The Crisis of European Sciences and Transcendental Phenomenology Edmund Husserl, 1970 The Crisis of European Sciences and Transcendental Phenomenology Husserl's last great work is important both for its content and for the influence it has had on other philosophers In this book which remained unfinished at his death Husserl attempts to forge a union between phenomenology and existentialism Husserl provides not only a history of philosophy but a philosophy of history As he says in Part I The genuine spiritual struggles of European humanity as such take the form of struggles between the philosophies that is between the skeptical philosophies or nonphilosophies which retain the word but not the task and the actual and still vital philosophies But the vitality of the latter consists in the fact that they are struggling for their true and genuine meaning and thus for the meaning of a genuine humanity Tragedy and Dramatic Theatre Hans-Thies

The Postcolonial Contemporary Jini Kim Watson, Gary Wilder, 2018-07-03 This volume invokes the postcolonial contemporary in order to recognize and reflect upon the emphatically postcolonial character of the contemporary conjuncture as well as to inquire into whether postcolonial criticism can adequately grasp it Neither simply for nor against postcolonialism the volume seeks to cut across this false alternative and to think with postcolonial theory about political contemporaneity Many of the most influential frameworks of postcolonial theory were developed during the 1970s and 1990s during what we may now recognize as the twilight of the postwar period If forms of capitalist imperialism are entering into new configurations of neoliberal privatization wars without end xenophobic nationalism and unsustainable extraction what aspects of postcolonial inquiry must be reworked or revised in order to grasp our political present In twelve essays that draw from a number of disciplines history anthropology literature geography indigenous studies and regional locations the Black Atlantic South Africa South Asia East Asia Australia Argentina The Postcolonial Contemporary seeks to move beyond the habitual oppositions that have often characterized the field such as universal vs particular Marxism vs postcolonialism and politics vs culture These essays signal an attempt to reckon with new and persisting postcolonial predicaments and do so under four inter related analytics Postcolonial Temporality Deprovincializing the Global South Beyond Marxism versus Postcolonial Studies and Postcolonial Spatiality and New Political Imaginaries

Naturalizing Phenomenology Jean Petitot, 1999 This ambitious work aims to shed new light on the relations between Husserlian phenomenology and the present day efforts toward a scientific theory of cognition with its complex structure of disciplines levels of explanation and conflicting hypotheses The book's primary goal is not to present a new exegesis of Husserl's writings although it does not dismiss the importance of such interpretive and critical work Rather the contributors assess the extent to which the kind of phenomenological investigation Husserl initiated favors the construction of a scientific theory of cognition particularly in contributing to specific contemporary theories either by complementing or by questioning them What clearly emerges is that Husserlian phenomenology cannot become instrumental in developing cognitive science without undergoing a substantial transformation Therefore the central concern of this book is not only the progress of contemporary theories of cognition but also the reorientation of Husserlian phenomenology Because a single volume could never encompass the numerous facets of this dual aim the contributors focus on the issue of naturalization This perspective is far reaching enough to allow for the coverage of a great variety of topics ranging from general structures of intentionality to the nature of the founding epistemological and ontological principles of cognitive science to analyses of temporality and perception and the mathematical modeling of their phenomenological description This book then is a collective reflection on the possibility of utilizing a naturalized Husserlian phenomenology to contribute to a scientific theory of cognition that fills the explanatory gap between the phenomenological mind and brain
