case-Based Approach to Principal Preparation return the reader to an agenda for democratic leadership for schools. Emphasizing the need for leadership preparation programs to reexamine existing and more traditional approaches to principal preparation, this comprehensive book draws to the foreground the need for a case-based approach that reflects the real-world problems and challenges faced by principals in schools today. In particular, Leading for Democracy emphasizes both a case-based pedagogy for principal preparation and the democratic ideals that provide the foundation for democratic schools, bringing into specific relief the work ahead for professors of educational leaders in preparing principals grounded in democratic practice. Equally important, Leading for Democracy provides practical insight to the challenges of today's principal, offering a set of pedagogical tools for professors to guide students of leadership in learning and understanding the difficult work required of leading democratically, set against the backdrop of a changing America.

Not Yet Jamie Owen Daniel, Tom Moylan, 1997-07-17 The essays gathered here recommend the work of Ernest Bloch as a challenge to older models of historical materialism and utopian emancipation and give specific examples of how Bloch's work can contribute to current debates about utopia, nationalism, collective memory, and the complex relationship between ideology and everyday life.

Socio-Anthropological Approaches to Religion David W. Kim, Duncan Wright, 2024-02-14 Socio-Anthropological Approaches to Religion: Environmental Hope interprets the fundamental functions of spirituality through the theories and practices of hope and understanding the futuristic aspiration of new religious movements. The book portrays a neutral notion of hope that can be either religious or humanistic in the face of the suffering or despair of present reality. The concept of hope or hopelessness is demonstrated in each chapter under the global circumstance of health risk. Part One represents the various theories of hope in Christian history, ecology, and climate; the Sabbath and surveillance; and the triune God. The insecure situation that creates the expectation of hope is demonstrated in Part Two, where the case studies of terrorist attacks, immigration, volunteering behavior, religious education, and medieval Islamic tradition indicate social unbalance. The last section illustrates the cultural anthropology of hope through the activities of different native new religious movements, including the Moonies, Unification movement, Yoruba, Nigerian indigenous spirituality, and Cosmovisions of Sepik New Guinea. This book examines hope as a crucial element of human's internal healing beyond medical technology.
