Marcus,2000-04-15 Para Sites the penultimate volume in the Late Editions series explores how social actors located within centers of power and privilege develop and express a critical consciousness of their own situations Departing from the usual focus of ethnography and cultural analysis on the socially marginalized these pieces probe subjects who are undeniably complicit with powerful institutional engines of contemporary change In each case the possibility of alternative thinking or practices is in complex relation to the subject's source of empowerment. These cases challenge the condition of cynicism that has been the favored mode of characterizing the mind set of intellectuals and professionals comfortable in their lives of middle class consumption and work. In their effort to establish paradigms of critical awareness parallel to the levels of political and economic power at which they function, these subjects suggest that those who lead ordinary lives of modest power and privilege might not be parasites in relation to the systems they serve but may be creating unique and independent critical perspectives.

The Lost Art of Happiness Arthur Dobrin, Arthur Dobrin, D.S.W., Professor Emeritus of University Studies, Hofstra University, 2011-10-31. The key to the good life is compassion. Drawing on recent findings, Dobrin convincingly shows that compassion is built into human nature. When we act upon this inherent moral instinct, individuals find what they want most to be happy.

Kinship Medicine Wendy Johnson, MD, MPH, 2025-07-15. For fans of Braiding Sweetgrass, The Future We Choose, and The Blue Zones, a book about the effect our relationship to nature has on our well-being and health. Our modern way of living is incompatible with our survival. Most of us intuitively know this truth but almost everything in our society encourages us to ignore it. Dr. Wendy Johnson confronts this undeniable fact and breaks down how we think and act every day in ways that undermine our individual and collective well-being. The antidotes to many of the causal factors of poor health—loneliness, industrial diets, systemic inequality, fear of death, profit-based healthcare—are relational with each other and with the living earth. Through evidence from public health, sociology, anthropology, human ecology, and her experience as a family physician, Dr. Wendy Johnson will show you how we must incorporate an ecosystem perspective into modern medicine. What you ingest and where you live can reinforce or upset your body's delicate balance. Eliminating one organism in an ecosystem can affect all the others. Histories of trauma can be passed down for generations. Rekindling our relationships to non-human life is essential to our well-being. Being closer to death can release some of its power over us. Actions of communities will be stronger and more lasting than any individual efforts. You will leave with a clear vision of what a new society might look like, methods to accomplish this transformation, and concrete examples of where it is being done successfully.

Ginger, horseradish and licorice in horsefeeding Stefan Brosig, 2019-01-10. Since 2002, ginger is used in horses for the treatment of a wide range of ailments, mainly in cases of injury or age-related arthrosis and inflammation. Since 2010, its efficacy has also been officially recognized and put on the doping list. As a healthy spice, it will probably be the only harmless drug that can be used for the entire life. The successful treatment of the famous German dressage mare and former great Olympic hope, Renaissance Fleur, in 2003 led to a rapid spread of ginger feeding among the horse owners in Germany. The greatest progress in horse feeding since the introduction of hay and oats. Quote from a user: In 2004, horseradish was added to the anti-inflammatory ginger as an effective broadband antibiotic. In 2009, licorice was added as a treatment against headshaking. The book reflects the current state of feeding ginger, horseradish, and licorice and provides practical guidance on how to use it. The book also includes the effective treatment of fungal skin diseases with broadband antifungal mosses.

Furthermore the ambulant treatment of keratomas is described the treatment of sandcracks by gluing over with glass fiber tissue and a gastric juice resistant encapsulation of ginger for use in humans In addition a gentle treatment of equine sarcoids with liverwort extract and cod liver oil is described And finally it is described a very simple method of affixing bandages over wounds by gluing which because too cheap unfortunately is only very rarely used by veterinarians As a prophylaxis to orthopedic problems the quite new hoof caring method F Balance tested and found superior by the University of Leipzig is also emphasized
