Experiments Leonardo A. Villalón,Peter VonDoepp,2005-09 Does democracy have a future in Africa Democracy in Senegal S. Gellar,2005-09-16 Providing an in depth comparative study of democracy formation Gellar traces Senegal s movement from a pre colonial aristocratic order towards a modern democratic political order Inspired by Tocqueville s methodology he identifies social equality ethnic and religious tolerance popular participation in local affairs and freedom of association and the press as vital components of any democratic system He shows how centralized state structures and monopoly of political power stifled local initiative and perpetuated neo patrimonial modes of governance States of

Disorder, Ecosystems of Governance Adam Day,2022-03-28 Today s vision of world order is founded upon the concept of strong well functioning states in contrast to the destabilizing potential of failed or fragile states This worldview has dominated international interventions over the past 30 years as enormous resources have been devoted to developing and extending the governance capacity of weak or failing states hoping to transform them into reliable nodes in the global order But with very few exceptions this project has not delivered on its promise countries like Somalia Afghanistan South Sudan and the Democratic Republic of the Congo DRC remain mired in conflict despite decades of international interventions States of Disorder addresses the question Why has UN state building so consistently failed to meet its objectives It proposes an explanation based on the application of complexity theory to UN interventions in South Sudan and DRC where the UN has been tasked to implement massive stabilization and state building missions Far from being ungoverned spaces these settings present complex dynamical systems of governance with emergent properties that allow them to adapt and resist attempts to change them UN interventions based upon assumptions that gradual increases in institutional capacity will lead to improved governance fail to reflect how change occurs in these systems and may in fact contribute to underlying patterns of exclusion and violence Based on more than a decade of the author s work in peacekeeping this book offers a systemic mapping of how governance systems work and indeed work against UN interventions Pursuing a complexity driven approach instead helps to avoid unintentional consequences identifies meaningful points of leverage and opens the possibility of transforming societies from within

Multi-Ethnic Coalitions in Africa Leonardo R. Arriola, 2013 Africa's long ruling incumbents stay in power because opposition politicians struggle to secure the finances required to build electoral coalitions

Global Land Grabbing and Political Reactions 'from Below' Marc Edelman, Ruth Hall, Saturnino M. Borrás Jr., Ian Scoones, Ben White, Wendy Wolford, 2017-08-15 When the 2007-2008 food and financial crises triggered a global wave of land grabbing scholars activists and policy practitioners assumed that this would be met with massive peasant resistance As empirical evidence accumulated however it became clear that political reactions from below to land grabbing were quite varied and complex Violent resistance outright expulsions everyday weapons of the weak and demands for better terms of incorporation into land deals were among the outcomes that emerged Readers of this collection will encounter a multinational group of scholars who use the tools of social movements theory and critical agrarian studies to examine cases from Argentina Mexico Guatemala Nicaragua Colombia Ethiopia Madagascar Mozambique Uganda Mali Ukraine India and Laos as well as the Rio 20 Sustainable Development Conference Initiatives from below in response to land deals have involved local and transnational alliances and the use of legal and extra legal methods and have brought victories and defeats This book was first published as a special issue of The Journal of Peasant Studies

The Politics of Possession Thomas Sikor, Christian Lund, 2010-01-15 The Politics of Possession investigates how struggles over access to resources and political power constitute property and authority recursively Such dynamics are integral to state formation in societies characterized by normative and legal pluralism Includes some of the latest theoretical work on the dynamics of access and property and how they are joined to questions of power and authority Explores how access to resources is often contested and rife with conflict particularly in post colonial and post socialist countries Offers a thought provoking approach to the study of everyday processes of state formation Shows how the process of seeking authorization for property claims works to legitimize the authorizers and the efforts undertaken by politico legal institutions to gain legitimacy underpin and undermine various claims of access and property Contributors explore from a wide empirical compass of original research spanning Latin America Africa South East Asia and Eastern Europe

Security Governance in East Africa Kennedy Agade Mkutu, 2017-12-15 This collection of cases from East Africa contributed largely by locally based authors explores the increasing security governance phenomenon in the region that is the mix of state and non state actors including private entities volunteer auxiliaries homegrown vigilantes and gangs and the relationship between police and communities Local dynamics brought by globalization liberalization the new scramble for resource wealth inequality and international terrorism are observed in detail superimposed upon the well known development challenges ethno political divides and patterns of government and security provision which continue to reflect their colonial past This book raises both practical and theoretical ethical dilemmas of the increasing fragmentation of security functions within Uganda Kenya South Sudan mainland Tanzania and Zanzibar It is a vital contribution to the non state plural policing debates and is of both local and global relevance

Beyond Ethnic Politics in Africa Dominika Koter, 2016-10-13 Why do ethnic politics emerge in some ethnically diverse societies but not others Focusing on sub Saharan Africa Dominika Koter argues that the prevailing social structures of a country play a central role in how politicians attempt to mobilize voters In particular politicians consider the strength of local leaders such as chiefs or religious dignitaries who have historically played a crucial role in many parts of rural Africa Local leaders can change the electoral dynamics by helping politicians secure votes among people of different ethnicities Ethnic politics thus can be avoided where there are local leaders who can serve as credible electoral intermediaries between voters and politicians Koter shows that there is widespread variation in the standing of local leaders across Africa as a result of long term historical trends which has meant that politicians have mobilized voters in qualitatively different ways resulting in different levels of ethnic politics across the continent

Taking Ethno-Cultural Diversity Seriously in Constitutional Design Solomon A. Dersso, 2012 Using a legal and multidisciplinary approach towards empirical and prescriptive analysis of contemporary minority rights standards this book defends and elaborates a robust minority rights framework for articulating a constitutional design responsive to the claims of ethno cultural groups in Africa

Land Politics Lauren Honig, 2022-08-25 This book provides new insight into the high stakes struggle to control land in the Global South through the lens of land titling in Zambia and Senegal Based on extensive fieldwork it shows how chiefs and communities challenge the state in an era of increasing scarcity and booming global land markets

Making Nations, Creating Strangers Sarah Rich Dorman, Daniel Patrick Hammett, Paul Nugent, 2007 This book explores the instrumental manipulation of citizenship and narrowing definitions of national belonging which refract political struggles in Zimbabwe Cote d'Ivoire Cameroon Somalia Tanzania and South Africa where conflicts are legitimated through claims of exclusionary nationhood and redefinitions of citizenship

The Statebuilder's Dilemma David A. Lake, 2016-06-10 The central task of all statebuilding is to create a state that is regarded as legitimate by the people over whom it exercises authority This is a necessary condition for stable effective governance States sufficiently motivated to bear the costs of building a state in some distant land are likely to have interests in the future policies of that country and will therefore seek to promote loyal leaders who are sympathetic to their interests and willing to implement their preferred policies In The Statebuilder's Dilemma David A Lake addresses the key tradeoff between legitimacy and loyalty common to all international statebuilding attempts Except in rare cases where the policy preferences of the statebuilder and the population of the country whose state is to be built coincide as in the famous success cases of West Germany and Japan after 1945 promoting a leader who will remain loyal to the statebuilder undermines that leader's legitimacy at home In Iraq thrust into a statebuilding role it neither anticipated nor wanted the United States eventually backed Nouri al Maliki as the most favorable of a bad lot of alternative leaders Maliki then used the support of the Bush administration to govern as a Shiite partisan undermining the statebuilding effort and ultimately leading to the second failure of the Iraqi state in 2014 Ethiopia faced the same tradeoff in Somalia after the rise of a promising but irredentist government in 2006 invading to put its own puppet in power in Mogadishu But the resulting government has not been able to build significant local support and legitimacy Lake uses these cases to demonstrate that the greater the interests of the statebuilder in the target country the more difficult it is to build a legitimate state that can survive on its own

The Quest for Authority in Iran Siavush Randjbar-Daemi, 2017-11-30 Iran's presidents have defined the Islamic Republic's attitudes towards the rest of the world Never has this been more true than now In this book Siavush Randjbar Daemi presents an in depth analysis of the evolution of the Iranian presidency from its inception in the aftermath of the Islamic Revolution to the present day He offers detailed narratives of each president's ascent to the post and their struggles to acquire authority and maintain relevance within the political process The figures under consideration include the widely admired Mohammad Khatami the internationally criticised Mahmoud Ahmadinejad and the incumbent president Hassan Rouhani who steered the decade long nuclear confrontation between Iran and the West towards a diplomatic conclusion This book sheds light on the extraordinarily complex workings of the Iranian state taking into account both the opportunities and challenges that each president has faced whilst in power It will be essential reading for scholars of Iranian history political science and international diplomacy

Decentralized Governance and Accountability Jonathan A. Rodden, Erik Wibbels, 2019-02-28 Reviews recent lessons about decentralized governance and implications for future development programs and policies

Institutions and Democracy in Africa Nic Cheeseman, 2018-02-22 Historically African political institutions such as constitutions legislatures and judiciaries have been seen as weak and vulnerable to manipulation leading some to claim that the continent is institutionless However recent developments including the consolidation of presidential term limits in a number of countries demonstrate that this depiction is no longer tenable By drawing attention to how institutions can shape the practice of politics this book demonstrates that electoral commissions economic regulations and systems of land tenure are vital to our understanding of contemporary Africa A series of cutting edge contributions from leading scholars explain how the rules of the game shape political developments across the continent from Kenya to Nigeria and from Benin to South Africa In chapters that cover bureaucracies constitutions elections political parties the police and more the authors argue that a new research agenda is required if we are to better understand the process of democratisation
