in studies prepared by country members of the OECD Pilot Group and others seeking to quantify the barriers Nontariff barriers include quotas variable levies voluntary export restraints government procurement regulations domestic subsidies and antidumping and countervailing duty measures The authors discuss the many different methods available for measuring the effects of these and other nontariff barriers Illustrative results are presented for industrial OECD countries including Australia Canada Germany Norway the European Union the United Kingdom and the United States Finally the authors offer guideline principles and recommend procedures for measuring different types of nontariff barriers Economists political scientists government officials and lawyers involved in international trade will find this an invaluable resource for understanding and measuring NTBs Alan V Deardorff and Robert M Stern are Professors of Economics and Public Policy University of Michigan
