Lung Tumors Barth Hoogstraten, Bruce J. Addis, Heine H. Hansen, Nael Martini, Stephen G. Spiro, 2012-12-06 This series on the treatment of cancer is sponsored by the UICe The editors and authors feel strongly that more standardization in cancer therapy is needed on a worldwide basis This of course is only possible if experts from all countries subscribe to a joint policy of making their treatment designs available to practising oncologists all over the world Current Treatment of Cancer discusses all the equipment and methods now in use in cancer therapy It covers all types of cancer thus providing the reader with comprehensive information on cancer management In recent decades there has been a tremendous improvement in the treatment of cancer and there is hope for even further success in this fight We are convinced that this series will help us to make a concerted response to the challenge of cancer UICC Treatment and Rehabilitation Programme Ismail Elsebai Chairman Preface Part I Members of two institutions the Brompton Hospital in London and the Finsen Institute in Copenhagen were invited to write on lung cancer and after reading the manuscripts it was decided that the contents of three pairs of chapters overlapped sufficiently for them to be combined Atlas of Lung Cancer Raymond Yesner, 1998 Based on the author's experience through 40 years of work with lung cancers this resource is based on the theme that carcinomas of the lung have overlapping characteristics with quantitative rather than qualitative differences It contains photographs depicting characteristic growth patterns and complications such as cavitation and exsanguination Coverage includes gross pathology and the defining histopathology the neuroendocrine tumours adenocarcinomas large cell carcinomas adenosquamous carcinomas mesotheliomas benign tumours and tumour like lesions including hamartomas eosinophilic granulomas sclerosing hemangiomas and inflammatory pseudotumours Lung Cancer Walter Scott, 2000 Are You Receiving the Best Treatment for Lung Cancer If you've been diagnosed with lung cancer you're probably frightened And you probably have many questions You're wondering about prognosis and treatment What will the treatments be like Will you have side effects But are you asking whether or not you're receiving the best treatment possible According to Walter Scott MD it's an important question to ask Why Because despite advances in lung cancer treatment over the past few years many lung cancer patients have not received the best treatment possible Accordingly Dr Scott stresses the importance of patients educating themselves about the disease and its treatment so they can seek the best therapies available In Lung Cancer A Guide to Diagnosis and Treatment Dr Scott discusses the most promising therapies for lung cancer including the multimodality approach a combination of surgery chemotherapy and radiation Among the other topics he covers Tests for early detection of lung cancer Staging the cancer and why it is so important Surgery radiation chemotherapy how they kill cancer cells Alternative treatments can they help The importance of clinical trials Coping with emotions such as smoker's guilt A Valuable Resource for Patients and Families Principles and Practice of Lung Cancer Harvey I. Pass, David P. Carbone, David H. Johnson, John D. Minna, Giorgio V. Scagliotti, Andrew T. Turrisi, 2012-02-13 Thoroughly revised and updated

this Fourth Edition is the most comprehensive current reference on lung cancer with contributions from the world's foremost surgeons radiation oncologists medical oncologists pulmonologists and basic scientists Coverage includes complete information on combined modality treatments for small cell and non small cell lung cancer and on complications of treatment and management of metastases Emphasis is also given to early detection screening prevention and new imaging techniques This edition has expanded thoracic oncology chapters including thymus mesothelioma and mediastinal tumors more detailed discussion of targeted agents and state of the art information on newer techniques in radiotherapy Other highlights include more international contributors and greater discussion of changes in lung cancer management in each region of the world A new editor Giorgio Scagliotti MD from the University of Turin has coordinated the accounts of European activities A companion website includes the full text online and an image bank
