Gender and Power in Rural Greece Jill Dubisch, 2019-01-29 Women in contemporary Greek society have been conventionally depicted as oppressed and socially inferior circumscribed in behavior and segregated from the world of men In 1967 Ernestine Friedl s classic article The Position of Women Appearance and Reality argued that this view was overly simplified and that in Greek villages women in fact exercise power in household decisions and in determining the economic and marital future of their children Since that article feminists and anthropologists have continued to discuss the appearances of prestige vs the realities of power In this volume scholars from a variety of backgrounds return the debate to the setting of Greece for the first time since Friedl s work Introduced by Jill Dubisch the book contains eight original essays and a republication of the Friedl article Among other topics the essays examine changes now occurring in Greek gender roles the ways women deal with oppression and act as mediators between the domestic sphere and life outside the home and the extension of the language and symbolism of gender beyond male and female roles The contributors are Juliet du Boulay Anna Caraveli Muriel Dimen Jill Dubisch Michael Herzfeld Robinette Kennedy Elftérios Pavlides and Jana Hesser and S D Salamone and J B Stanton Jill Dubisch is Associate Professor of Anthropology at the University of North Carolina in Charlotte Originally published in 1986 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

The Death Rituals of Rural Greece Loring M. Danforth, Alexander Tsiaras, 2020-09-01 This compelling text and dramatic photographic essay convey the emotional power of the death rituals of a small Greek village the funeral the singing of laments the distribution of food the daily visits to the graves and especially the rite of exhumation These rituals help Greek villagers face the universal paradox of mourning how can the living sustain relationships with the dead and at the same time bring them to an end in order to continue to live meaningfully as members of a community That is the villagers dilemma and our own Thirty one moving photographs reproduced in duotone to do justice to their great beauty combine with vivid descriptions of the bereaved women of Potamia and with the words of the funeral laments to allow the reader an unusual emotional identification with the people of rural Greece as they struggle to integrate the experience of death into their daily lives Loring M Danforth s sensitive use of symbolic and structural analysis complements his discussion of the social context in which these rituals occur He explores important themes in rural Greek life such as the position of women patterns of reciprocity and obligation and the nature of social relations within the family Ours Once More Michael Herzfeld,2020-06-16 When this work one that contributes to both the history and anthropology fields first appeared in 1982 it was hailed as a landmark study of the role of folklore in nation building It has since been highly influential in reshaping the analysis of Greek and European cultural dynamics In this expanded edition a new introduction by the author and an epilogue by Sharon Macdonald document its importance for the emergence of serious anthropological interest in European culture and society and for current debates about Greece s often contested place in the complex politics of the European Union

House Life Donna Birdwell-Pheasant,Denise Lawrence-Züniga,2020-06-04 This book which fills a gap on the materiality of lived relations examines households within the context of their immediate physical surroundings of home and shows how human interactions are reflected in built forms Houses are dynamic participants in family life in many ways They often pre date the origins and outlast the life spans of their inhabitants but they can exert a powerful influence on the organization of behaviors and the values of family members as well as on the forms and flows of family life across the generations Constituting wealth investment security and inheritance they are an objective in and of themselves in many domestic strategies Drawing on developments within anthropology archaeology architecture and social history the authors demonstrate through detailed case studies how household or family relations can usefully be mined to re situate social theory in both space and time Space boundaries family cycles historic changes migration patterns ethnicity memory and gender are all interrogated for the light they shed on how people interact with the physical world around them and what this means culturally and symbolically Europe is an especially rich focus for this kind of analysis because it is distinguished by its long well documented history and a recent period of intense change The Making of a Refugee Tasoulla

Hadjiyanni,2002-03-30 Through an examination of interviews provided by 100 children of refugees in Cyprus born after their family s displacement Hadjiyanni illustrates the formation of a refugee consciousness an identity adopted by many children who never experienced the actual displacement of their family Focusing on the process by which a child born into a refugee family develops a refugee identity the book identifies nine dimensions that inform this consciousness Establishing the family

as the primary transmitter of the refugee identity and the child as its constructor the author points to the power of homeplace in forming and supporting such an identity The book challenges the notion that refugee consciousness is a separate identity and a crisis by reinterpreting it as a resistance to adversity Shedding new light on what it means to be a refugee this work is a welcome addition to the field Beginning with a discussion of the meaning of the term refugee and how it has been adopted by the children of some refugees in Cyprus the author moves to an examination of the meaning of past and present to the formation of a refugee consciousness She then looks to the causes of such identity formation focusing on the transference of identity from parent to child and the effects of past loss on children who have not actually experienced displacement Housing issues are also examined as a contributing factor as refugee housing is typically distinct and constrained compared to housing for native citizens of a community The author concludes her work with a discussion of the implications of the Cyprus example for both the future and for general refugee studies

Women's Work and Lives in Rural Greece Gabriella Lazaridis, 2016-02-17 This new volume explores the limits and possibilities of economic change in transforming the lives of women in rural Greece at a time of great economic and political change It is based on ethnographic research conducted in two communities of Western Crete Nohia and Platanos where Lazaridis concentrates on three activities women are involved in handcrafts market gardening and olive growing

Anthropology Through the Looking-Glass Michael Herzfeld, 1987 Despite having emerged in the heyday of a dominant Europe of which Ancient Greece is the hallowed spiritual and intellectual ancestor anthropology has paradoxically shown relatively little interest in contemporary Greek culture In this innovative and ambitious book Michael Herzfeld moves Greek Ethnography from the margins to the centre of anthropological theory revealing the theoretical insights that can be gained by so doing He shows that the ideology that originally led to the creation of anthropology also played a large part in the growth of the modern Greek nation state and that Greek ethnography can therefore serve as a mirror for an ethnography of anthropology itself He further demonstrates the role that scholarly fields including anthropology have played in the construction of contemporary Greek culture and Greek identity

Greek Agriculture in a Changing International Environment Dimitris Damianos, Efthalia Dimara, Katharina Hassapoyannes, Dimitris Skuras, 2018-12-21 Published in 1998 the aim of this text is to promote awareness of the evolution of Greek agriculture as well as of the development of national strategies in conformity with the Common Agricultural Policy provision which is important for a successful confrontation of modern and prospective international challenges It offers a case study developing integrated policies for unemployment for prevention of diversification of rural areas and for provision of solutions to the problem of increasing competition while enhancing environmental quality and making rational use of productive resources

Translating Cultures Abraham Rosman, Paula G. Rubel, 2020-06-15 The task of the anthropologist is to take ideas concepts and beliefs from one culture and translate them into first another language and then into the language of anthropology This process is both fascinating and complex Not only does it raise questions about the limitations of language but it also challenges the ability of the anthropologist to communicate culture accurately In recent years postmodern theories have tended to call into question the legitimacy of translation altogether This book acknowledges the problems involved but shows definitively that translating cultures can successfully be achieved The way we talk write read and interpret are all part of a translation process Many of us are not aware of translation in our everyday lives but for those living outside their native culture surrounded by cultural difference the ability to translate experiences and thoughts becomes a major issue Drawing on case studies and theories from a wide range of disciplines including anthropology philosophy linguistics art history folk theory and religious studies this book systematically interrogates the meaning complexities and importance of translation in anthropology and answers a wide range of provocative questions such as Can we unravel the true meaning of the Christian doctrine of trinity when there have been so many translations What impact do colonial and postcolonial power structures have on our understanding of other cultures How can we use art as a means of transgressing the limitations of linguistic translation Translating Cultures Perspectives on Translation and Anthropology is the first book fully to address translation in anthropology It combines textual and ethnographic analysis to produce a benchmark publication that will be of great importance to anthropologists philosophers linguists historians and cultural theorists alike

Ancient Greek Agriculture Signe Isager, Jens Erik Skydsgaard, 2013-04-03 The initial focus of Ancient Greek Agriculture is firmly on the art of agriculture proper the tools and the technique the plants cultivated and the animals reared Thereafter Isager and Skydsgaard focus on the position of agriculture in the society of gods and men in the Greek city states The arguments of Ancient Greek Agriculture are strengthened by the book's close adherence to contemporary Greek sources literary as well as archaeological avoiding the use of later as well as Roman material

Classical Archaeology in Context Donald Haggis, Carla Antonaccio, 2015-05-19 This book compiles a series of case studies derived from archaeological excavation in Greek cultural contexts in the Mediterranean ca 800 100 B C addressing the current state of the field the goals and direction of Greek archaeology and its place in archaeological thought and practice Overviews of archaeological sites and analyses of assemblages and contexts explore how new forms of data methods of data recovery and analysis and sampling strategies have affected the discourse in classical archaeology and the range of research questions and strategies at our disposal Recent excavations and field practices are steering the way that we approach Greek cultural landscapes and form broader theoretical perspectives while generating new research questions and interpretive frameworks that in turn affect how we sample sites collect and study material remains and ultimately construct the archaeological record The book confronts the implications of an integrated dialogue between realms of data and interpretive methodologies addressing how reengagement with the site assemblage or artifact from the excavation context can structure the way that we link archaeological and systemic contexts in classical archaeology
