Princess At The Window A New Gender Reality:

Islam in the Eyes of the West Tareq Y. Ismael, Andrew Rippin, 2010-07-02 From the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 in New York to the Madrid and London bombings of 2004 and 2005 the presence of Muslim communities in the West has generated security issues and major political concern The government the media and the general public have raised questions regarding potential links between Western Muslims radical Islam and terrorism This speculation has given rise to popular myths concerning the Islamic world and led to a host of illiberal measures such as illegal warranting denial of Habeas Corpus black prisons and extreme torture throughout the democratic world This book challenges the authenticity of these myths and examines the ways in which they have been used to provide an ideological cover for the war on terror and the subsequent Iraq war It argues that they are not only unfounded and hollow but have also served a dangerous purpose namely war mongering and the empowering of the national security state It further considers the origin and transmission of these myths focusing on media government policy and popular discourse

Spreading Misandry Paul Nathanson, Katherine K. Young, 2001 Paul Nathanson and Katherine Young argue that men have routinely been portrayed as evil inadequate or as honorary women in popular culture since the 1990s These stereotypes are profoundly disturbing the authors argue for they both reflect and create a hatred and thus further fracture an already fractured society In Spreading Misandry they show that creating a workable society in the twenty first century requires us to rethink feminist and other assumptions about men The first in an eventual three part series Spreading Misandry offers an impressive array of evidence from everyday life case studies from movies television programs novels comic strips and even greeting cards to identify a phenomenon that is just now being recognised as a serious cultural problem Discussing misandry the sexist counterpart of misogyny the authors make clear that this form of hatred must not be confused with reverse sexism or anger and should neither be trivialised nor excused They break new ground by discussing misandry in moral terms rather than purely psychological or sociological ones and refer critically not only to feminism but to political ideologies on both the left and the right They also illuminate the larger context of this problem showing that it reflects the enduring conflict between the Enlightenment and romanticism inherent flaws in postmodernism and the dualistic us versus them mentality that has influenced Western thought since ancient times A groundbreaking study Spreading Misandry raises serious questions about justice and identity in an increasingly polarised society It is important for anyone interested in ethics gender popular culture or are just concerned about the society we are creating Spreading Misandry does make a convincing argument that since the 1990s Men have become society's official scapegoats and held responsible for all evil Women are society's official victims and held responsible for all good Independent on Sunday 4 August 2002

twentieth century America Women in Chinese Martial Arts Films of the New Millennium Ya-chen Chen, 2012-01-01

Women and Gender in Chinese Martial Arts Films of the New Millennium by Ya chen Chen is an excavation of underexposed gender issues focusing mainly on contradictory and troubled feminism in the film narratives In the cinematic world of martial arts films one can easily find representations of women of Ancient China released from the constraints of patriarchal social order to revel in a dreamlike space of their own They can develop themselves protect themselves and even defeat or conquer men This world not only frees women from the convention of foot binding but it also unbinds them in terms of education critical thinking talent ambition opportunities to socialize with different men and the freedom or right to both choose their spouse and decide their own fate Chen calls this phenomenon Chinese cinematic martial arts feminism The liberation is never sustaining or complete however Chen reveals the presence of a glass ceiling marking the maximal exercise of feminism and women s rights which the patriarchal order is willing to accept As such these films are not to be seen as celebrations of feminist liberation but as enunciations of the patriarchal authority that suffuses Chinese cinematic martial arts feminism The film narratives under examination include Crouching Tiger Hidden Dragon directed by Ang Lee Hero Zhang Yimou House of the Flying Daggers Zhang Yimou Seven Swords Tsui Hark The Promise Chen Kaige The Banquet Feng Xiaogang and Curst of the Golden Flower Zhang Yimou Chen also touches upon the plots of two of the earliest award winning Chinese martial arts films A Touch of Zen and Legend of the Mountain both directed by King Hu The Metaphor of Gender Katherine Abetz, 2025-01-06 Surely from now on all generations will call me blessed Luke 1 48 Trying to suppress sexual difference is to invite a genocide more radical than any destruction that has ever existed in History Luce Irigaray Gendered identity always a sore spot in church history looks set to become a major thorn in the cultural flesh Mary has played more than one part in that history often in constricting ways Is something missing here Where are the generations who call her blessed Where are those who celebrate the interactions of divinity and humanity female and male in the announcement of a pregnant woman with God in utero This book follows The Wizard s Illusion revisiting the Land of Oz Traveling companions range from Elizabeth A Johnson to Paul Ricoeur and C S Lewis from Augustine and Karl Barth to Grace M Jantzen and Catherine Keller The quest is the imago Dei with its interweaving motifs in which there is room for the other in which gender is a metaphor for something far greater Identity meaning or postmodern ambiguity Vive la difference or vive la differance That is the question for our generation Design and Agency John Potvin, Marie-Ève Marchand, 2020-05-14 Design and Agency brings together leading international design scholars and practitioners to address the concept of agency in relation to objects organisations and people The authors set out to expand the scope of design history and practice avoiding the heroic narratives of a typical modernist approach They consider both how the agents of design construct and express their identities and subjectivities through practice while also investigating the distinctive contribution of design in the construction of individual identity and subjectivity Individual chapters explore notions of agency in a range of design disciplines and historical periods including the agency of women in effecting changes to the design of offices and working practices the role of Jeffrey Lindsay and Buckminster Fuller in developing the design of a geodesic dome Le Corbusier's Casa Curutchet a re consideration of the gendered historiography of the Jugendstil movement and Bruce Mau's design exhibitions Taken together the essays in Design and Agency provide a much needed response to the traditional texts which dominate design history With a broad chronological span from 1900 to the present and an equally broad understanding of the term design it expands how we view the discipline and shows how design itself can be an agent for social cultural and economic change

Antigone's Daughters provides the first detailed discussion in English of six well known Portuguese women writers working across a wide range of genres Florbela Espanca 1894-1930 Irene Lisboa 1892-1958 Agustina Bessa-Luís 1923 Natália Correia 1923-93 Hélia Correia 1949 and Lídia Jorge 1946 Together they cover the span of the 20th century and afford historical insights into the complex gender politics of achieving institutional acceptance and validation in the Portuguese national canon at different points in the 20th century Although a patrilinear evolutionary model visibly structures national literary history in Portugal to the present day women writers and critics have not generally sought to replace this with a matrilinear feminist counter history The unifying metaphor that the authors adopt here for the purpose of discussing Portuguese women's ambivalent response to female genealogy is the classical figure of Antigone who paradoxically sacrifices her own genealogical continuity in the name of defending family and kinship while resisting the patriarchal pragmatics of state building Should women writers faced with the absence of a female tradition posit a woman centred place outside the jurisdiction of male genealogy however strategically essentialist that place may be or should they primarily eschew fixed sexual identity to act as unnameable saboteurs undoing the law of patriarchal tradition from within
