Second Look At Calgary's Public Art:

Sights of Resistance Robert James Belton, 2001 CD ROM contains Chapters from text Glossary Hiding the Audience Frances W. Kaye, 2003-03 Hiding the Audience examines how the development of Canadian prairie arts institutions in the context of an implicitly Euro or Anglo Canadian audience clashed with the creation of regional arts that needed to acknowledge a Native Canadian presence to flourish. It looks in detail at the regional versus international strains in the history of the Banff Centre at the development of the Glenbow Museum and the controversy over the Spirit Sings exhibition at the two decades of contention regarding statues of Louis Riel in Regina and Winnipeg and at the contrasts in audience participation in two of 25th Street Theatre's productions one about farmers and the other about Metis people. Primarily a work of cultural history this study uses archival sources post colonial theory and the theories implied in the fiction of Cherokee author Thomas King to probe the ways in which the whitestream assumptions of the individuals who institutionalized the arts on the Prairies hid both a Native audience and the kinds of issues and presentations such an audience might reasonably expect to see and that might help make the settler audience understand the responsibilities of becoming native to this place. The interdisciplinary nature of the book makes it useful to scholars in Native Studies Museum Studies Art History Theatre and English as well as to arts administrators and patrons art lovers and artists. A Second Look at Calgary's Public Art Barbara Kwasny, Elaine Peake, 1992-01-01 Suburban Modern Robert M. Stamp, 2004 While avant garde modernism disrupted the art salons architecture schools and design studios of the world's more sophisticated urban centres in the 20th century Calgary slept through the cultural upheavals as a provincial backwater. Calgary's initiation to modernism might be dated to February 13 1947 when Imperial Oil blew in its famous well at Leduc. Or the 1948 football season when Tom Brooks and Les Lear wrapped the Calgary Stampeders football team around an innovative and modernist looking T formation backfield to win the Grey Cup. Calgarians embraced the modern age after the Second World War taking modernism into the streets and into the suburbs. They went beyond art architecture and design and redefined modernism to include homes furniture appliances and cars. In the process Calgarians democratized feminized and suburbanized modernism. Suburban Modern examines controversies over coloured margarine and mixed drinking in post war Calgary. It shows how new petro office buildings transformed the downtown skyline during the 1950s and 1960s and how new bus lines roads and bridges changed the city's transportation network. As the city sprawled horizontally to engulf its ever expanding suburbs shoppers deserted downtown for suburban malls. The book follows young couples into their post war dream homes with modern furnishings and barbecue appointed patios. Suburban Modern argues that the suburbs rather than the downtown defined Calgary's approach to modernism. Discover Southeast Calgary's Parks and Green Spaces David W. Peyto, 2007 Canadian Book Review Annual ,1992 Canadian Books in Print ,2003 International Books in Print ,1997 Canadian Books in Print 2002 Marian Butler, 2002-02 *Canadian Books in Print.
