Religion And Imagination

David Brown

Religion And Imagination:

Religion and Imagination John Coulson, 1981 Imagining God Garrett Green, 1989 Faith and the Play of Imagination David J. Bryant, 1989 Faith as Imagination Gerald J. Bednar, 1996

Lynch's work on the Platonic analogical imagination as instrument and entry into faith gets the attention it merits. Bednar examines Lynch's concepts in detail, the interconnectedness of faith and imagination, the role of imagination in giving new images to faith, the ironic Christic image, the difference between imagination in drama and fantasy, the paradigm shift from scholastic to modern understanding of faith. Bednar clears the way for faith as imagination to accommodate conflicting opinions on some significant religious issues.

The Bloomsbury Handbook of the Cultural and Cognitive Aesthetics of Religion Anne Koch, Katharina Wilkens, 2019-09-05

Bridging the gap between cognition and culture, this handbook explores both social scientific and humanities approaches to understanding the physical processes of religious life, tradition, practice, and belief. It reflects the cultural turn within the study of religion and puts theory to the fore, moving beyond traditional theological, philosophical, and ethnographic understandings of the aesthetics of religion. Editors Anne Koch and Katharina Wilkens bring together research in cultural studies, cognitive studies, material religion, religion and the arts, and epistemology. Questions of identity, gender, ethnicity, and postcolonialism are discussed throughout. Key topics include materiality, embodiment, performance, popular vernacular art, and space to move beyond a sensory understanding of aesthetics. Emerging areas of research are covered, including secular aesthetics and the aesthetic of spirits. This is an important contribution to theory and method in the study of religion and is grounded in research that has been taking place in Europe over the past 20 years. Case studies are drawn from around the world, with contributions from scholars based in Europe, the USA, and Australia. The book is illustrated with over 40 color images and features a foreword from Birgit Meyer.

Tradition and Imagination David Brown, 1999-11-25

Tradition and revelation are often seen as opposites; tradition is viewed as being secondary and reactionary to revelation, which is a one-off gift from God. Drawing on examples from Christian history, Judaism, Islam, and the classical world, this book challenges these definitions and presents a controversial examination of the effect history and cultural development has on religious belief, its narratives, and art. David Brown pays close attention to the nature of the relationship between historical and imaginative truth and focuses on the way stories from the Bible have not stood still but are subject to imaginative rewriting. This rewriting is explained as a natural consequence of the interaction between religion and history. God speaks to humanity through the imagination, and human imagination is influenced by historical context. It is the imagination that ensures that religion continues to develop in new and challenging ways.

Religion as Make-Believe Neil Van Leeuwen, 2023-11-21

Drawing on a range of hard evidence, Neil Van Leeuwen shows that the psychological mechanisms underlying religious belief are the same as those enabling imaginative play. He argues that we should therefore understand religious belief as a form of make-believe that people use to define their group identity and express the values sacred to them.
