introduced modern notions of love and romance that were radically at odds with the traditional roles of men and women Yet because social change arrived in the form of entertainment it met with little resistance Yeh shows how this fortuitous combination of people and circumstances rather than official decisions or acts created the first multicultural modern city in China With illustrations from newspapers novels travel guides and postcards as well as contemporary written descriptions of life in foreign driven fast paced cutting edge Shanghai this study traces the mutual influences among courtesans intellectuals and the city itself in creating a modern market oriented leisure culture in China Historians literary specialists art critics and social scientists will welcome this captivating foray into the world of late nineteenth century popular culture Historical Magazine ,1869
