Moreland, 2002-01-04 Naturalism provides a rigorous analysis and critique of the major varieties of contemporary philosophical naturalism The authors advocate the thesis that contemporary naturalism should be abandoned in light of the serious objections raised against it Contributors draw on a wide range of topics including epistemology the philosophy of science the philosophy of mind and agency and natural theology The Nature of Nature Bruce Gordon, William Dembski, 2014-04-29 The intellectual and cultural battles now raging over theism and atheism conservatism and secular progressivism dualism and monism realism and antirealism and transcendent reality versus material reality extend even into the scientific disciplines This stunning new volume captures this titanic clash of worldviews among those who have thought most deeply about the nature of science and of the universe itself Unmatched in its breadth and scope The Nature of Nature brings together some of the most influential scientists scholars and public intellectuals including three Nobel laureates across a wide spectrum of disciplines and schools of thought Here they grapple with a perennial question that has been made all the more pressing by recent advances in the natural sciences Is the fundamental explanatory principle of the universe life and self conscious awareness to be found in inanimate matter or immaterial mind The answers found in this book have profound implications for what it means to do science what it means to be human and what the future holds for all of us Fact and Method Richard W. Miller, 2021-04-13

In this bold work of broad scope and rich erudition Richard Miller sets out to reorient the philosophy of science By questioning both positivism and its leading critics he develops new solutions to the most urgent problems about justification explanation and truth Using a wealth of examples from both the natural and the social sciences Fact and Method applies the new account of scientific reason to specific questions of method in virtually every field of inquiry including biology physics history sociology anthropology economics psychology and literary theory Explicit and up to date analysis of leading alternative views and a wealth of examples make it an ideal introduction to the philosophy of science as well as a powerful attempt to change the field Like the works of Hempel Reichenbach and Nagel in an earlier generation it will challenge instruct and help anyone with an interest in science and its limits For the past quarter century the philosophy of science has been in a crisis brought on by the failure of the positivist project of resolving all basic methodological questions by applying absolutely general rules valid for all fields at all times Professor Miller presents a new view in which what counts as an explanation a cause a confirming test or a compelling case for the existence of an unobservable is determined by frameworks of specific substantive principles rationally adopted in the light of the actual history of inquiry While the history of science has usually been the material for relativism Professor Miller uses arguments of Darwin Newton Einstein Galileo and others both to undermine positivist conceptions of rationality and to support the positivists optimism that important theoretical findings are often justifiable from all reasonable perspectives 26th Annual

Precise Time and Time Interval (PTTI) Applications and Planning Meeting ,1995 Annual Precise Time and Time Interval (PTTI) Applications and Planning Meeting ,1994 Local Induction R. Bogdan, 2012-12-06 The local justification of beliefs and hypotheses has recently become a major concern for epistemologists and philosophers of induction As such the problem of local justification is not entirely new Most pragmatists had addressed themselves to it and so did to some extent many classical inductivists in the Bacon Whewell Mill tradition In the last few decades however the use of logic and semantics probability calculus statistical methods and decision theoretic concepts in the reconstruction of inductive inference has revealed some important technical respects in which inductive justification can be local the choice of a language with its syntactic and semantic features the relativity of probabilistic evaluations to an initial body of evidence or background knowledge and to an agent's utilities and preferences etc Some paradoxes and difficulties encountered by purely formal accounts of inductive justification the erosion of the once dominant empiricist position which most approaches to induction took for granted and the increasing challenge of noninductivist epistemologies have underscored the need of accounting for the methodological problems of applying inductive logic to real life contexts particularly in science As a result in the late fifties and sixties several related developments pointed to a new local approach to inductive justification Over
