Cat of the Year OCO who was discovered on a New York City roof after September 11 suffering from dehydration burns eye injuries from flying glass and smoke inhalation The Nine Emotional Lives of Cats Jeffrey Moussaieff Masson, 2004-06-29

Drawing from literature history animal behavioral research and the wonderful true stories of cat experts and cat lovers around the world Jeffrey Moussaieff Masson vividly explores the delights and mysteries of the feline heart But at the core of this remarkable book are Masson's candid often amusing observations of his own five cats Their mischievous behavior aloofness and affection provide a way to examine emotions from contentment to jealousy from anger to love The Nine Emotional Lives of Cats will captivate readers with its surprises offering a new perspective on the deep connection shared by humans and their feline friends Being Ugly Monica Carol Miller, 2017-05-08

In the South one notion of being ugly implies inappropriate or coarse behavior that transgresses social norms of courtesy While popular stereotypes of the region often highlight southern belles as the epitome of feminine power women writers from the South frequently stray from this convention and invest their fiction with female protagonists described as ugly or chastised for behaving that way Through this divergence ugly can be a force for challenging the strictures of normative southern gender roles and marriage economies In Being Ugly Southern Women Writers and Social Rebellion Monica Carol Miller reveals how authors from Margaret Mitchell to Monique Truong employ ugly characters to upend the expectations of patriarchy and open up more possibilities for southern female identity Previous scholarship often conflates ugliness with such categories as the grotesque plain or abject but Miller disassociates these negative descriptors from a group of characters created by southern women writers Focusing on how such characters appear prone to rebellious and socially inappropriate behavior Miller argues that ugliness subverts assumptions about gender by identifying those who are unsuitable for the expected roles of marriage and motherhood As opposed to familiar courtship and marriage plots Miller locates in fiction by southern women writers an alternative genealogy the ugly plot This narrative tradition highlights female characters whose rebellion offers a space for reimagining alternative lives and households in opposition to the status quo Reading works by canonical writers like Zora Neale Hurston Flannery O'Connor and Eudora Welty along with recent texts by contemporary authors like Helen Ellis Lee Smith and Jesmyn Ward Being Ugly offers an important new perspective on how southern women writers confront regressive ideologies that insist upon limited roles for women A Natural History of the Romance Novel Pamela Regis, 2013-08-31

The romance novel has the strange distinction of being the most popular but least respected of literary genres While it remains consistently dominant in bookstores and on best seller lists it is also widely dismissed by the critical community Scholars have alleged that romance novels help create subservient readers who are largely women by confining heroines to stories that ignore issues other than love and marriage Pamela Regis argues that such critical studies fail to take into consideration the personal choice of readers offer any true definition of the romance novel or discuss the nature and scope of the genre Presenting the counterclaim that the romance novel does not enslave women but on the contrary is about celebrating freedom and joy Regis offers a definition that provides critics with an expanded vocabulary for discussing a genre that is both classic and contemporary sexy and entertaining Taking the stance that the popular romance novel is a work of literature with a brilliant pedigree Regis asserts that it is also a very old stable form She traces the literary history of the romance novel from canonical works such as Richardson's Pamela through Austen's Pride and Prejudice Brontë's Jane Eyre and E M Hull's The Sheik and then turns to more contemporary works such as the novels of Georgette Heyer Mary Stewart Janet Dailey Jayne Ann Krentz and Nora Roberts

Mother's Love Knows No Language Dr. Sahadeva Das, 2018-01-01 In this material world there is no comparison to a mother's love for a mother loves her child without any expectation of return When you look at your mother you are looking at the purest love available in the material realm This is love at first sight from the moment you open your eyes Of all the gifts that life has to offer a loving mother is the best one A mother's love is a treasure lying deep in the core of our hearts and we know It will always be there to comfort us Someone has rightly said A mother's love begins before the child is born and lasts through time and difficulties and differences and many wounds and days of joy and days of sorrow winding wearing weeping sharing changing until at the end what remains is that solid core that began as love before the child was born

Transatlantic Renaissances Kathryn Stelmach Artuso, 2013 The impulses that fired the Southern Literary Renaissance echoed the impetus behind the Irish Literary Revival at the turn of the twentieth century when Ireland sought to demonstrate its cultural equality with any European nation and disentangle itself from English imposed stereotypes Seeking to prove that the South was indeed the cultural equal of greater America despite the harsh realities of political defeat economic scarcity and racial strife Southern writers embarked on a career to re imagine the American South and to re invent literary criticism Transatlantic Renaissances Literature of Ireland and the American South traces the influence of the Irish Revival upon the Southern Renaissance exploring how the latter looked to the former for guidance artistic innovation and models for self invention and regional renovation While Deleuze and Guattari's model for minor literature refers to minority or regional authors who work within a major language for purposes of subversion Artuso modifies their term along generic and thematic lines to refer to errant female juveniles within subsidiary genres whose nonconformist development threatens to disrupt the dominant patriarchal culture of a region or nation Using the themes of initiation and maturation to anchor the book Artuso analyzes how the volatile development of young women in revivalist texts often reflects or questions larger growth pangs and patterns including the evolution of the literary revival itself and the development of a regional minority group that must work within a dominant culture language and nation while seeking methods of subversion With minor literature as the container for undervalued genres such as popular fiction and short stories often considered an author's juvenilia this work investigates not only how these texts challenge the authoritative claims of the novel but also scrutinizes the renaissance trope of female rebirth as the revivalists often figured cultural national or regional regeneration through the metamorphoses or maturation of female protagonists such as Cathleen n Houlihan Scarlett

We Feel Just Like You Do Dr. Sahadeva Das, 2018-01-01 How egocentric of humans to think we are the only beings who can think feel bond with others etc As the dominating species we have a responsibility to care for and protect the entire planet including the other animals Those who describe animals as not having any thoughts or feelings come closer to the description they're trying to describe It's enormously puzzling that extreme suffering only gets widely questioned if it is the suffering of members of the human species It is extraordinary how many people just accept the appalling treatment of such a vast number of animals Animals have souls and we have a duty to respect them Anything less is to deny one's humanity and one's own soul Numerous stories outlined in this book prove this point beyond the shadow of a doubt
