Singing Away The Hunger The Autobiography Of An African Woman:

Singing Away the Hunger Mpho 'M'atsepo Nthunya, 1997-10-22 this gem of a book deserves a wide audience. Appropriate for African and women's studies courses and a must for college and university libraries. Choice Mpho relates the story of her life with an integrity that makes for utterly compelling reading. The fortitude of this woman now in her late 60s is a lesson to us all. The Bookseller United Kingdom This is a fascinating autobiography. KLIATT a powerful autobiography of a Lesotho elder who tells her life as an African woman in South Africa. The focus on black culture and concerns as much as racism allows for an unusual depth of understanding of black concerns and lifestyles in Africa. Reviewer's Bookwatch An African woman's poignant and beautifully crafted memoir lyrically portrays the brutal poverty and reliance on ritual that shape the lives of her people the Basotho. A commanding and important work that will captivate readers with its unique voice, narrative power, and unforgettable scenes of life in Southern Africa. Kirkus Reviews a stunning autobiography of a remarkable woman. Nthunya's telling is eloquent. Although her voice is generally one of dignified emotional distance, it is punctuated by her very human humor and pain. Publishers Weekly recommended for collections in African folklore. Library Journal I am telling my stories in English for many months now and it is a time for me to see my whole life. I see that things are always changing. I was born in 1930 so I remember many things which were happening in the old days in Lesotho and which happen no more. I lived in Benoni Location for more than ten years and I saw the Boer policemen taking black people and beating them like dogs. They even took me once and kept me in one of their jails for a while. Mpho M'atsepo Nthunya A compelling and unique autobiography by an African woman with little formal education, less privilege, and almost no experience of books or writing. Mpho's is a voice almost never heard in literature or history, a voice from within the struggle of ordinary African women to negotiate a world which incorporates ancient pastoral ways and the congestion, brutality, and racist violence of city life. It is also the voice of a born storyteller who has a subject worthy of her gifts, a story for all the world to hear. Black African Literature in English, 1997-1999 Bernth Lindfors, 2003 This volume lists the work produced on anglophone black African literature between 1997 and 1999. This bibliographic work is a continuation of the highly acclaimed earlier volumes compiled by Bernth Lindfors. Containing about 10,000 entries, some of which are annotated to identify the authors discussed, it covers books, periodical articles, papers, in edited collections, and selective coverage of other relevant sources. No Way, They Were Gay? Lee Wind, 2024-11-01 A joyful and fascinating read that reminds us that LGBTQ people have always existed, thrived, and made important contributions to society. Michael D. Cohen, actor, writer, director, and acting coach, History sounds really official. Like it's all fact. Like it's definitely what happened. But that's not necessarily true. History was crafted by the people who recorded it. And sometimes those historians were biased against, didn't see, or couldn't even imagine anyone different from themselves. That means that history has often left out the stories of LGBTQIA people: men who loved men, women who loved women, people who loved without regard to gender, and people who lived outside gender boundaries.

Historians have even censored the lives and loves of some of the world's most famous people from William Shakespeare and Pharaoh Hatshepsut to Cary Grant and Eleanor Roosevelt. Join author Lee Wind for this fascinating journey through primary sources, poetry, memoir, news clippings, and images of ancient artwork to explore the hidden and often surprising queer lives and loves of two dozen historical figures. Such an important book, both enlightening and entertaining. Highly recommended for readers age 10-110. Linda Sue Park, Newbery Medalist. This fascinating look at the hidden lives of some of history's most important figures deserves a place in every library, not to mention the hands of readers, many of whom will see much needed reflections of themselves. Ellen Hopkins, New York Times bestselling author. At a time where issues of social justice are often deemed either overinflated or solved, Lee Wind makes a powerful case that queer historical erasure is an ongoing issue.

Foreword Reviews Women's Studies Quarterly: (98:3-4) Deborah S. Rosenfelt, 1998. Invaluable resource for teachers that suggests strategies for successfully internationalizing the curriculum.

African Memoirs and Cultural Representations Toyin Falola, 2023-02-14. Traditions and cultures represent a set of persisting or prevailing beliefs, social practices, oral linguistic, and values that define an individual's way of life. In other words, in memoir writing, the emphasis is often to propagate a unilateral need or embrace of self-identity. However, the dominant narrative and method of analysis in this study holds the notion and privileges that tradition and cultures imbibed by memoirists are sometimes subverted, refashioned, or reworked due to the strand of experiences or realities they encounter in different spaces as their narration develops. Thus, memoirists embrace indifference and open-mindedness, which is also greatly explored in the context of autobiography.

Selves in Question Judith Lutge Coullie, Stephan Meyer, Thengani H. Ngwenya, Thomas Olver, 2006-05-31. Wide-ranging and engaging, Selves in Question considers the various ways in which autobiographical accounts situate and question the self in contemporary southern Africa. The twenty-seven interviews presented here consider both the ontological status and the representation of the self. They remind us that the self is constantly under construction in webs of interlocution and that its status and representation are always in question. The contributors therefore look at ways in which autobiographical practices contribute to placing, understanding, and troubling the self and selves in postcolonies in the current global constellation. They examine topics such as the contexts conducive to production processes, the contents and forms of autobiographical accounts, and finally their impact on the producers and the audience. In doing so, they map out a multitude of variables, including the specific historical juncture, geo-political locations, social positions, cultures, languages, generations, and genders in their relations to autobiographical practices. Those interviewed include the famous and the hardly known women and men writers and performers who communicate in a variety of languages: Afrikaans, English, Xhosa, isiZulu, Sesotho, and Yiddish. An extensive introduction offers a general framework on the contestation of self through autobiography, a historical overview of autobiographical representation in South Africa up to the present time, an outline of theoretical and thematic issues at stake in southern Africa autobiography, and extensive primary and secondary biographies. Talk Johnnetta B. Cole, Beverly Guy-Sheftall, 2009-01-16 Why has the African American community remained silent about gender even as race has moved to the forefront of our nation's consciousness In this important new book two of the nation's leading African American intellectuals offer a resounding and far reaching answer to a question that has been ignored for far too long Hard hitting and brilliant in its analysis of culture and sexual politics Gender Talk asserts boldly that gender matters are critical to the Black community in the twenty first century In the Black community rape violence against women and sexual harassment are as much the legacy of slavery as is racism Johnnetta Betsch Cole and Beverly Guy Sheftall argue powerfully that the only way to defeat this legacy is to focus on the intersection of race and gender Gender Talk examines why the race problem has become so male centered and how this has opened a deep divide between Black women and men The authors turn to their own lives offering intimate accounts of their experiences as daughters wives and leaders They examine pivotal moments in African American history when race and gender issues collided with explosive results from the struggle for women's suffrage in the nineteenth century to women's attempts to gain a voice in the Black Baptist movement and on into the 1960s when the Civil Rights movement and the upsurge of Black Power transformed the Black community while sidelining women Along the way they present the testimonies of a large and influential group of Black women and men including bell hooks Faye Wattleton Byllye Avery Cornell West Robin DG Kelley Michael Eric Dyson Marcia Gillispie and Dorothy Height Providing searching analysis into the present Cole and Guy Sheftall uncover the cultural assumptions and attitudes in hip hop and rap in the O J Simpson and Mike Tyson trials in the Million Men and Million Women Marches and in the battle over Clarence Thomas's appointment to the Supreme Court Fearless and eye opening Gender Talk is required reading for anyone concerned with the future of African American women and men Historical Dictionary of Women in

Sub-Saharan Africa Kathleen Sheldon, 2016-03-04 African women's history is a vast topic that embraces a wide variety of societies in over 50 countries with different geographies social customs religions and historical situations Africa is a predominantly agricultural continent and a major factor in African agriculture is the central role of women as farmers It is estimated that between 65 and 80 percent of African women are engaged in cultivating food for their families and in the past that percentage was likely even higher Thus one common thread across much of the continent is women's daily work in their family plot This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Women in Sub Saharan Africa contains a chronology an introduction appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 700 cross referenced entries on individual African women in history politics religion and the arts on important events organizations and publications and on
