Signs And Meaning In The Cinema:

Signs and Meaning in the Cinema Peter Wollen, 2019 First published in 1969 Signs and Meaning in the Cinema transformed the emerging discipline of film studies Remarkably eclectic and informed Peter Wollen's highly influential and groundbreaking work remains a brilliant and accessible theorisation of film as an art form and as a sign system The book is divided into three main sections The first explores the work of Sergei Eisenstein as film maker designer and aesthetician The second which contains a celebrated comparison of the films of John Ford and Howard Hawks is an exposition and defence of the auteur theory The third formulates a semiology of the cinema invoking cinema as an exemplary test case for comparative aesthetics and general theories of signification Wollen's Conclusion argues for an avant garde cinema bringing post structuralist ideas into his discussion of Godard and other contemporaries Published as part of the BFI Silver series this fifth edition features a new foreword by film theorist David Rodowick and brings together material from the four previous editions inviting the reader to trace the development of Wollen's thinking and the unfolding of the discourse of cinema Bloomsbury Screen Studies

Signs and Meaning in the Cinema Peter Wollen, 1972 Without doubt it is the best study of cinema published in English for years Cinema a major achievement drawing on the results of aesthetic inquiry from Shaftesbury and Lessing to Jakobson and the formalists in order to relate the cinema to wider areas of linguistic theory and theory of art Times Literary Supplement

Film Theory Philip Simpson, Andrew Utterson, Karen J. Shepherdson, 2004 This major new collection identifies the critical and theoretical concepts which have been most significant in the study of film and presents a historical and intellectual context for the material examined

Philosophy in Cultural Theory Peter Osborne, 2000 A series of transdisciplinary essays offering a critical look at central philosophical debates in cultural theory today

How to Read a Film James Monaco, 1981 Now thoroughly revised and updated the book discusses recent breakthroughs in media technology including such exciting advances as video discs and cassettes two way television satellites cable and much more

Authorship and Aesthetics in the Cinematography of Gregg Toland Philip Cowan, 2022-10-03 In this three part book length study of the work of Gregg Toland Philip Cowan explores approaches to co authorship in collaborative filmmaking to propose new ways of identifying attributing and evaluating the creative work of cinematographers In the first part of the study Cowan challenges the dominant director centered auteur approach to film studies critiquing the historical development of authorship theory and providing a contemporary analysis of the cinematographer's authorial role in creating images that communicate meaning through content and construction By synthesizing and updating the work of previous film theorists to define the complexities of composition movement and lighting in the second part of the study Cowan develops a new comprehensive taxonomy of functional and aesthetic elements of the moving image Finally by using the co author approach and the analytical tools developed in part two of the book Cowan provides an in depth re examination of Toland's work

highlighting the historical neglect of the cinematographer's artistic contribution to filmmaking and developing a fresh approach to the analysis of contemporary cinematography in film Other Cinemas Sue Clayton, Laura Mulvey, 2017-06-30

The 1970s was an enormously creative period for experimental film. Its innovations and debates have had far reaching and long lasting influence with a resurgence of interest in the decade revealed by new gallery events, film screenings and social networks that recognise its achievements. Professor Laura Mulvey and writer/director Sue Clayton bring together journalists and scholars at the cutting edge of research into 1970s radical cinema for this collection. Chapters are at once historically grounded yet fused with the current analysis of today's generation of cinephiles to rediscover a unique moment for extraordinary film production. Other Cinemas establishes the factors that helped to shape alternative film world cinema and internationalism, the politics of cultural policy and arts funding, new accessible technologies, avant-garde theories and the development of a dynamic and interactive relationship between film and its audiences. Exploring and celebrating the work of The Other Cinema, the London Film Makers Co-op and other cornerstones of today's film culture, as well as the impact of creatives such as William Raban and Stephen Dwoskin, Mulvey and Clayton themselves, this important book takes account of a wave of socially aware film practice without which today's activist, queer, minority and feminist voices would have struggled to gather such volume.

Star Wars and the History of Transmedia Storytelling Sean Guynes,Dan Hassler-Forest,2025-10-01 Star Wars has reached more than three generations of casual and hardcore fans alike and as a result many of the producers of franchised Star Wars texts films television comics novels games and more over the past four decades have been fans turned creators Yet despite its dominant cultural and industrial positions Star Wars has rarely been the topic of sustained critical work Star Wars and the History of Transmedia Storytelling offers a corrective to this oversight by curating essays from a wide range of interdisciplinary scholars in order to bring Star Wars and its transmedia narratives more fully into the fold of media and cultural studies The collection places Star Wars at the center of those studies projects by examining video games novels and novelizations comics advertising practices television shows franchising models aesthetic and economic decisions fandom and cultural responses and other aspects of Star Wars and its world building in their multiple contexts of production distribution and reception In emphasizing that Star Wars is both a media franchise and a transmedia storyworld Star Wars and the History of Transmedia Storytelling demonstrates the ways in which transmedia storytelling and the industrial logic of media franchising have developed in concert over the past four decades as multinational corporations have become the central means for subsidizing profiting from and selling modes of immersive storyworlds to global audiences By taking this dual approach the book focuses on the interconnected nature of corporate production fan consumption and transmedia world building As such this collection grapples with the historical cultural aesthetic and political economic implications of the relationship between media franchising and transmedia storytelling as they are seen at work in the world s most profitable transmedia franchise
