Shark Utilization, Marketing and Trade Stefania Vannuccini,1999-01-01 Sharks are only a small proportion of world recorded fish landings but they are a versatile and valuable resource They sustain important fisheries in several countries and are a cheap but valuable source of protein for coastal communities dependent on subsistence fisheries Sharks are exploited for their meat fins teeth cartilage liver and other internal organs This report details species used and methods of preparation for various purposes FAO Fisheries Technical Paper ,1999 Management Techniques for Elasmobranch Fisheries Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2005-01-01 This publication describes the scientific principles and techniques used for resource management of elasmobranch fisheries with emphasis on the particular context of elasmobranchs The management characteristics of these fishes are described their common bycatch character and their biological constraints on productivity low growth rate late maturity and low fecundity Stock assessment of elasmobranchs is described in the context of management objectives in a wide management context Special attention is given to accurate species identification given the prevalent aggregating of landings data across species genera and often families in this group Techniques and experiences for tagging elasmobranchs for population estimation are described as well as methods of genetic techniques for stock identification Sharks of the Open Ocean Merry D. Camhi, Ellen K. Pikitch, Elizabeth A. Babcock,2009-01-21 This important and exciting title represents the first authoritative volume focussed on pelagic open ocean sharks as a group Virtually every pelagic shark expert in the world has contributed to this landmark publication which includes the latest data and knowledge on pelagic shark biology fisheries management and conservation Pelagic sharks face unprecedented levels of exploitation in all the world's oceans through both direct fisheries and by catch and effective management for these species is contingent upon solid science and data which this book brings together for the first time All those involved in shark biology will need to have a copy of this book Report of the FAO Expert Consultation on the Implementation of the FAO International Plan of Action for the Conservation and Management of Sharks, Rome, 6-8 December, 2005 ,2006-01-01 The FAO Expert Consultation held in Rome in December 2005 reviewed available information and national institutional and personal experiences in relation to factors governing the success of the IPOA SHARKS conservation and management programme including the constraints to programme implementation and options for improving its efficacy and effectiveness The conclusion of the consultation was that the IPOA SHARKS programme was a beneficial endeavour and that efforts to improve its effectiveness should be strengthened Trading Fish, Saving Fish Margaret A. Young,2011-04-14 Numerous international legal regimes now seek to address the global depletion of fish stocks and increasingly their activities overlap The relevant laws were developed at different times by different groups of states They are motivated by divergent economic approaches influenced by disparate non state actors and implemented by separate institutions such as the World Trade Organization and the United Nations

Food and Agriculture Organization Margaret Young shows how these and other factors affect the interaction between regimes Her empirical and doctrinal analysis moves beyond the discussion of conflicting norms that has dominated the fragmentation debate Case studies include the negotiation of new rules on fisheries subsidies the restriction of trade in endangered marine species and the adjudication of fisheries import bans She explores how regimes should interact in fisheries governance and beyond to offer insights into the practice and legitimacy of regime interaction in international law

Seafood Processing By-Products Se-Kwon Kim,2014-04-08 The seafood processing industry produces a large amount of by products that usually consist of bioactive materials such as proteins enzymes fatty acids and biopolymers These by products are often underutilized or wasted even though they have been shown to have biotechnological nutritional pharmaceutical and biomedical applications For example by products derived from crustaceans and algae have been successfully applied in place of collagen and gelatin in food cosmetics drug delivery and tissue engineering Divided into four parts and consisting of twenty seven chapters this book discusses seafood by product development isolation and characterization and demonstrates the importance of seafood by products for the pharmaceutical nutraceutical and biomedical industries

Report of the FAO Technical Working Group on the Conservation and Management of Sharks Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. Technical Working Group on the Conservation and Management of Sharks,1999-01-01 Fishery Bulletin ,2005 A study of shark and ray non-fin commodities in Mexico Tovar-Ávila, J.,Diliégros-Valencia, M.L.,Castillo-Géniz, J.L.,Braccini, J.M.,Rentería-Bravo, J.,Friedman, K.,Walsh, M.,2024-07-16 The work presented here summarizes published research from Mexico also linked to an FAO summary plus studies from India Indonesia and Peru In collaboration with various country programmes and local research groups the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO examined shark and ray value chains The goal was to provide valuable information for fisheries and environmental agencies shedding light on the role of non fin commodities derived from sharks and rays in fisheries and trade To effectively conserve shark and ray resources we must adopt a more holistic understanding of their fisheries and markets Historically the focus has primarily centred on regulating the export of shark fins often overlooking traditional and emerging fishing practices and markets related to other elasmobranch products such as meat skin cartilage liver oil and gill plates Due to limited examination of non fin commodities we lack clarity on their sources the extent of exploitation and their significance as drivers of elasmobranch utilization The report aims to shift attention towards non fin commodities in shark and ray management By doing so we hope to expand the range of potential interventions that can be employed to achieve sustainable elasmobranch fisheries a critical source of food security nutrition and livelihoods for coastal communities worldwide

Most of the chapters include findings of investigations and observations on biodiversity whilst a few are based on statistically and theoretically derived information. The book produced sufficient information on the occurrence and distribution of many plant and animal species or groups of organisms with environmental estimates from a wide variety of interesting terrestrial and aquatic habitats. With 18 interesting and elaborately prepared chapters, the present book would definitely be an ideal source of scientific information to the advanced students, junior researchers, scientists, and a portion of the public involved in ecology and other research areas involving biodiversity studies. It will also help to the development of the growing awareness of the close linkage between the conservation of biodiversity and economic development.
