Polyrhythmicity Foundations Of African Philosophy Cloth:

Polyrhythmicity Kofi Kissi Dompere, 2006-03-31 The modern works on African philosophy have not been integrated and fully connected to Africa's antiquity in order to provide a foundational unity for further intellectual refinement. The philosophical dimensions of humanism, Nkrumah's concept of categorial conversion, African concepts of duality, polarity, unity, continual creation, and democratic ideals must be shown their African-centered origins. In considering African philosophy, there arise conceptual and logical gaps that require the development of fundamental cognitive unity from the available data with judicious interpretation and restructuring in order to define the parameters of African philosophical unity that will allow these gaps to be closed for intellectual continuity. This monograph is devoted to the establishment of the foundations for the development of Africa's intellectual continuity and cognitive unity from antiquity to the present. Its main premise is that there is African philosophy with its own method of reasoning, analysis, and synthesis. The monograph initiates self-contained philosophical foundations for African intellectual unity that is required to support African cultural unity, African personality, African essence, and humanism needed for the creation of Greater Africa that is implied by African Union. These philosophical foundations, it is argued, formed the thinking system for Africa's social construct, law, economics, politics, and governance of empires, kingdoms, and social units that have come to pass. These philosophical foundations constitute the thinking system that must guide current and future Africa's socioeconomic dynamics. The monograph discusses also Africa's contributions to the global intellectual heritage by showing the relationships among foundations of African philosophical tradition and other philosophical systems that lead to rediviva Africana. It presents the principles of cognitive unity and continuity on the held position that without clearly developed Africa's philosophical foundations from its antiquity, providing intellectual unity and cognitive continuity, complete emancipation of Africa will be a mere mimicking of intellectual faults of other nations and philosophical systems. The research by African scholars and others on specific philosophical thoughts from different areas of Africa is useful material that must be integrated into cognitive unity by accepting those that fit and rejecting those that do not fit by a defined logical process. Mindful of this, a case is thus made in this monograph for African cognitive unity and supporting reasoning methods. The system of ideas and perceptive interpretations of relevant data is here referred to as Africentricity and its philosophical foundations that project thought as polyrhythmicity, while the study of logic of reasoning about methodological and epistemic problems of polyrhythmicity and Africentricity is referred to as polyrhythmics. On practical level, these philosophical foundations are shown to support the conceptual basis of Nguzo Saba, the Seven Principles of Kwanzaa. The monograph would be of interest to philosophers in general, professionals, researchers, and students engaged in African philosophy, African studies, Black studies, socio-political philosophy, and those interested in knowing the thinking system on the basis of which African essence arises and African social formations were constructed and governed from antiquity.

The SAGE Encyclopedia of African Cultural Heritage in North America Mwalimu J. Shujaa, Kenya J. Shujaa, 2015-07-13. The Encyclopedia of African Cultural Heritage in North America provides an accessible ready reference on the retention and continuity of African culture within the United States Our conceptual framework holds first that culture is a form of self knowledge and knowledge about self in the world as transmitted from one person to another Second that African people continuously create their own cultural history as they move through time and space Third that African descended people living outside of Africa are also contributors to and participate in the creation of African cultural history Entries focus on illuminating Africanisms cultural retentions traceable to an African origin and cultural continuities ongoing practices and processes through which African culture continues to be created and formed Thus the focus is more culturally specific and less concerned with the broader transatlantic demographic political and geographic issues that are the focus of similar recent reference works We also focus less on biographies of individuals and political and economic ties and more on processes and manifestations of African cultural heritage and continuity

Foundations of African Thought Chukwunyere Kamalu,1990 The Substance of African Philosophy Campbell Shittu Momoh,1989 BEYOND THE USUAL SUSPECTS , Instead of the continuing fascination with African views of this and that we shall begin to accept beyond mere lip service the complexity of life and thought in the African world not to talk of the multiplicity of tradition to be found therein The denial of the African s capacity for philosophy or any other rational endeavour arose from a basic philosophical anthropology that came to the fore in the third quarter of the 19th century and has continued to dominate much of what passes for conversation between the West so called and the Rest of Us They placed the structure of the anthropoid apes before them and then commenced the discussion of a series of ideal structures of the Negro which only exist in their imagination and thus endeavour to link the Negroes with the brute creation 32 33 The irony is that by the end of the 19th century which saw the imposition of formal colonialism in the aftermath of the Berlin West Africa Conference of 1884 85 the views of the anthropologists most of which Horton had condemned in very strong terms as we have just seen had not only become dominant they were the default views of Africans sponsored by the colonial administrator class and The essays evinced a belief in the superiority of the modern form of governance and in the fact that an embrace of that form with its insistence on the consent of the governed and the free elections of rulers as the preferred determinants of state legitimacy would vastly improve African societies Ka Osi So Onye: African Philosophy in the Postmodern Era Jonathan Chimakonam,Edwin Etieyibo,2018-02-28 This collection is about composing thought at the level of modernism and decomposing it at the postmodern level where many cocks might crow with African philosophy as a focal point It has two parts part one is titled The Journey of Reason in African Philosophy and part two is titled African Philosophy and Postmodern Thinking There are seven chapters in both parts Five of the essays are reprinted here as important selections while nine are completely new essays commissioned for this book As their titles suggest in part one African philosophy is unfolded in the manifestation of reason as embedded in modern thought while in part two it draws the effect of reason as implicated in the postmodern orientation While part one strikes at what V Y Mudimbe calls the colonising structure or the Greco European logo phallo euro centricism in thought part two bashes the excesses of modernism and partly valorises postmodernism In some chapters modernism is presented as an intellectual version of communalism characterised by the cliché our people say Our thinking is that the voice of reason is not the voice of the people but the voice of an individual The idea of this book is to open new vistas for the discipline of African philosophy African philosophy is thus presented as a disagreement discourse Without rivalry of thoughts Africa will settle for far less This gives postmodernism an important place perhaps deservedly more important than history of philosophy allocates to it It is that philosophical moment that says philosophers must cease speaking like gods in their hegemonic cultural shrines and begin to converse across borders with one another In this conversation the goal for African philosophers must not be to find final answers but to sustain the conversation which alone can extend human reason to its furthest reaches

Justice in Communalism J. Chukwuemeka Ekei,2001 A Companion to African Philosophy Kwasi Wiredu,2004 The African Philosophy Reader Pieter Hendrik Coetzee,A. P. J. Roux,1998 African Philosophy Through Ubuntu Mogobe B. Ramose,1999 In spite of decolonisation the philosophical character of European standpoint on colonisation together with its corresponding practices remains unchanged in its relations with the erstwhile colonies It is precisely this condition which calls for the need for the authentic liberation of Africa This speaks of a two fold exigency One is that the colonised people s conceptions of reality knowledge and truth should be released from slavery and dominance under the European epistemological paradigm Without this essential first step there cannot evolve a common authentic and liberating universe of discourse The second exigency is that the evolving common universe of discourse must take into account the rational demands of justice to the colonised arising from the unjust wars of conquest that resulted in colonial disseizing of territory as well as the enslavement of the colonised These rational demands of justice are specifically the restoration of territory to its indigenous rightful owners and reparations to them This two fold exigency is the indispensable necessity for the authentic liberation of Africa and indeed all the colonised people of the world
