Singing Gorilla Understanding Animal Intelligence:

The Singing Gorilla George Page, 2000-02-17 How animals think and feel is a question which has long occupied scientists Pavlov's famous experiment apparently proved that dogs negotiate the world purely on instinct because they automatically salivate at the ring of a bell which they associate with being fed What he failed to note was that exactly the same is true for humans So where if anywhere does the difference lie Animals are capable of showing fear then why should they not also be capable of showing love envy or sadness If humans are the only mammals capable of creativity and emotion why do wild gorillas sing when they are content

The Animated Bestiary Paul Wells, 2008-11-28 Cartoonists and animators have given animals human characteristics for so long that audiences are now accustomed to seeing Bugs Bunny singing opera and Mickey Mouse walking his dog Pluto The Animated Bestiary critically evaluates the depiction of animals in cartoons and animation more generally Paul Wells argues that artists use animals to engage with issues that would be more difficult to address directly because of political religious or social taboos Consequently and principally through anthropomorphism animation uses animals to play out a performance of gender sex and sexuality racial and national traits and shifting identity often challenging how we think about ourselves Wells draws on a wide range of examples from the original King Kong to Nick Park's Chicken Run to Disney cartoons such as Tarzan The Jungle Book and Brother Bear to reflect on people by looking at the ways in which they respond to animals in cartoons and films

Dasha's Journal T. O. Daria, 2008 Just a few weeks old Dasha the cat found herself in a family with an autistic child The feline perspective provides a new outlook on autism conditions challenging long established stereotypes and analysing controversies in the field with an unbiased attitude and humour

The Hidden Powers of Animals Karl Shuker, 2001 Reveals the amazing truths about animals and their sensitivities skills and strengths from the bat's ability to catch insect prey in complete darkness to animals that cure their own ailments by using herbs in their habitats
