Great Power Competition for Overseas Bases Robert E. Harkavy, 2013-10-22 Great Power Competition for Overseas Bases The Geopolitics of Access Diplomacy

explores the geopolitics of the major powers overseas basing systems in relation to global strategies and changes in the international system in three fairly distinct phases the interwar early postwar and recent postwar periods This book links the great powers competition for overseas bases to several streams of more or less contemporary international relations theory This monograph consists of seven chapters and opens with an introduction to the diplomacy of basing access followed by a discussion on the different types or purposes of basing access as they have evolved over the past several decades in response to changes in diplomacy and military technology The major powers overseas basing access networks in the consecutive interwar early postwar and recent postwar periods are then reviewed along with the earlier corpus of geopolitical theory specifically as it relates to basing diplomacy Emphasis is on the conflicting assumptions about what reciprocal strategic advantages and disadvantages inhere to the geographic positions of the United States and USSR The final chapter considers a number of functional areas of world politics that are closely intertwined with basing diplomacy and relates the competition for facilities to raw materials access surrogate wars strategic deterrence arms control balances of payments arms sales and aid alliances and other such staple concerns of international relations This book will be of interest to political scientists military and government officials diplomats and policymakers

The Taking of K-129 Josh Dean, 2018-09-25 An incredible true tale of espionage and engineering set at the height of the Cold War a mix between The Hunt for Red October and Argo about how the CIA the U S Navy and America's most eccentric mogul spent six years and nearly a billion dollars to steal the nuclear armed Soviet submarine K 129 after it had sunk to the bottom of the Pacific Ocean all while the Russians were watching In the early hours of February 25 1968 a Russian submarine armed with three nuclear ballistic missiles set sail from its base in Siberia on a routine combat patrol to Hawaii Then it vanished As the Soviet Navy searched in vain for the lost vessel a small highly classified American operation using sophisticated deep sea spy equipment found it wrecked on the sea floor at a depth of 16 800 feet far beyond the capabilities of any salvage that existed But the potential intelligence assets onboard the ship the nuclear warheads battle orders and cryptological machines justified going to extreme lengths to find a way to raise the submarine So began Project Azorian a top secret mission that took six years cost an estimated 800 million and would become the largest and most daring covert operation in CIA history After the U S Navy declared retrieving the sub impossible the mission fell to the CIA's burgeoning Directorate of Science and Technology the little known division responsible for the legendary U 2 and SR 71 Blackbird spy planes Working with Global Marine Systems the country's foremost maker of exotic deep sea drilling vessels the CIA commissioned the most expensive ship ever built and told the world that it belonged to the reclusive billionaire Howard Hughes who would use the mammoth ship to mine rare minerals from the ocean floor In reality a complex network of spies scientists and politicians attempted a project even crazier than Hughes's reputation raising the sub directly under the watchful eyes of the Russians

Ocean Science and the British Cold War State Samuel

A. Robinson, 2018-05-03 This book focuses on the activities of the scientific staff of the British National Institute of Oceanography during the Cold War Revealing how issues such as intelligence gathering environmental surveillance the identification of enemy science along with administrative practice informed and influenced the Institute's Cold War program In turn this program helped shape decisions taken by Government military and the civil service towards science in post war Britain This was not simply a case of government ministers choosing to patronize particular scientists but a relationship between politics and science that profoundly impacted on the future of ocean science in Britain News Letter United States.
