Reinventing Darwin The Great Debate At The High Table Of Evolutionary Theory:

Reinventing Darwin Niles Eldredge,1995-04-17 According to the paleontologists this pattern shows that evolution is driven far more by environmental forces than by genetic competition Gaither's Dictionary of Scientific Quotations Carl C. Gaither,Alma E. Cavazos-Gaither,2012-01-05 This unprecedented collection of 27 000 quotations is the most comprehensive and carefully researched of its kind covering all fields of science and mathematics With this vast compendium you can readily conceptualize and embrace the written images of scientists laymen politicians novelists playwrights and poets about humankind s scientific achievements Approximately 9000 high quality entries have been added to this new edition to provide a rich selection of quotations for the student the educator and the scientist who would like to introduce a presentation with a relevant quotation that provides perspective and historical background on his subject Gaither s Dictionary of Scientific Quotations Second Edition provides the finest reference source of science quotations for all audiences The new edition adds greater depth to the number of quotations in the various thematic arrangements and also provides new thematic categories No Other Gods Robert Karl Gnuse,1997-05-01 This is the first full scale assessment of the theological social and ideational implications of our new understandings of ancient Israel s social and religious development Scholars now stress the gradual emergence of Israel out of the culture of ancient Palestine and the surrounding ancient Near East rather than contrast Israel with the ancient world Our new paradigms stress the ongoing and unfinished nature of the monotheistic revolution which is indeed still in process today Gnuse takes a further bold step in setting the emergence of monotheism in a wider intellectual context he argues brilliantly that the interpretation of Israel s development as both an evolutionary and revolutionary process corresponds to categories of contemporary evolutionary thought in the biological and palaeontological sciences Punctuated Equilibrium Handbook of Evolutionary Research in Archaeology Anna Marie Prentiss,2019-06-03 Evolutionary Research in Archaeology seeks to provide a comprehensive overview of contemporary evolutionary research in archaeology The book will provide a single source for introduction and overview of basic and advanced evolutionary concepts and research programs in archaeology Content will be organized around four areas of critical research including microevolutionary and macroevolutionary process human ecology studies evolutionary ecology demography and niche construction and evolutionary cognitive archaeology Authors of individual chapters will address theoretical foundations history of research contemporary contributions and debates and implications for the future for their respective topics As appropriate authors present or discuss short empirical case studies to illustrate key arguments

Global Dawn Frank Ninkovich,2009-10-15 Why did the United States become a global power Frank Ninkovich shows that a cultural predisposition for thinking in global terms blossomed in the late nineteenth century making possible the rise to world power as American liberals of the time took a wide ranging interest in the world At the center of their attention was the historical process they called civilization whose most prominent features a global economy political democracy and a global culture anticipated what would later come to be known as globalization. The continued spread of civilization they believed provided the answer to worrisome contemporary problems such as the faltering progress of democracy, a burgeoning arms race in Europe and a dangerous imperialist competition. In addition to transforming international politics, a global civilization quickened by commercial and cultural exchanges would advance human equality and introduce the modern industrial way of life to traditional societies. Consistent with their universalist outlook, liberal internationalists also took issue with scientific racism by refusing to acknowledge racial hierarchy as a permanent feature of relations with nonwhite peoples. Of little practical significance during a period when isolationism reigned supreme in U.S. foreign policy, this rich body of thought would become the cultural foundation of twentieth-century American internationalism.

The Morals of Life Davide Tarizzo, 2024-08-06 A theory of biopolitical power that updates Foucault illustrating the moral implications of modern evolutionary theory. In our day the individual has become a life, the singular of the plural noun population. From this new understanding of what it means to be human comes a new form of biopolitical power with a new set of moral rules. In The Morals of Life moral philosopher Davide Tarizzo presents a theoretical framework for understanding this transformation of the old fashioned government of living beings as Michel Foucault characterized biopolitics into a new government of modular living beings as well as a template for making sense of biopolitical power that operates on the scale of populations rather than individuals. Tarizzo traces population thinking, the notion of modular optimization and other conceptual keystones of the current biopolitical regime, an ethopolitical regime in the author's terms, to their origins in twentieth-century biological thought more precisely and critically: evolutionary theory, Neo-Darwinism. Tarizzo argues should be seen not only as a scientific paradigm but also as a philosophy per se because it is evolutionary theory that today provides an answer to the old philosophical question: What is man? This new kind of philosophy, his book suggests, largely determines the way in which people look at themselves and society. Not only does it contribute to designing new technologies of power but it also fosters subjection to the new ethopolitical regime.

The Major Metaphors of Evolution Salvatore J. Agosta, Daniel R. Brooks, 2020-08-29 This book presents a unified evolutionary framework based on three sets of metaphors that will help to consolidate discussions on evolutionary transitions. Evolution is the unifying principle of life making identifying ways to apply evolutionary principles to tackle existence threatening crises.

such as climate change crucial A more cohesive evolutionary framework will further the discussions in this regard and also accelerate the process itself This book lays out a framework based on three dualistic classes of metaphors time space and conflict resolution Evolutionary transitions theory shows how metaphors can help us understand selective diversification as Darwin described with his tree of life Moreover the recently proposed Stockholm paradigm demonstrates how metaphors can help shed light on the emergence of complex ecosystems that Darwin highlighted with his tangled bank metaphor Taken together these ideas offer proactive measures for coping with existential crises for humanity such as climate change The book will appeal to biologists philosophers and historians alike

Macroeolution in Human Prehistory Anna

Prentiss,Ian Kuijt,James C. Chatters,2009-09-18 Cultural evolution much like general evolution works from the assumption that cultures are descendent from much earlier ancestors Human culture manifests itself in forms ranging from the small bands of hunters through intermediate scale complex hunter gatherers and farmers to the high density urban settlements and complex polities that characterize much of today s world The chapters in the volume examine the dynamic interaction between the micro and macro scales of cultural evolution developing a theoretical approach to the archaeological record that has been termed evolutionary processual archaeology The contributions in this volume integrate positive elements of both evolutionary and processualist schools of thought The approach as explicated by the contributors in this work offers novel insights into topics that include the emergence stasis collapse and extinction of cultural patterns and development of social inequalities Consequently these contributions form a stepping off point for a significant new range of cultural evolutionary studies

The Redemption of the Animals Douglas Sloan,2015-10-15

As human beings what is our true relationship to the animals on earth What is our responsibility to our fellow creatures Douglas Sloan explores these and other questions in this important book on the human animal connection His explorations are based on personal experience and wide ranging research into the work of Rudolf Steiner and others including scientist students of the inner life of animals and committed defenders of animal wellbeing Rudolf Steiner describes how from the beginning of creation humans and animals have been united in deep kinship A loss of the sense of this human animal connection has resulted in an immense animal suffering the world over Especially in their suffering the animals now pose for the modern human being many pressing and perplexing questions Are the animals conscious Do they have feelings like ours Do they experience pain Do the animals have a spiritual reality and experience Do the animals have souls and selves Do the animals have capacities for cognitive intelligence emotional empathy language and memory Is there a crucial difference between the human and the animal a basic difference in kind or only a difference in degree Do animals have rights Are we justified in using the animals as we wish eating them hunting them experimenting on them Rudolf Steiner presents a vision of the ultimate redemption of the animals from their suffering What is the nature of this redemption What is our responsibility in making it happen In exploring these and related questions with the help of Rudolf Steiner s work and that of others on the issue we can begin to see the importance in our time of our relating to the animals in a completely new way a relationship that understands and respects the animals inner spiritual being and one that requires a deep grasp of our own spiritual being in relation to theirs In this book Douglas Sloan seeks to help us toward this new relationship with the animals both in concept and in everyday action Philosophy of the Environment Elena Casetta,2024-12-30 This textbook offers a reasoned and accessible introduction to the philosophy of the environment and the current environmental crisis designed for scholars and students in both philosophy and the natural and environmental sciences The volume addresses the history and meanings of the concept of environment provides a theory of the relation between living beings and their environments and tackles a wide spectrum of key philosophical issues related to the environment and the environmental crisis in a straightforward framework and accessible style The book s unique approach to environmental philosophy addresses the environment of all living beings and extends beyond environmental ethics to include conceptual history and analysis together with insights from evolutionary and developmental biology ecology and environmental and conservation sciences The book consists of five chapters each built around a specific thesis drawing upon philosophers and concepts including George Canguilhem Rachel Carson Donna Haraway Lamarck s and Darwin s evolutionary theories Humboldt s theory of nature and the Gaia hypothesis The final chapter introduces topics such as environmental denialism and post natural environmentalism as conceptual tools for better understanding the current ecological crisis Targeted at students and scholars in both philosophy and the environmental and life sciences the book distinguishes itself through its approachable style and choice of topics which are also well suited to junior researchers who seek to better understand the current environmental crisis Evolutionary Psychology Steven J. Scher,Frederick Rauscher,2012-12-06 Evolutionary psychology has been dominated by one particular method for studying the mind and behavior This is the first book to both question that monopoly and suggest a broad range of particular alternatives Psychologists philosophers biologists anthropologists and others offer different methods for combining psychology and evolution They recommend specific changes to evolutionary psychology using a wide variety of theoretical assumptions In addition some essays analyze the underpinnings of the dominant method relate it to the context of evolutionary and psychological theory and to general philosophy of science and discuss how to test approaches to evolutionary psychology The aim of this collection is not to reject evolutionary psychology but to open up new vistas which students and researchers can use to ensure that evolutionary psychology continues to thrive

Biological Emergences

Robert G. B. Reid, 2009-08-21 A critique of selectionism and the proposal of an alternate theory of emergent evolution that is causally sufficient for evolutionary biology Natural selection is commonly interpreted as the fundamental mechanism of evolution Questions about how selection theory can claim to be the all sufficient explanation of evolution often go unanswered by today's neo Darwinists perhaps for fear that any criticism of the evolutionary paradigm will encourage creationists and proponents of intelligent design In Biological Emergences Robert Reid argues that natural selection is not the cause of evolution He writes that the causes of variations which he refers to as natural experiments are independent of natural selection indeed he suggests natural selection may get in the way of evolution Reid proposes an alternative theory to explain how emergent novelties are generated and under what conditions they can overcome the resistance of natural selection He suggests that what causes innovative variation causes evolution and that these phenomena are environmental as well as organismal After an extended critique of selectionism Reid constructs an emergence theory of evolution first examining the evidence in three causal arenas of emergent evolution symbiosis association evolutionary physiology behavior and developmental evolution Based on this evidence of causation he proposes some working hypotheses examining mechanisms and processes common to all three arenas and arrives at a theoretical framework that accounts for generative mechanisms and emergent qualities Without selectionism Reid argues evolutionary innovation can more easily be integrated into a general thesis Finally Reid proposes a biological synthesis of rapid emergent evolutionary phases and the prolonged dynamically stable non evolutionary phases imposed by natural selection

Trading Gods Brian Causey, 2021-01-05 A man recounts his investigation into spirituality and into what he really believed about religion following the September 11th terrorist attacks Suddenly Brian Causey found himself stumbling over life's greatest questions Why are we here How did the universe and life begin Why is there suffering in the world What happens after we die If there is an afterlife how do I get there A portfolio manager at a large investment company Brian would leave the trading floor each day with these questions swirling in his head What he came to realize was that he had to make a decision would he trade the god he had been following under which he could make his own rules without subscribing to any larger organization or authority for the real God The more he researched the difficult questions of life the clearer God's truth became Brian ultimately concluded that the evidence points in the direction of God's existence In Trading Gods he shares his personal journey rationale for faith and the supporting research that explains why the real God is the best answer to life's biggest questions We all serve gods of one sort or another in our life Brian's story of being a trader who after the tragedy of 9/11 found his way to the true God of Scripture

Perspectives in Ethology Nicholas S. Thompson, François Tonneau, 2001-01-31 The relations between behavior evolution and culture have been a subject of vigorous debate since the publication of Darwin's The Descent of Man 1871 The latest volume of Perspectives in Ethology brings anthropologists ethologists psychologists and evolutionary theorists together to reexamine this important relation With two exceptions the essays by Brown and Eldredge all of the present essays were originally presented at the Fifth Biannual Symposium on the Science of Behavior held in Guadalajara Mexico in February 1998 The volume opens with the problem of the origins of culture tackled from two different viewpoints by Richerson and Boyd and Lancaster Kaplan Hill and Hurtado respectively Richerson and Boyd analyze the possible relations between climatic change in the Pleistocene and the evolution of social learning evaluating the boundary conditions under which social learning could increase fitness and contribute to culture Lancaster Kaplan Hill and Hurtado examine how a shift in the diet of the genus Homo toward difficult to acquire food could have determined or coevolved with unique features of the human life cycle These two essays illustrate how techniques that range from computer modeling to comparative behavioral analysis and that make use of a wide range of data can be used for drawing inferences about past selection pressures As culture evolves it must somehow find its place within and also affect a complex hierarchy of behavioral and biological factors

Life Davide Tarizzo, 2017-12-15 The word biology was first used to describe the scientific study of life in 1802 and as Davide Tarizzo demonstrates in his reconstruction of the genealogy of the concept of life our understanding of what being alive means is an equally recent invention Focusing on the histories of philosophy science and biopolitics he contends that biological life is a metaphysical concept not a scientific one and that this notion has gradually permeated both European and Anglophone traditions of thought over the past two centuries Building on the work undertaken by Foucault in the 1960s and 70s Tarizzo analyzes the slow transformation of eighteenth century naturalism into a nineteenth century science of life exploring the philosophical landscape that engendered biology and precipitated the work of such foundational figures as Georges Cuvier and Charles Darwin Tarizzo tracks three interrelated themes first that the metaphysics of biological life is an extension of the Kantian concept of human will in the field of philosophy second that biology and philosophy share the same metaphysical assumptions about life originally advanced by F W J Schelling and adopted by Darwin and his intellectual heirs and third that modern biopolitics is dependent on this particularly totalizing view of biological life Circumventing tired debates about the validity of science and the truth of Darwinian evolution this book instead envisions and promotes a profound paradigm shift in philosophical and scientific concepts of biological life

Biodiversity Takuya Abe, Simon A. Levin, Masahiko Higashi, 2012-12-06 Despite acknowledgment that loss of living diversity is an international biological crisis the ecological causes and consequences of extinction have not yet been widely addressed In honor of Edward O Wilson winner of the 1993 International Prize for Biology an international group of distinguished biologists bring ecological evolutionary and management perspectives to the issue of biodiversity The roles of ecosystem processes community structure and population dynamics are considered in this book The goal as Wilson writes in his introduction is to assemble concepts that unite the disciplines of systematics and ecology and in so doing to create a sound scientific basis for the future management of biodiversity

From Aristotle's Teleology to Darwin's Genealogy M. Solinas, 2015-03-09 From Aristotle to Darwin from ancient teleology to contemporary genealogies this book offers an overview of the birth and then persistence of Aristotle's framework into modernity until its radical overthrow by the evolutionary revolution

Discovering Life's Story Joy Hakim, 2024 In the second volume of the Discovering Life's Story series by best selling author Joy Hakim the theory of evolution takes hold transforming ideas about survival extinction and life itself Can species change Or go extinct In the eighteenth century most people answer no to both questions But in the century that follows that certainty gets challenged as some people in Europe question the common belief that all creatures are the same as they've been since life's creation The Evolution of an Idea the second volume of Discovering Life's Story opens with the Swedish naturalist Carl Linnaeus who attempts to create an organizing system for the myriad forms of life on earth It continues into the late 1800s when two Englishmen Charles Darwin and Alfred Russel Wallace each develop their own version of a startling new theory of how life forms change over time This evolutionary idea will alter the understanding of our place in the great web of life on earth In this remarkable volume author Joy Hakim continues charting the path of human discovery and shows how groundbreaking thinkers began to unlock the biological secrets of our own existence
