Frank Lloyd Wright--the Lost Years, 1910-1922 Anthony Alofsin,1993 New definition to the little known work Wright produced during this period which he describes as Wright's primitivist phase. He traces this influence in his art through Wright's explorations of primitivist sources, innovations in sculpture, and an intensification of the architect's use of ornament. Less tangible but as important was Wright's view of himself, his art, and society, and Alofsin uncovers the European impact on the architect's image of himself as a Children's Book Review Index Gary C. Tarbert, 2006 Frank Lloyd Wright's Florida Southern College Dale Allen Gyure, 2010-10-10 Florida Southern College in Lakeland boasts the largest single site collection of Frank Lloyd Wright architecture in the world. With eleven buildings planned and designed by Wright, the campus forms a rich tableau for examining the architect's philosophy and design practice. In this fully illustrated volume, Dale Allen Gyure tells the engaging story of the ambitious project from beginning to end. The college's dynamic president, Ludd M. Spivey, wanted the grounds and buildings redesigned to embody a modern and distinctly American expression of Protestant theology. Informed by Spivey's vision, his own early educational experience, and his architectural philosophy, Wright conceived the Child of the Sun complex. Much like Thomas Jefferson's famous plan for the University of Virginia, the academic village that Wright designed for Florida Southern College expresses a dramatic and personal statement about education in a democratic society. Little studied to date, this significant campus and its history are finally given the attention they deserve in this fascinating volume.
