Political Competition and Economic Regulation Peter Bernholz, Roland Vaubel, 2007-06-07 Organized readable technically sound and comprehensive from both theoretical and empirical standpoints this book summarizes a vast amount of institutional historical and descriptive detail Using case studies from the US Canada Germany and Switzerland as well as the European Union and the global economy this is the first book of its kind to e Social Law and Policy in an Evolving European Union Josephine Shaw, 2000-12-18 Social law and policy have been moving increasingly into the mainstream of the European Union In recent years there have been important changes to the Treaty framework for enacting social policy bringing the role of the social partners to the fore New Treaty provisions for adopting discrimination legislation have highlighted the potential role of the EU in combatting aspects of social exclusion and in challenging disturbing phenomena such as racism and xenophobia Social policy is increasingly linked to the emerging notion of Union citizenship The arrival of the single currency in 1999 is now matched by a more pro active EU level policy on employment and the labour market The analyses in this collection address these and other questions against the backdrop of the longstanding controversies over the nature and scope of EU social policy including the UK s opt out from certain provisions between 1993 and 1997 and the ongoing debate about whether EU social policy has or should have a social or an economic rationale Economic Transition, Unemployment and Active Labour Market Policy Corinne Nativel, 2004-05-26 No Marketing Blurb Towards a Liberal Utopia? Philip Booth, 2006-12-15 The first part of this fascinating book outlines the dreams of liberal economics and political scientists The thinkers sketch out frameworks for policy which in increasing the domain for individual action will give rise to beneficial results and lead to a better and more prosperous society The second part of the book shows how an earlier generation of liberal economists turned ideas into action Led by Ralph Harris and Arthur Seldon the authors writing for the IEA helped to turn back the tide of collectivism by exposing its intellectual failings Can the Celtic Tiger Cross the Irish Border? John Bradley, J. Esmond Birnie, 2001 One of the Republic s outstanding economists John Bradley and the prominent Unionist politician and economist Esmond Birnie debate to what extent Northern Ireland can learn from the phenomenon of the Celtic Tiger Professor Bradley asks what lessons the North can take from the success of the Republic s economic planning and whether it makes sense for the island to trade and seek investment as one unit in a globalized economy Dr Birnie wonders whether the low level of trade and economic interchange between the two Irish economies is really abnormal in European terms and whether a successfully co ordinated island economy is possible in two separate political jurisdictions A European Strategy for Jobs and Growth Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: European Union Committee, 2006-03-16 This report by the European Union Committee examines the progress of the European Union in initiating a strategy for jobs and growth across the Community as a whole The background to this report stems from the Spring European Council meeting in 2000 in Lisbon and the launch of an economic reform agenda The Committee observes that since the Lisbon Agenda little progress has been made and the performance of many of the larger European economies has been poor The Committee has noted that certain worrying signs of protectionist behaviour have developed especially regarding barriers of cross border mergers The EU has recognized this weak performance and the Agenda was relaunched in 2005 with a greater focus on the key economic priorities of more growth and jobs Also all Member States are now required to produce an annual National Action Plan highlighting the policies being pursued to improve economic growth and increase employment The Committee sets out a number of recommendations to further push forward the priorities of growth and jobs including that the Commission should seek to complete the progress towards an internal market that Member States should influence one another in the development of good practice through statistical comparison of their economic progress and agree on quantifiable targets that the format of the National Action Plans should include not only the successes but where countries are underperforming that the Agenda be given a higher public profile

Understanding the Process of Economic Change Douglass Cecil North,1999

Regulating the Risk of Unemployment Jochen Clasen,Daniel Clegg,2013-10 Regulating the Risk of Unemployment offers a systematic comparative analysis of reforms to unemployment protection systems in European countries since the early 1990s The volume sheds new light on important changes in a core field of welfare state activity

Global Capital, Human Needs and Social Policies I. Gough,2000-10-10 Can the needs of capital ever be reconciled with the needs of people To what extent can social policies bridge the gap between social rights and human welfare and economic competitiveness in a global world Building on his previous writings on political economy and human need Ian Gough throws new light on these perennial questions in a series of penetrating and original essays The conclusion is upbeat social policy still has the potential to narrow though never close the gap between the drive of capital and the universal needs of people
