

DATA VERSUS INFORMATION RETRIEVAL

DATA RETRIEVAL

Determines which documents of a collection contain the keywords in the user query

All objects which satisfy clearly defined conditions are retrieved

A single erroneous object means total failure

Data has a well defined structure and semantics

INFORMATION RETRIEVAL

Retrieves information about a subject rather than data which satisfies a given query

IR system somehow 'interprets' the contents of documents in a collection and rank them according to a degree of relevance to the user query

The retrieved objects might be inaccurate and small errors are ignored

Data is a natural language text which is not always well structured and could be semantically ambiguous
