The Panorama of Science and Art James Smith, 1815 Desire as Belief Alex Gregory, 2021

What is it to want something Or as philosophers might ask what is a desire The idea that we explain and evaluate actions with essential reference to what people want is compelling as it speaks to common sense ideas that our wants lie at the heart of our decision making Yet our wants seem to have a competitor our beliefs about what we ought to do Such normative beliefs alone may often suffice to explain our actions To try and resolve this tension this book defends desire as belief the view that desires are just a special subset of our normative beliefs This view entitles us to accept orthodox models of human motivation and rationality that explain those things with reference to desire while also making room for our normative beliefs to play a role in those domains This view also tells us to diverge from the orthodox view on which desires themselves can never be right or wrong Rather according to desire as belief our desires can themselves be assessed for their accuracy and they are wrong when they misrepresent normative features of the world Hume says that it is not contrary to reason to prefer the destruction of the whole world to the scratching of your finger but he is wrong it is foolish to prefer the destruction of the whole world to the scratching of your finger precisely because this preference misrepresents the relative worth of these things This book mounts an engaging and comprehensive defence of these ideas
