With Plates and Maps. Rodrigo DÍAZ DE BIVAR (called El Cid.),1907      Incomparable Empires Gayle Rogers,2016-11-01 The Spanish American War of 1898 seems to mark a turning point in both geopolitical and literary histories The victorious American empire ascended and began its cultural domination of the globe in the twentieth century while the once mighty Spanish empire declined and became a minor state in the world republic of letters But what if this narrative relies on several faulty assumptions and what if key modernist figures in both America and Spain radically rewrote these histories at a foundational moment of modern literary studies Following networks of American and Spanish writers translators and movements Gayle Rogers uncovers the arguments that forged the politics and aesthetics of modernism He revisits the role of empire from its institutions to its cognitive effects in shaping a nation's literature and culture Ranging from universities to comparative practices from Ezra Pound's failed ambitions as a Hispanist to Juan Ramón Jiménez's multilingual maps of modernismo Rogers illuminates

modernists profound engagements with the formative dynamics of exceptionalist American and Spanish literary studies He reads the provocative often counterintuitive arguments of John Dos Passos who held that American literature could only flourish if the expanding U S empire collapsed like Spain s did And he also details both a controversial theorization of a Harlem Havana Madrid nexus for black modernist writing and Ernest Hemingway s unorthodox development of a version of cubist Spanglish in For Whom the Bell Tolls Bringing together revisionary literary historiography and rich textual analyses Rogers offers a striking account of why foreign literatures mattered so much to two dramatically changing countries at a pivotal moment in history

The Reprint Bulletin ,1967 The Narreme in the Medieval Romance Epic Eugene Dorfman,1969-12-15 In this study Professor Dorfman applies the methods of modern linguistics to literary analysis Literature may be described as the structured use of language the modern linguistic analyzes language in a search for the minimal units of sound and form phoneme and morpheme and determines the combinations by which they can communicate meaning The author here searches for a minimal structural unit in the literary narrative analogous to the phoneme and the morpheme in language structure Based on a detailed analysis of the Roland and the Cid and twelve additional Romance narratives Professor Dorfman s argument is that the structure of the medieval Romance epics may be analyzed into functional units which he calls narremes He divides a narrative into two types of structure the superstructure and the substructure A narrative by definition is a series of incidents All the incidents in the narrative taken as written form the superstructure Analysis however shows that many of the incidents may be abstracted from the narrative without deflecting the story line On the other hand other incidents reveal themselves as organically linked with each other so they cannot be omitted without destroying the story line These selected incidents are the narremes which make up the substructure of the narrative This method of analysis produces so interesting and surprising results results which make an important advance in research in linguistics and Romance literature Eugene Dorfman as an orthodox structuralist has focused strictly on the formal descriptions of the narratives but his analysis leads into the great traditional problems of literary history and in particular poses anew the problem of the origins of the epic The Bookman ,1899 A Catalogue of ...
