Bierhoff,2012-12-06 Person perception is of great importance in everyday life and human science Judgment of other people s characteristics and intentions is important for successfully planning actions within a social environment Questions about the formation of impressions and causal attributions are central to social psychology and the study of diagnostic judgment formation The field of person perception deals with questions of how impression formation proceeds what characteristics and intentions are attributed to other people and how preformed schemata and stereotypes influence people s first impressions Research on person perception developed rapidly after the Second World War In the 1950s the precision and accuracy of person perception received special interest but the problems concerning whether an individual s assessment of another personality is exact or not could not be solved Another approach which began in the 1940s and was derived from the Gestalt psychological tradition dealt with impression formation based on selected social cues This approach which proved to be very useful had considerable influence on both the research methods and the theoretical orientation of the research work

On the one hand by using a combination of individual cues like physical characteristics researchers tried to ascertain how an impression of a person was formed On the other hand the Gestalt psychological orientation led to an interest in the process of person perception which in the last 10 years has concentrated on questions concerning information reception and processing      Catalogue of the Library of Congress ; Index of Subjects, in Two Volumes ,1869      Virtue, Commerce, and History John Greville Agard Pocock,1985-02-22 Chiefly essays originally published between 1976 and 1982
