Ray Lott, 2004-01-01 This history of American martial arts films from major features to direct to video releases begins with an overview of the martial arts in America then moves on to discuss early trend setting movies the influence of Chinese kung fu film imports martial arts on television the explosive growth of the genre in the 80s and recent releases trends and the direction of English language martial arts movies There is a selected filmography of 300 movies BOOK JACKET The Martial Arts Cinema of the Chinese Diaspora Kin-Yan Szeto, 2011-06-29 In The Martial Arts Cinema of the Chinese Diaspora Kin Yan Szeto critically examines three of the most internationally famous martial arts film artists to arise out of the Chinese diaspora and travel far from their homelands to find commercial success in the world at large Ang Lee John Woo and Jackie Chan Positing the idea that these filmmakers success is evidence of a cosmopolitical awareness arising from their cross cultural ideological engagements and geopolitical displacements Szeto demonstrates how this unique perspective allows these three filmmakers to develop and act in the transnational environment of media production distribution and consumption Beginning with a historical retrospective on Chinese martial arts films as a diasporic film genre and the transnational styles and ideologies of the filmmakers themselves Szeto uses case studies to explore in depth how the forces of colonialism Chinese nationalism and Western imperialism shaped the identities and work of Lee Woo and Chan Addressed in the volume is the groundbreaking martial arts swordplay film that achieves global success Ang Lee s Crouching Tiger Hidden Dragon and its revelations about Hollywood representations of Asians as well as concepts of male and female masculinity in the swordplay film tradition Also investigated is the invigoration of contemporary gangster thriller and war films by John Woo whose combination of artistic and historical contexts has contributed to his global success Szeto then dissects Chan s mimetic representation of masculinity in his films and the influences of his Chinese theater and martial arts training on his work Szeto outlines the similarities and differences between the three artists films especially their treatments of gender sexuality and power She concludes by analyzing their films as metaphors for their working conditions in the Chinese diaspora and Hollywood and demonstrating how through their works Lee Woo and Chan communicate not only with the rest of the world but also with each other Far from a book simply about three filmmakers The Martial Arts Cinema of the Chinese Diaspora investigates the transnational nature of films the geopolitics of culture and race and the depths of masculinity and power in movies Szeto's interdisciplinary approach calls for nothing less than a paradigm shift in the study of Chinese diasporic filmmakers and the embodiment of cosmopolitical perspectives in the martial arts genre Chinese Martial Arts Film and the Philosophy of Action Stephen Teo, 2021-03-30 This book focuses on the philosophy of Chinese martial arts film arguing that philosophy provides a key to understanding the whole genre It draws on Chinese philosophical ideas derived from or based on Confucianism Daoism Buddhism and other schools of thought such as Mohism and Legalism examines a cluster of recent Chinese martial arts films centering on the figure of the xia the heroic protagonist the Chinese equivalent of medieval Europe's knight errant and outlines the philosophical principles and themes undergirding the actions of xia and their narratives Overall the author argues that the genre apart from being an action oriented entertainment medium is inherently moral and ethical The Encyclopedia of Martial Arts Movies Bill Palmer, Karen Palmer, 1995 The Encyclopedia covers the genre from 1920 to 1994 The genre however can be very confusing films often have several titles and many of the stars have more than one pseudonym In an effort to clarify some of the confusion the authors have included all the information available to them on almost 3 300 films Each entry includes a listing of the production company the cast and crew distributors running times reviews with star ratings whenever possible and alternate film titles A list of film series and one of the stars pseudonyms in addition to a 7 900 name index are also included Illustrated Women in Chinese Martial Arts Films of the New Millennium Ya-chen Chen, 2012-04-12 Women and Gender in Chinese Martial Arts Films of the New Millennium by Ya-chen Chen is an excavation of underexposed gender issues focusing mainly on contradictory and troubled feminism in the film narratives In the cinematic world of martial arts films one can easily find representations of women of Ancient China released from the constraints of patriarchal social order to revel in a dreamlike space of their own They can develop themselves protect themselves and even defeat or conquer men This world not only frees women from the convention of foot binding but it also unbinds them in terms of education critical thinking talent ambition opportunities to socialize with different men and the freedom or right to both choose their spouse and decide their own fate Chen calls this phenomenon Chinese cinematic martial arts feminism The liberation is never sustaining or complete however Chen reveals the presence of a glass ceiling marking the maximal exercise of feminism and women's rights which the patriarchal order is willing to accept As such these films are not to be seen as celebrations of feminist liberation but as enunciations of the patriarchal authority that suffuses Chinese cinematic martial arts feminism The film narratives under examination include Crouching Tiger Hidden Dragon directed by Ang Lee Hero Zhang Yimou House of the Flying Daggers Zhang Yimou Seven Swords Tsui Hark The Promise Chen Kaige The Banquet Feng Xiaogang and Curse of the Golden Flower Zhang Yimou Chen also touches upon the plots of two of the earliest award winning Chinese martial arts films A Touch of Zen and Legend of the Mountain both directed by King Hu Globalization, Cultural Identities, and Media Representations Natascha Gentz, Stefan Kramer, 2012-02-01

Globalization Cultural Identities and Media Representations provides a multidirectional approach for understanding the role of media in constructing cultural identities in a newly globalized media environment The contributors cover a wide range of topics from different geopolitical areas historical periods and media genres Case studies examined include the shift from print to Internet local representations of modern world cinema and global television narrative strategies in transnational literature and cultural economics of the mediation of world music in India China Algeria Israel Europe and the United States This case study approach allows for deeper insights into the complexity of each cultural subsystem as part of the whole media culture system This book exemplifies a transcultural and transdisciplinary dialogue that maps out new relocated territories and borders for mediated cultural identities and also reveals the complexity and connectedness of all of these discourses

Martial Arts Cinema and Hong Kong Modernity Man-Fung Yip, 2017-09-05 At the core of Martial Arts Cinema and Hong Kong Modernity Aesthetics Representation Circulation is a fascinating paradox the martial arts film long regarded as a vehicle of Chinese cultural nationalism can also be understood as a mass cultural expression of Hong Kong's modern urban industrial society This important and popular genre Man Fung Yip argues articulates the experiential qualities the competing social subjectivities and gender discourses as well as the heightened circulation of capital people goods information and technologies in Hong Kong of the 1960s and 1970s In addition to providing a novel conceptual framework for the study of Hong Kong martial arts cinema and shedding light on the nexus between social change and cultural aesthetic form this book offers perceptive analyses of individual films including not only the canonical works of King Hu Chang Cheh and Bruce Lee but also many lesser known ones by Lau Kar leung and Chor Yuen among others that have not been adequately discussed before Thoroughly researched and lucidly written Yip's stimulating study will ignite debates in new directions for both scholars and fans of Chinese language martial arts cinema Yip subjects critical clichés to rigorous examination moving beyond generalized notions of martial arts cinema's appeal and offering up informed scrutiny of every facet of the genre He has the ability to encapsulate these films particularities with cogent examples and at the same time demonstrate a thorough familiarity with the historical context in which this endlessly fascinating genre arose David Desser professor emeritus University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign Eschewing a reductive chronology Yip offers a persuasive detailed and sophisticated excavation of martial arts cinema which is read through and in relation to rapid transformation of Hong Kong in the 1960s and 1970s An exemplar of critical genre study this book represents a significant contribution to the discipline Yvonne Tasker professor of film studies and dean of the Faculty of Arts and Humanities University of East Anglia

Martial Arts Movies Richard Meyers, 1985 Myth and Identity in the Martial Arts Alexis McLeod, 2024-12-24 Myth and Identity in the Martial Arts Creating the Dragon is a study of the role of myth and ideology in the formation of social identity focusing on a variety of communities of practice involving the martial arts in East Asian and Western history Alexis McLeod argues that myths of the martial arts should not be understood as falsehoods created as means of legitimizing modern practices but should instead be understood as narratives that enable individuals and communities to formulate social identities and to accord meaning to their practices This book covers six influential sources of myth and identity formation in the history of martial arts early Chinese and Indian philosophy the formation bushido thought in the Edo period of Japan Republican era Chinese conceptions of nationhood and physical culture Western contributions and the innovations of Bruce Lee African American conceptions of martial arts as a response to oppression in the twentieth century and the contemporary ideologies of mixed martial arts The Encyclopedia of Martial Arts Movies Bill Palmer,Karen Palmer,Ric Meyers,1995-01-01 This ebook is now available from Bloomsbury Academic Bloomsbury Academic publish acclaimed resources for undergraduate and postgraduate courses as well as the general reader across a broad range of subjects including Archaeology Art Visual Culture Biblical Studies Business Management Drama Performance Studies Economics Education Film Media History Linguistics Literary Studies Music Sound Studies Philosophy Politics International Relations Psychology Religious Studies Social Work Social Welfare Sociology Study Skills Theology and Wellbeing Health Lifestyle Visit bloomsbury com for more information Historical Dictionary of Chinese Cinema Tan Ye,Yun Zhu,2012-10-04 Motion pictures were first introduced to China in 1896 and today China has become a major player in the film industry However the story of how Chinese cinema became what it is today is an exceptionally turbulent one It encompasses incursions by foreign powers warfare among contending rulers the collapse of the Chinese empire and the massive setback of the Cultural Revolution The Historical Dictionary of Chinese Cinema covers the history of Chinese cinema from its very beginning in 1896 to the present This is done through a chronology an introductory essay appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section contains several hundred cross referenced dictionary entries on films directors and historical figures This book is an excellent access point for anyone interested in Chinese cinema and for scholars interested in investigating ideas for future research Chinese Martial Arts Cinema Stephen Teo,2015-11-13 This is the first comprehensive fully researched account of the historical and contemporary development of the traditional martial arts genre in the Chinese cinema known as wuxia literal translation martial chivalry a genre which audiences around the world became familiar with through the phenomenal crossover hit Crouching Tiger Hidden Dragon 2000 The book unveils rich layers of the wuxia tradition as it developed in the early Shanghai cinema in the late 1920s and from the 1950s onwards in the Hong Kong and Taiwan film industries Key attractions of the book are analyses of The history of the tradition as it began in the Shanghai cinema its rise and popularity as a serialized form in the silent cinema of the late 1920s and its eventual prohibition by the government in 1931 Fighting without Fighting Luke White,2022-07-11 From classic Bruce Lee films to the comedies of Jackie Chan a vibrant look at the enduring fascination with the kung fu cinema of Hong Kong In the spring and summer of 1973 a wave of martial arts movies from Hong Kong epitomized by Bruce Lee's Enter the Dragon smashed box office records for foreign language films in America and ignited a kung fu craze that swept the world. Fighting without Fighting explores this dramatic phenomenon and it argues that more than just a cinematic fad, the West's sudden fascination with and moral panic about the Asian fighting arts left lasting legacies still present today. The book traces the background of the craze in the longer development of Hong Kong's martial arts cinema. It discusses the key films in detail as well as their popular reception and the debates they ignited where kung fu challenged Western identities and raised anxieties about violence both on and off screen. And it examines the proliferation of ideas and images from these films in fields as diverse as popular music, superhero franchises, children's cartoons and contemporary art. Illuminating and accessible, Fighting without Fighting draws a vivid bridge between East and West.

How to Read a Film James Monaco, 1981. Now thoroughly revised and updated, the book discusses recent breakthroughs in media technology including such exciting advances as video discs and cassettes, two-way television, satellites, cable, and much more.

The Ultimate Guide to Martial Arts Movies of the 1970s Craig D. Reid, 2010. Dynamic and entertaining, this movie guide brings depth to the martial arts films of the 1970s with more than 2,000 titles from 14 countries, broken down into lively reviews, detailed discussions, and meticulous references. With an engaging introduction to kung fu cinema, this examination then launches into a collection of more than 500 martial arts reviews that include the movie name, time and place of theatrical release, director name, list of principal actors, fight instructors, and interesting tidbits about the film. Each entry also includes statistics such as the number and length of training and fight sequences. Complete indexes are also featured, listing actors and movies by their English variations as well as countries of origin. Both a fun read and an accurate resource, this handbook is a must-have for movie fans and martial artists alike.
