Progress Toward The Unification Of Europe:

Progress Toward the Unification of Europe Helena Tang, 2000-01-01 Ten countries of Central and Eastern Europe and the Baltic CEECs are candidates to join an enlarged European Union EU in the years to come The ten are Bulgaria the Czech Republic Estonia Hungary Latvia Lithuania Poland Romania the Slovak Republic and Slovenia This enlargement will bring many opportunities to the both the EU and the candidate countries For the EU it will bring enhanced weight and influence For the candidate countries it should mean an improvement of their long term growth prospects by providing access to an open single market The accession process is providing the impetus for the acceleration of much needed economic political institutional and social reforms in some of the CEECs as they strive to meet EU membership requirements The key for the CEECs is to achieve sustained high long term growth in order to meet their ultimate objective of accession The EU has already concluded agreements with the CEECs which went beyond the narrowly conceived ideas of market access to include the alignment of the CEEC economic system with that of the EU s This report sets out the future agenda for the successful integration of the CEECs into an enlarged EU The first priority is for each country to complete its own process of transition to a free market democratic state In short this will mean that many will have to address their fiscal challenges and ensure fiscal sustainability the challenge of global financial integration opening of their capital accounts the strengthening of their administrative capacity the reduction of unemployment and the promotion of social inclusion After Progress Norman Birnbaum, 2002-07 Here Birnbaum traces the decline and fall of social reform in Europe and America He shows for example that William Howard Taft railed against socialism by which he meant anything restricting the market an appropriate role for themselves in the postwar international order In Germany proponents of institutional constraint fought and generally prevailed over those who stressed national rights This pattern continued even as Germany achieved unification at the end of the Cold War In Japan however the national rights strategy was more successful and Japanese leaders have been less willing than their German counterparts to predicate international order on commitment to an emergent institutional framework In both cases the choices made by leaders were critical despite the constraints under which they operated In this book the authors utilize a constructivist theory of order emphasizing the distinctive ways language works to normative effect to explain these debates and how they have contributed to two very different cultures of order
