Politics and the Media in Twenty-First Century Indonesia Krishna Sen, David Hill, 2010-11 This book examines the media in the post-authoritarian politics of twenty-first century Indonesia. It considers how the media is being transformed, its role in politics and its potential impact in enabling or hampering the development of democracy in Indonesia.

Journalism and Politics in Indonesia David T. Hill, 2010-01-21 Mochtar Lubis was one of Indonesia's best known newspaper editors, authors and cultural figures with a national, regional and international prominence that he retained from the early 1950s until his recent death in 2004. This book traces the major events in the life of Mochtar Lubis, which is also a prism through which much of Indonesia's post-independence history can be interpreted. This book is also the story of Indonesia in the second half of the twentieth century when the people of the archipelago became an independent nation and when print media and the influential figures who controlled and produced newspapers played a pivotal role in national, political, educational and cultural life, defining Indonesia. Editors with strong personalities dominated the industry and sparred with the nation's leadership. Lubis was a vocal critic of the abuse of power and a thorn in the side of the country's first two presidents, becoming synonymous with combative journalism. Under both Sukarno and Suharto, Lubis had his newspaper closed down and was imprisoned. As the only comprehensive biography of this towering figure, the book provides a unique insight into the history and development of media, literature and the political system in Indonesia.

The Public Sphere and Media Politics in Malaysia Mohd Azizuddin Mohd Sani, 2009-01-14 This book analyses Malaysian media from the Jürgen Habermas perspectives of the public sphere, especially from the aspects of bourgeois public sphere, mass press, the commercialisation of the press and re-feudalisation. Malaysia has also faced all of those aspects. However, the highlight of this book is the process called de-feudalisation. The 2008 General Election has shown that a new public sphere of cyberspace or the Internet and the mobile phone was accessed and utilised significantly and was enough to be used by the opposition in influencing the public to vote. It became one of the major factors in determining the result of the election, which is for the first time the opposition denying the ruling government a two-third majority in the parliament and taking control or governing of five states. This new and influential public sphere in Malaysia has reversed the Habermas argument of re-feudalisation to a process called De-feudalisation. However, in creating a civil public sphere for the people to deliberate views this book also argues that Malaysia needs a responsible media or freedom of the press with social responsibility This book urges Malaysia to accept the idea or theory of social responsibility and the concept of public journalism in the public sphere This book is suitable for all interested politicians journalists academia and students of politics media studies laws and Malaysian studies in the issues of media politics free press and the role of media in Malaysian society as well as those interested in civil liberties democratisation political theory media theory law and Malaysian studies
