Youth Sexuality in the Context of HIV/AIDS in South Africa
Karl Peltzer, Supa Pengpid, Teresa-Ann B. Mashego, 2006 Dowsett 2003 notes that by far the vast majority of non biomedical research on HIV AIDS has been behavioural research usually by survey methods counting people's sex acts partners preferences places times and reasons for sex and assessing levels of risk for HIV infection revealing the dominance of seeing sex largely as behaviours

The End of Love Eva Illouz, 2021-09-15 Western culture has endlessly represented the ways in which love miraculously erupts in people's lives the mythical moment in which one knows someone is destined for us the feverish waiting for a phone call or an email the thrill that runs down our spine at the mere thought of him or her Yet a culture that has so much to say about love is virtually silent on the no less mysterious moments when we avoid falling in love where we fall out of love when the one who kept us awake at night now leaves us indifferent or when we hurry away from those who excited us a few months or even a few hours before In The End of Love Eva Illouz documents the multifarious ways in which relationships end She argues that if modern love was once marked by the freedom to enter sexual and emotional bonds according to one's will and choice contemporary love has now become characterized by practices of non choice the freedom to withdraw from relationships Illouz dubs this process by which relationships fade evaporate dissolve and break down unloving While sociology has classically focused on the formation of social bonds The End of Love makes a powerful case for studying why and how social bonds collapse and dissolve Particularly striking is the role that capitalism plays in practices of non choice and unloving The unmaking of social bonds she argues is connected to contemporary capitalism which is characterized by practices of non commitment and non choice practices that enable the quick withdrawal from a transaction and the quick realignment of prices and the breaking of loyalties Unloving and non choice have in turn a profound impact on society and economics as they explain why people may be having fewer children increasingly living alone and having less sex The End of Love presents a profound and original analysis of the effects of capitalism and consumer culture on personal relationships and of what the dissolution of personal relationships means for capitalism The Real Facts Of Life Margaret Jackson, 2005-08-04 During the last twenty years feminist research into the history of sexuality has made important contributions to the theoretical understanding of the relationship between sexuality and male power When sexology became established as a science feminists had for many years been engaged in a struggle to change male sexuality by waging campaigns against male sexual violence and abuse of women and children by challenging the institutions of marriage and prostitution and by asserting in theory and in practice the right to female sexual autonomy Despite the excellent research published in this important and fascinating aspect of feminist history there are still gaps in our knowledge The Real Facts of Life aims to fill these gaps Why and when did sexuality become an important political issue for the 19th century feminist What was the history of campaigns against double standards of sexual morality Why were feminists so divided in their views about sexual freedom and its relationship to women's emancipation The analysis of these issues illuminates past and present feminists ideas and theories about sexuality Margaret Jackson's main aims in The Real Facts of Life are to make a contribution towards understanding the history of the struggle for female sexual autonomy to provide a revolutionary feminist analysis of the social construction of sexuality and its relationship to male power and to provide a critique of sexology and the male defined concept of sexual liberation
