

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a lush rainforest. Large, vibrant green leaves, likely banana leaves, are prominent in the foreground and midground. Sunlight filters through the dense canopy, creating a dappled light effect. The entire image has a torn paper or collage-like texture, with the central text area appearing as a piece of paper pasted onto the background.

Rainforest Politics Ecological Destruction In South East Asia:

Rainforest Politics Philip Hurst, 1990 The Politics of Environment in Southeast Asia Philip Hirsch, Carol Warren, 2002-01-31 The environment in Southeast Asia is now a major issue of topical concern First book to give analysis in depth of the political processes involved in environmental disputes Provides a good selection of case studies in the region Questions the assumption that the middle classes are in the vanguard of the environmental movement Environmental Challenges in South-East Asia Victor T. King, 2013-01-11 This volume discusses environmental change natural resource exploitation and the prospect for ecological sustainability in Southeast Asia The contributors including sociologists geographers anthropologists economists political economists and historians presents the findings of recent archival and field research mainly from ongoing programmes of team research based in European universities and institutes Among the themes discussed are European and indigenous perceptions of the environment historical processes of environmental change the politics of resource use ecotourism and development deforestation and smallholding land use strategies migration and environmental degradation disease environment and human geography demography sustainability and resource exploitation

The Political Ecology of Tropical Forests in Southeast Asia Tuck-Po Lye, Ken-ichi Abe, Wil de Jong, 2003 Following an interdisciplinary approach to debates about the future of tropical forests in Southeast Asia the authors experts in their field unravel the extent to which the interests of local inhabitants nation states and international environmental movements are intertwined This volume a joint publication with Kyoto University Press examines the highly politicized context in which local forestry problems intersect with global market forces focusing on the social and economic diversity of different tropical forests and their specific historical background It emphasizes the importance of examining local issues in their own right

Environmental Change in South-East Asia Raymond Bryant, Michael Parnwell, 2005-08-03 Environmental Change in South East Asia brings together scholars journalists consultants and NGO activists to explore the interaction of people politics and ecology Ostensibly green activities plantation forestry eco tourism hydro electricity are revealed as guises used by elites to promote their own political and economic interests Highlighting fatal flaws in presently exclusive economic and ecological approaches the authors stress that neither the quest for sustainable development nor the process of environmental change itself can be understood without reference to political processes Loggers and Degradation in the Asia-Pacific Peter Dauvergne, 2001-10-15 Corporate loggers have damaged much of the tropical forest throughout the Asia Pacific over the last four decades Despite a steady rise in global and local concern few firms have changed their practices Loggers and Degradation in the Asia Pacific examines why and how loggers have resisted and ignored calls for environmental reforms Concentrating on the period after 1990 the book explains what is happening on the ground and highlights the structures within which firms and governments operate Within this broader context the author considers a range of factors including the science of tropical forest management the capacity of states to regulate and enforce rules the relative power of environmental reformers and the 1997 Asian financial crisis This is a constructive insightful approach to a depressing yet urgent problem It will be accessible to academic and student readers as well as those in corporations government and NGOs

Environmental Management in ASEAN Maria Seda,1993 The problem of environmental degradation in the ASEAN region cannot be underestimated The articles in this book examine some of the common environmental issues faced by countries in the region They provide a brief overview of some major environmental problems such as fisheries management tropical deforestation and pollution in urban areas and highlight some of the research policy and institutional constraints in the region

Environmental Cooperation in Southeast Asia Paruedee Nguitragool,2010-10-04 One of the most challenging environmental threats to the ten countries of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN has been the haze the sickening and deadly cloud of smoky pollution caused by widespread burning of land and forests in Indonesia This book examines both the threat and response to it by analysing environmental cooperation in Southeast Asia from an international regime perspective Tracing the development of regional cooperation on the haze and evaluating the effectiveness of the cooperation the author argues that the haze crisis combined with the economic crisis of 1997 has profoundly challenged the ASEAN modus operandi and resulted in ASEAN's efforts to establish an environmental regime to cope with environmental challenges The emerging ASEAN haze regime is a unique case study of a regional environmental institution in multi levelled global environmental governance Based on in depth original research this case study is integrated into international relations political science and comparative political analysis literatures and contributes to a better understanding of processes within the regional organisation

The Political Ecology of Forestry in Burma, 1824-1994 Raymond L. Bryant,1997-08-01 The author examines how the Burmese state has sought to control the country's forest activities and the ways in which groups relying on the forest for their livelihood loggers transnational corporations cultivators peasants have fought such control

The Physical Geography of Southeast Asia Avijit Gupta,2005-02-24 This will be the first comprehensive and detailed volume on the physical environment of Southeast Asia and will be essential reading for geographers ecologists and environmental managers As the definitive reference work on the region it will cover all aspects of the biophysical environment and its current environmental problems and management practices The topics discussed range from a regional view of landforms and vegetation to specific cases including urban environments coral reefs volcanic hazards and the Mekong River Basin The contributors are distinguished scholars and have a long association with Southeast Asia This is the fourth volume to be published in the Oxford Regional Environment series

Deforestation Ellen Kay Miller,1993

Third World Political Ecology Sinead Bailey,Raymond Bryant,2005-08-08 By drawing on examples from throughout the Third World Bryant and Bailey explain the development and characteristics of environmental problems that plague parts of Asia Africa and Latin America and their political and economic bases

The End of the Peasantry in Southeast Asia R.E. Elson,2016-01-13 This book analyses the changing context and conditions of production and livelihood amongst Southeast

Asia's peasants since the beginning of the nineteenth century. It argues that with demographic growth and the nineteenth century development of great global markets based on small scale production the size and economic significance of peasantries throughout the region was magnified. However such changes brought with them new forces stronger states more regular legal systems a revolution in communications intensive commercialisation which themselves worked to undermine the foundations of peasant society and eventually to transform peasants into farmers workers and citizens. Tropical Forests and Climate N. Myers, 2013-06-29 Tropical forests affect climate and the removal of the forests will change climate. Or not. This book discusses basic questions on how far if at all tropical deforestation leads to climatic change. The question of this uncertainty is particularly addressed. One important consequence of the uncertainties of whether deforestation affects climate is how scientific findings best illuminate the policy making process. Cultural Citizenship in Island Southeast Asia Renato Rosaldo, 2003-10-09 Publisher Description Southeast Asian Responses to Globalization Francis Loh Kok Wah, 2003-08-01 It is now apparent especially in the aftermath of the regional financial crisis of 1997 that globalization has been impacting upon the Southeast Asian economies and societies in new and harrowing ways a theme of many recent studies. Inadvertently these studies of globalization have also highlighted that the 1980s and 1990s debate on democratization in the region which focused on the emergence of the middle classes the roles of new social movements NGOs and the changing relations between state and civil society might have been overly one dimensional. This volume revisits the theme of democratization via the lenses of globalization understood economically politically and culturally. Although globalization increasingly frames the processes of democracy and development nonetheless the governments and peoples of Southeast Asia have been able to determine the pace and character even the direction of these processes to a considerable extent. This collection of essays by some distinguished senior scholars and other equally perceptive younger ones focuses on this globalization democratization nexus and shows empirically and analytically how governance is being restructured and democracy sometimes deepened in this new global era. A historical review introduces the volume while an analytical assessment of the ten case studies concludes it. The Emergence Of Modern Southeast Asia Norman G. Owen, 2005-01-01 The modern states of Indonesia Vietnam Thailand the Philippines Myanmar Malaysia Singapore Cambodia Laos Brunei and East Timor were once a tapestry of kingdoms colonies and smaller polities linked by sporadic trade and occasional war. By the end of the nineteenth century however the United States and several European powers had come to control almost the entire region only to depart dramatically in the decades following World War II. Perspective on this complex region. Although it does not neglect nation building the central theme of its popular and long lived predecessor In Search of Southeast Asia the present work focuses on economic and social history gender and ecology. It describes the long term impact of global forces on the region and traces the spread and interplay of capitalism nationalism and socialism. It acknowledges that modernization has produced substantial gains in such areas as life expectancy and education but has also spread dislocation and misery Organizationally the book shifts between thematic chapters that describe social economic and cultural change and country chapters emphasizing developments within specific areas will establish a new standard for the history of this dynamic and radically transformed region of the world

Green Delusions Martin W. Lewis, 1992 Scholars politicians and activists worldwide are finally recognizing the severity of the global environmental crisis yet serious threats to the environmental movement remain Anti environmentalists dismiss the very idea of a crisis as a mirage Much less obvious however is the more subtle threat masquerading under the mantle of environmentalism itself It is this threat that Green Delusions addresses Writing from the standpoint of a committed environmentalist Martin W Lewis contends that many of the most devoted and strident greens those who propose a radical environmentalism unwittingly espouse an ill conceived doctrine that has devastating implications for the global ecosystem In this book he distinguishes the main variants of eco extremism exposes the fallacies upon which such views ultimately flounder and demonstrates that the policies advocated by their proponents would if enacted result in unequivocal ecological disaster At once polemic and prescriptive Green Delusions is an impassioned attempt to defend the environmental movement against extremist ideas that would lead to self defeating political strategies

Tropical Deforestation Leslie Elmer Sponsel, Thomas N. Headland, Robert Converse Bailey, 1996 The authors present fresh perspectives on the major global crisis of deforestation from a wide range of fields including biological ecology forest history conservation biology anthropology political economy and development economics

Conflict and Change in Cambodia Ben Kiernan, Caroline Hughes, 2020-10-28 In the thirty years after the Second World War Cambodia witnessed the reassertion of colonial power the spread of nationalism the birth and growth of a communist party the achievement of independence the stifling reform during the decade of peace the rise of an armed domestic insurgency the encroachment of an international war massive bombardment and civilian casualties pogroms and ethnic cleansing of religious minorities From 1975 to 1979 genocide took another 1.7 million lives Then after liberation from the Khmer Rouge regime Cambodia survived a decade of foreign occupation international isolation and guerrilla terror and harassment UN intervention and democratic transition were followed by Cambodia's defeat of the Khmer Rouge in 1999 amid continuing internal tension and political confrontation Against this backdrop of more than thirty years of conflict in Cambodia Conflict and Change in Cambodia brings together primary documents and secondary analyses that offer fresh and informed insights into Cambodia's political and environmental history This book was previously published as a special issue of Critical Asian Studies
