Consumer-Citizens of China Kelly Tian, Lily Dong, 2010-11-01 A PDF version of this book is available for free in open access via www.tandfebooks.com as well as the OAPEN Library platform www.oapen.org It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 3.0 license and is part of the OAPEN UK research project This book presents a comprehensive examination of Chinese consumer behaviour and challenges the previously dichotomous interpretation of the consumption of Western and non Western brands in China The dominant position is that Chinese consumers are driven by a desire to imitate the lifestyles of Westerners and thereby advance their social standing locally The alternative is that consumers reject Western brands as a symbolic gesture of loyalty to their nation state Drawing from survey responses and in depth interviews with Chinese consumers in both rural and urban areas Kelly Tian and Lily Dong find that consumers situate Western brands within select historical moments This embellishment attaches historical meanings to Western brands in ways that render them useful in asserting preferred visions of the future China By highlighting how Western brands are used in contests for national identity Consumer Citizens of China challenges the notion of the patriot's paradox and answers scholars questions as to whether Chinese nationalists today allow for a Sino Western space where the Chinese can love China without hating the West Consumer Citizens of China will be of interest to students and scholars of business studies Chinese and Asian Studies and Political Science Kelly Tian is Professor of Marketing and holds the Anderson Chair of Business at New Mexico State University Lily Dong is Associate Professor of Marketing at the University of Alaska at Fairbanks

Cinema, Space, and Polylocality in a Globalizing China Yingjin Zhang, 2009-10-09 In this milestone work prominent China film scholar Yingjin Zhang proposes polylocality as a new conceptual framework for investigating the shifting spaces of contemporary Chinese cinema in the age of globalization Questioning the national cinema paradigm Zhang calls for comparative studies of underdeveloped areas beyond the imperative of transnationalism The book begins by addressing theories and practices related to space place and polylocality in contemporary China before focusing on the space of scholarship and urging scholars to move beyond the current paradigm and explore transnational and comparative film studies This is followed by a chapter that concentrates on the space of production and surveys the changing landscape of postsocialist filmmaking and the transformation of China's urban generation of directors Next is an examination of the space of polylocality and the cinematic mappings of Beijing and a persistent reel contact with polylocality in hinterland China In the fifth chapter Zhang explores the space of subjectivity in independent film and video and contextualizes experiments by young directors with various documentary styles Chapter 6 calls attention to the space of performance and addresses issues of media and mediation by way of two kinds of playing the first with documentary as troubling information the second with piracy as creative intervention The concluding chapter offers an overview of Chinese cinema in the new century and provides production and reception statistics Combining inspired critical insights original observations and new information Cinema Space and Polylocality in a Globalizing China is a significant work on current Chinese film and a must read for film scholars and anyone seriously interested in cinema more generally or contemporary Chinese culture

The Western Classical Music Industry in Twenty-First Century China Weida Wang, 2025-03-04 Weida Wang explores how Western classical music (WCM) has become increasingly popular in China framing the industry as a complex entity intricately embedded within China's political landscape cultural economy and cultural industries Wang highlights how authorities and organisers strive to build powerful brands to support the industry's growth aiming to tap into the vast domestic market and showcase China's achievements in WCM on the global stage as part of broader cultural diplomacy efforts The study delves into the mechanisms and underlying logics driving the rapid expansion of the WCM market in contemporary China With the rise of China's economy since its government's late 1970s economic and political reform WCM has become a useful tool for showcasing changes to the image of modern and contemporary China At the same time a new Chinese middle class following the rapid economic and cultural development in China's coastal cities has also emerged becoming a substantial demographic involved in the learning appreciation and consumption of WCM Especially in the past 20 years a new WCM scene has developed quickly and established as an industry in China one critically enmeshed in both the business and political worlds Many ground breaking cultural events have taken place in the last decades These have shown themselves to be huge forces behind the development of China's domestic and fledgling international classical music aspirations The book will be valuable for those interested in arts music management music industry studies China studies cultural and creative industry studies and ethnomusicology

The Routledge Companion to Surrealism Kirsten Strom, 2022-11-08 This book provides a conceptual and global overview of the field of Surrealist studies Methodologically the companion considers Surrealism's many achievements but also its historical shortcomings to illuminate its connections to the historical and cultural moments from which it originated and to assess both the ways in which it still shapes our world in inspiring ways and the ways in which it might appear problematic as we look back at it from a twenty first century vantage point Contributions from experienced scholars will enable professors to teach the subject more broadly by opening their eyes to aspects of the field that are on the margins of their expertise and it will enable scholars to identify new areas of study in their own work by indicating lines of research at a tangent to their own. The companion will reflect the interdisciplinarity of Surrealism by incorporating discussions pertaining to the visual arts as well as literature, film and political and intellectual history. Song of Exile David W. Stowe, 2016-04-01. Oft referenced and frequently set to music, Psalm 137 which begins "By the rivers of Babylon there we sat down yea we wept when we remembered Zion" has become something of a cultural touchstone for music and Christianity across the Atlantic world. It has been a top single more than once in the 20th century from Don McLean's haunting Anglo-American folk cover to Boney M's West Indian disco mix. In Song of Exile David Stowe uses a wide-ranging interdisciplinary approach that combines personal interviews, historical overview and textual analysis to demonstrate the psalm's enduring place in popular culture. The line that begins Psalm 137, one of the most lyrical of the Hebrew Bible, has been used since its genesis to evoke the grief and protest of exiled, displaced or marginalized communities. Despite the psalm's popularity, little has been written about its reception during the more than 2,500 years since the Babylonian exile. Stowe locates its use in the American Revolution and the Civil Rights movement and internationally by anti-colonial Jamaican Rastafari and immigrants from Ireland, Korea and Cuba. He studies musical references ranging from the Melodians' "Rivers of Babylon" to the score in Kazakh film Tulpan. Stowe concludes by exploring the presence and absence in modern culture of the often-ignored final words "Happy shall he be that taketh and dasheth thy little ones against the stones." Usually excised from liturgy and forgotten by scholars, Stowe finds these words echoed in modern occurrences of genocide and ethnic cleansing and more generally in the culture of vengeance that has existed in North America from the earliest conflicts with Native Americans. Based on numerous interviews with musicians, theologians and writers, Stowe reconstructs the rich and varied reception history of this widely used yet mysterious text. The Chinese and Their Future Zhiling Lin, 1994. Policy analysts and scholars in China, Taiwan, Hong Kong and the United States discuss the major issues arising in the aftermath of the explosive events in China in 1989. Contributors include Arthur Hummel, the former U.S. ambassador to the People's Republic of China, and Ding Mou Shih, the representative of the Coordination Council for North American Affairs to the United States.

The Cinema of Feng Xiaogang Rui Zhang, 2008-09-01. Beginning first as a case study of Feng Xiaogang, this book explores Chinese film history since the early 1990s in terms of changes of the Communist Party's film policy, industry reforms, the official promotion of Main Melody films and the emergence and growth of popular cinema. The image of Feng that will emerge in this book is of a filmmaker working under political and economic pressures in a post-socialist state while still striving to create works with a personal socio-political agenda. In keeping with this reality, this book approaches Feng as a special kind of film auteur whose works must be interpreted with attention to the specific social and political context of contemporary China. The book will be a useful reference tool for students and scholars in the fields of Chinese studies.

Chinese film history and film studies It could also be used as textbook for classes about Asian cinema international cinema and Chinese culture film studies The extensive use of data about the Chinese film market and elaborate analysis of the situation of Chinese film industry make this book a valuable volume for classroom and personal use      Urbanization and Contemporary Chinese Art Meiqin Wang, 2015-08-11 This book explores the relationship between the ongoing urbanization in China and the production of contemporary Chinese art since the beginning of the twenty first century Wang provides a detailed analysis of artworks and methodologies of art making from eight contemporary artists who employ a wide range of mediums including painting sculpture photography installation video and performance She also sheds light on the relationship between these artists and their sociocultural origins investigating their provocative responses to various processes and problems brought about by Chinese urbanization With this urbanization comes a fundamental shift of the philosophical and aesthetic foundations in the practice of Chinese art from a strong affiliation with nature and countryside to one that is complexly associated with the city and the urban world      Red Carpet Erich Schwartzel, 2022-02-08 This is a fascinating book It will educate you Schwartzel has done some extraordinary reporting The New York Times Book Review In this highly entertaining but deeply disturbing book Erich Schwartzel demonstrates the extent of our cultural thrall to China His depiction of the craven characters American and Chinese who have enabled this situation represents a significant feat of investigative journalism His narrative is about not merely the movie business but the new world order Andrew Solomon author of Far from the Tree and The Noonday Demon An eye opening and deeply reported narrative that details the surprising role of the movie business in the high stakes contest between the U S and China From trade to technology to military might competition between the United States and China dominates the foreign policy landscape But this battle for global influence is also playing out in a strange and unexpected arena the movies The film industry Wall Street Journal reporter Erich Schwartzel explains is the latest battleground in the tense and complex rivalry between these two world powers In recent decades as China has grown into a giant of the international economy it has become a crucial source of revenue for the American film industry Hollywood studios are now bending over backward to make movies that will appeal to China s citizens and gain approval from severe Communist Party censors At the same time and with America s unwitting help China has built its own film industry into an essential arm of its plan to export its national agenda to the rest of the world The competition between these two movie businesses is a Cold War for this century a clash that determines whether democratic or authoritarian values will be broadcast most powerfully around the world Red Carpet is packed with memorable characters who have knowingly or otherwise played key roles in this tangled industry web not only A list stars like Matt Damon Angelina Jolie and Richard Gere but also eccentric Chinese billionaires zany expatriate filmmakers and starlets who disappear from public life without explanation or trace Schwartzel combines original reporting political history and show biz intrigue in an exhilarating tour of global entertainment from propaganda film sets in Beijing to the boardrooms of Hollywood studios to the
