Mapping Indigenous Land Ana Pulido Rull,2020-05-28 Between 1536 and 1601 at the request of the colonial administration of New Spain indigenous artists crafted more than two hundred maps to be used as evidence in litigation over the allocation of land. These land grant maps or mapas de mercedes de tierras recorded the boundaries of cities, provinces, towns, and places; they made note of markers and ownership and at times the extent and measurement of each field in a territory along with the names of those who worked it. With their corresponding case files, these maps tell the stories of hundreds of natives and Spaniards who engaged in legal proceedings either to request land, to oppose a petition, or to negotiate its terms. Mapping Indigenous Land explores how, as persuasive and rhetorical images, these maps did more than simply record the disputed territories for lawsuits. They also enabled indigenous communities and sometimes Spanish petitioners to translate their ideas about contested spaces into visual form, offered arguments for the defense of these spaces, and in some cases even helped protect indigenous land against harmful requests. Drawing on her own paleography and transcription of case files, author Ana Pulido Rull shows how much these maps can tell us about the artists who participated in the lawsuits and about indigenous views of the contested lands. Considering the mapas de mercedes de tierras as sites of cross-cultural communication between natives and Spaniards, Pulido Rull also offers an analysis of medieval and modern Castilian law, its application in colonial New Spain, and the possibilities for empowerment it opened for the native population. An important contribution to the literature on Mexico's indigenous cartography and colonial art, Pulido Rull's work suggests new ways of understanding how colonial space itself was contested, negotiated, and defined.

The Congressional Globe United States. Congress, 1868. World War II for Kids Richard Panchyk, 2005-11-01. Now more than ever, kids want to know about our country's great struggles during World War II. This book is packed with information that kids will find fascinating, from Hitler's rise to power in 1933 to the surrender of the Japanese in 1945. Much more than an ordinary history book, it is filled with excerpts from actual wartime letters written to and by American and German troops, personal anecdotes from people who lived through the war in the United States, Germany, Britain, Russia, Hungary, and Japan, and gripping stories from Holocaust survivors. All add a humanizing, global perspective to the war. This collection of 21 activities shows kids how it felt to live through this monumental period in history.

They will play a rationing game or try the butter extender recipe to understand the everyday sacrifices made by wartime families They will try their hands at military strategy in coastal defense break a code and play a latitude and longitude tracking game Whether growing a victory garden or staging an adventure radio program kids will appreciate the hardships and joys experienced on the home front The Chautauquan Theodore L.
