Secret Self Psychoanalytic Experiences:

The Secret Self Theodor Reik, 1952 Repressed Spaces Paul Carter, 2004-11-02 In Repressed Spaces Paul Carter tours the cultural history of agoraphobia the fear of open space Its symptoms were first described in The Anatomy of Melancholy 1621 by Robert Burton the British scholar and writer although it wasn't until 1871 that Carl Otto Westphal coined the term to describe several of his patients who experienced severe anxiety when walking through streets or squares There have been many attempts to explain and treat the condition critics of modernization have linked it to bad city planning psychoanalysts calling it street panic have blamed it on the Oedipus complex psychiatrists have tied it to existential insecurity and describe it as the fear of places or situations that have triggered panic attacks Freud believed that agoraphobia like all phobias was part of an anxiety neurosis and had a sexual origin Taking as his starting point the fact that Freud himself was agoraphobic and analyzing the way people have negotiated open spaces from Greek and Roman times to the present day Paul Carter finds that space fear ultimately results from the inhibition of movement Along the way the author asks why Freud repressed his agoraphobia and examines literature the work of architects and theorists including Le Corbusier Walter Benjamin and R D Laing artists such as Munch Lapique and Giacometti and the German street films of the 1920s He concludes by proposing a new way of regarding open space a new poetics of agoraphobia one that is sensitive to the agoraphobe's point of view and provides lessons for architects and urban planners today Psychoanalytic Studies of Religion

Feminizing the Fetish Emily Apter, 2018-03-15 Shoes gloves umbrellas cigars that are not just objects the topic of fetishism seems both bizarre and inevitable In this venturesome and provocative book Emily Apter offers a fresh account of the complex relationship between representation and sexual obsession in turn of the century French culture Analyzing works by authors in the naturalist and realist traditions as well as making use of documents from a contemporary medical archive she considers fetishism as a cultural artifact and as a subgenre of realist fiction Apter traces the web of connections among fin de siècle representations of perversion the fiction of pathology and the literary case history She explores in particular the theme of female fetishism in the context of the feminine culture of mourning collecting and dressing TSWNTIETH
