Separate Cinema Fifty Years Of Black Cast Posters:

A Separate Cinema John Kisch, Edward Mapp, 1992 Presents the history of black cast films through their posters covering the years from 1915 to 1965 with two hundred full color reproductions and a brief text that places the films in a social and cultural context Simultaneous

American Nightmare Jerrold M. Packard, 2003-07-21 A brief account of the segregation of African Americans in the Southern United States for the 100 years following the Civil War in a system known as Jim Crow

African Americans and the Media Catherine Squires, 2009-10-12 This work provides a textbook overview of the past present and future of African Americans in US media It brings together work from a variety of disciplines to provide the fullest understanding of this complex relationship to date

American Mobilities Julia Leyda, 2016-02-15 American Mobilities investigates representations of mobility social economic geographic in American film and literature during the Depression WWII and the early Cold War With an emphasis on the dual meaning of domestic referring to both the family home and the nation this study traces the important trope of mobility that runs through the American century Juxtaposing canonical fiction with popular and low budget independent films with Classical Hollywood Leyda brings the analytic tools of American cultural and literary studies to bear on an eclectic array of primary texts as she builds a case for the significance of mobility in the study of the United States

Chicago's New Negroes Davarian L. Baldwin, 2009-11-30 As early twentieth century Chicago swelled with an influx of at least 250 000 new black urban migrants the city became a center of consumer capitalism flourishing with professional sports beauty shops film production companies recording studios and other black cultural and communal institutions Davarian Baldwin argues that this mass consumer marketplace generated a vibrant intellectual life and planted seeds of political dissent against the dehumanizing effects of white capitalism Pushing the traditional boundaries of the Harlem Renaissance to new frontiers Baldwin identifies a fresh model of urban culture rich with politics ingenuity and entrepreneurship Baldwin explores an abundant archive of cultural formations where an array of white observers black cultural producers critics activists reformers and black migrant consumers converged in what he terms a marketplace intellectual life Here the thoughts and lives of Madam C J Walker Oscar Micheaux Andrew Rube Foster Elder Lucy Smith Jack Johnson and Thomas Dorsey emerge as individual expressions of a much wider spectrum of black political and intellectual possibilities By placing consumer based amusements alongside the more formal arenas of church and academe Baldwin suggests important new directions for both the historical study and the constructive future of ideas and politics in American life

Butterfly McQueen Remembered Stephen Bourne, 2008 From her memorable role in Gone With the Wind to her last big screen appearance opposite Harrison Ford in The Mosquito Coast the details of McQueen's life are captured in this book

Ethel Waters Stephen Bourne, 2007-03-09 Although she was arguably the most influential female blues and jazz singer of the 1920s and 1930s as well as a major Black figure in 20th century theatre cinema radio and television she is now the least remembered In Ethel Waters Stormy Weather Stephen Bourne document

Outside America

Dan Moos, 2005 A new study of those excluded from the national narrative of the West Dan Moos challenges both traditional and revisionist perspectives in his exploration of the role of the mythology of the American West in the creation of a national identity While Moos concurs with contemporary scholars who note that the myths of the American West depended in part upon the exclusion of certain groups African Americans Native Americans and Mormons he notes that many scholars in their eagerness to identify and validate such excluded positions have given short shrift to the cultural power of the myths they seek to debunk That cultural power was such Moos notes that these disenfranchised groups themselves sought to harness it to their own ends through the active appropriation of the terms of those myths in advocating for their own inclusion in the national narrative that because the construction of American culture was never designed to accommodate these outsiders their writings display a division between their imagined place in the narrative of the nation and their effacement within the real West marked by intolerance and inequality

Swingin' on Central Avenue Peter Vacher, 2015-09-17 The development of jazz and swing in the African American community in Los Angeles in the years before the second World War received a boost from the arrival of a significant numbers of musicians from Chicago and the southwestern states In Swingin on Central African American Jazz in Los Angeles a new study of that vibrant jazz community music historian and jazz journalist Peter Vacher traveled between Los Angeles and London over several years in order to track down key figures and interview them for this oral history of one of the most swinging jazz scenes in the United States Vacher recreates the energy and vibrancy of the Central Avenue scene through first hand accounts from such West Coast notables as trumpeters Andy Blakeney George Orendorff and McLure Red Mack Morris pianists Betty Hall Jones Chester Lane and Gideon Honore saxophonists Chuck Thomas Jack McVea and Caughey Roberts Jr drummers Jesse Sailes Red Minor Robinson and Nathaniel Monk McFay and others Throughout readers learn the story behind the formative years of these musicians most of whom have never been interviewed until now While not exactly headliners nor heavily recorded this community of jazz musicians was among the most talented in pre war America Arriving in Los Angeles at a time when black Americans faced restrictions on where they could live and work jazz artists of color commonly found themselves limited to the Central Avenue area This scene supplemented by road travel constituted their daily bread as players with none of them making it to New York Through their own words Vacher tells their story in Los Angeles offering along the way a close look at the role the black musicians union played in their lives while also taking on jazz historiography's comparative neglect of these West Coast players Music historians with a particular interest in pre bop jazz in California will find much new material here as Vacher paints a world of luxurious white nightclubs with black bands ghetto clubs and after hours joints a world within a world that resulted from the migration of black musicians to the West Coast

Hollywood Be Thy Name Judith Weisenfeld, 2007-06-08 From the earliest years of sound film in America Hollywood studios and independent producers of race films for black audiences created stories featuring African American religious practices In the first book to examine how the movies constructed images of

African American religion Judith Weisenfeld explores these cinematic representations and how they reflected and contributed to complicated discourses about race the social and moral requirements of American citizenship and the very nature of American identity Drawing on such textual sources as studio production files censorship records and discussions and debates about religion and film in the black press as well as providing close readings of films this richly illustrated and meticulously researched book brings religious studies and film history together in innovative ways Forgeries of Memory and Meaning

Cedric J. Robinson,2012-09-01 Cedric J Robinson offers a new understanding of race in America through his analysis of theater and film of the early twentieth century He argues that economic political and cultural forces present in the eras of silent film and the early talkies firmly entrenched limited representations of African Americans Robinson grounds his study in contexts that illuminate the parallel growth of racial beliefs and capitalism beginning with Shakespearean England and the development of international trade He demonstrates how the needs of American commerce determined the construction of successive racial regimes that were publicized in the theater and in motion pictures particularly through plantation and jungle films In addition to providing new depth and complexity to the history of black representation Robinson examines black resistance to these practices Whereas D W Griffith appropriated black minstrelsy and romanticized a national myth of origins Robinson argues that Oscar Micheaux transcended uplift films to create explicitly political critiques of the American national myth Robinson s analysis marks a new way of approaching the intellectual political and media racism present in the beginnings of American narrative cinema Richard E. Norman and Race Filmmaking Barbara Tapa Lupack,2013-11-08

A history of the early 1900s southern born white filmmaker and the silent films he created for black audiences In the early 1900s so called race filmmakers set out to produce black oriented pictures to counteract the racist caricatures that had dominated cinema from its inception Richard E Norman a southern born white filmmaker was one such pioneer From humble beginnings as a roving home talent filmmaker recreating photoplays that starred local citizens Norman would go on to produce high quality feature length race pictures Together with his better known contemporaries Oscar Micheaux and Noble and George Johnson Richard E Norman helped to define early race filmmaking Making use of unique archival resources including Norman s personal and professional correspondence detailed distribution records and newly discovered original shooting scripts this book offers a vibrant portrait of race in early cinema Grounded in impressive archival research Barbara Lupack s book offers a long overdue history of Richard E Norman and the filmmaking company he established early in the twentieth century Lupack s ability to describe Norman s films and the work that went into their production reanimates them for readers and stresses their role in shaping early African American cinematic representation Paula Massood author of Making a Promised Land Harlem in 20th Century Photography and Film Thoroughly researched and crisply written The first book length work on Norman Lupack s monograph clearly delineates the Norman Company s importance Richard E Norman and Race Filmmaking s most profound contribution lies perhaps in how it illuminates the fraught economics of race filmmaking Journal of American History Lupack's book provides a wealth of archival information about this vibrant moment in film history This is a solid contribution to regional film studies and race film business practice and will appeal to scholars students and film buffs alike Black Camera Historical Dictionary of African American Cinema S. Torriano Berry, Venice T. Berry, 2015-05-07 As early as 1909 African Americans were utilizing the new medium of cinema to catalogue the world around them using the film camera as a device to capture their lives and their history The daunting subject of race and ethnicity permeated life in America at the turn of the twentieth century and due to the effect of certain early films specific television images and an often biased news media it still plagues us today As new technologies bring the power of the moving image to the masses African Americans will shoot and edit on laptop computers and share their stories with a global audience via the World Wide Web These independently produced visions will add to the diverse cache of African American images being displayed on an ever expanding silver screen This wide range of stories topics views and genres will finally give the world a glimpse of African American life that has long been ignored and has yet to be seen This second edition of Historical Dictionary of African American Cinema covers its history through a chronology an introductory essay appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 1400 cross referenced entries on actors actresses movies producers organizations awards and terminology this book provides a better understanding of the role African Americans played in film history This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about African American cinema Black Pioneers in Communication Research Ronald L. Jackson II, Sonja M. Brown Givens, 2006-01-13 Black Pioneers in Communication Research is the only book in the field of communication that through personal interviews systematically explores the lives careers and profound conceptual contributions of the men and women who have helped shape the contours of humanistic and social scientific inquiry within communication studies and beyond Black Enterprise, 1993-06 Collecting Movie Posters Edwin E. Poole, Susan T. Poole, 2013-05-17 Most people view movie posters as an expensive form of expendable advertising Others however see the posters as valuable art If you are in the latter category this is the work for you All facets of collecting movie posters are covered in this guide book The history of the movie poster is first presented including a look at how the early studios influenced the development of posters Next is a brief look at the world of movie art collecting This is followed by a reference section that provides comprehensive explanations of the most commonly used terms in the field Getting your collection started is the next topic giving novice and more experienced collectors information on publications and materials available where to go to purchase posters where to go for help and other items A concluding section details the proper care and handling of movie art materials along with methods for restoration Race Mixing Renee Christine Romano, 2009-06-30 Marriage between blacks and whites is a longstanding and deeply ingrained taboo in American culture On the eve of World War II mixed race marriage was illegal in most states Yet sixty years later black white marriage is no longer illegal or a divisive political issue and the number of such couples and their mixed race children has risen dramatically Renee Romano explains how and why such marriages have gained acceptance and what this tells us about race relations in contemporary America The history of interracial marriage helps us understand the extent to which America has overcome its racist past and how much further we must go to achieve meaningful racial equality
