Queen Gwethalyn:

Racial Attitudes in English-Canadian Fiction, 1905-1980 Terrence Craig, 1987-08-31 Examines stereotypes in Canadian literature reflecting both the racist view that Jews and other aliens could never become good white Canadians because of their inherent defects and the belief that with time they could assimilate Discusses the origins of ethnic tension in Canada Up to 1939 English Canadian literature expressed the demand for British Protestant political and cultural dominance The popular novelist Charles Gordon a Presbyterian minister viewed the British especially the Scots as the chosen race and even when trying to present Jews sympathetically he treated them as stereotypes John Murray Gibbon was violently antisemitic F P Grove saw the Jews as urban businessmen exploiting the peasant immigrants After 1945 antisemitism became unfashionable Works by Jews such as Mordecai Richler exposed anti Jewish discrimination and English Canadians produced works attacking antisemitism and racism Canadian Periodical Index ,1966 OLR Index ,1963 Creative Canada ,1971-12-15 Did he ever play Hamlet Has she worked in television What was the title of his first novel Under whom did she study How many children has he Answers to such questions about contemporary Canadian artists have often been difficult even impossible to find This series has been created to provide the answers it covers creative and performing artists who have contributed as individuals to the culture of Canada in the twentieth century Each volume in the series presents a cross section of many different kinds of artists authors of imaginative works artists and sculptors musicians performers composers conductors and directors and performing artists in ballet modern dance radio theatre television and motion pictures directors designers and producers in theatre cinema radio television and the dance choreographers and for cinema cartoonists and animators Within each category of art is included a selection of those who have achieved national and international recognition those who have been recognized locally and some now deceased who markedly influenced their contemporaries locally nationally or internationally This is not a critical compilation rather it is an objective and factual reference work for those interested in contemporary Canadian culture Information was collected by painstaking research in a wide variety of sources and wherever possible it has been verified by the artist to make each entry as accurate and comprehensive as possible Doctoral Research on Canada and Canadians, 1884-1983 Jesse John Dossick, 1986 The Monthly Packet of Evening Readings for Members of the English Church ,1890 Obituaries on File: S-index ,1979

Equivocal City Patrick Coleman, 2018-10-30 The study of Montreal as a specific location in French and English writings has long been subordinated to the demands of linguistically divided and politically contentious narratives about national development In this cross linguistic study Patrick Coleman models an inclusive and post national literary history of the city itself Tracing a sequence of moments in the emergence of the Montreal novel from World War II to the turbulent 1960s Equivocal City offers close readings of fourteen key works of fiction focusing on the inner dynamic of their construction as well as the unexpected convergences and contrasts in the narrative structures they adopt and the aesthetic perspective they seek to achieve Critically sophisticated but accessibly written this book gives a sympathetic account of how writers in both languages struggled to give integrated artistic expression to their experience of a city that was still linguistically compartmentalized and culturally insecure By analyzing the interplay between story and narrative form the book explores what French and English novelists could and could not imagine about the Montreal they sought to portray From the responsible realism of Hugh MacLennan and Gabrielle Roy to the fractious phantasmagorias of Jacques Ferron and Leonard Cohen Equivocal City traces the evolution of the Montreal novel with the aim of retrieving a shareable literary past
