Reordering the World Duncan Bell, 2016-06-07 A leading scholar of British political thought explores the relationship between liberalism and empire Reordering the World is a penetrating account of the complexity and contradictions found in liberal visions of empire Focusing mainly on nineteenth century Britain at the time the largest empire in history and a key incubator of liberal political thought Duncan Bell sheds new light on some of the most important themes in modern imperial ideology The book ranges widely across Victorian intellectual life and beyond The opening essays explore the nature of liberalism varieties of imperial ideology the uses and abuses of ancient history the imaginative functions of the monarchy and fantasies of Anglo Saxon global domination They are followed by illuminating studies of prominent thinkers including J A Hobson L T Hobhouse John Stuart Mill Henry Sidgwick Herbert Spencer and J R Seeley While insisting that liberal attitudes to empire were multiple and varied Bell emphasizes the liberal fascination with settler colonialism It was in the settler empire that many liberal imperialists found the place of their political dreams Reordering the World is a significant contribution to the history of modern political thought and political theory

What Do Unions Do? James T. Bennett, Bruce E. Kaufman, 2017-09-08 One of the best known and most quoted books ever written on labor unions is What Do Unions Do by Richard Freeman and James Medoff Published in 1984 the book proved to be a landmark because it provided the most comprehensive and statistically sophisticated empirical portrait of the economic and socio political effects of unions and a provocative conclusion that unions are on balance beneficial for the economy and society The present volume represents a twentieth anniversary retrospective and evaluation of What Do Unions Do The objectives are threefold to evaluate and critique the theory evidence and conclusions of Freeman and Medoff to provide a comprehensive update of the theoretical and empirical literature on unions since the publication of their book and to offer a balanced assessment and critique of the effects of unions on the economy and society Toward this end internationally recognized representatives of labor and management cover the gamut of subjects related to unions Topics covered include the economic theory of unions the history of economic thought on unions the effect of unions on wages benefits capital investment productivity income inequality dispute resolution and job satisfaction the performance of unions in an international perspective the reasons for the decline of unions and the future of unions The volume concludes with a chapter by Richard Freeman in which he assesses the arguments and evidence presented in the other chapters and presents his evaluation of how What Do Unions Do stands up in the light of twenty years of additional experience and research This highly readable volume is a state of the art survey by internationally recognized experts on the effects and future of labor unions It will be the benchmark for years to come

Beucker,2012-01-03 Self organising networks have become the dominant innovators of complex technologies and radical innovation The growing need for co operation to ensure innovation success calls for a broader understanding of what makes innovation projects successful and requires new concepts The book introduces the new concept of innovation communities defining them as informal networks of like minded individuals who act as innovation promoters or champions These key figures come from various companies and organisations and will team up in a project related fashion jointly promoting a certain innovation product or idea either on one or across different levels of an innovation system The publication presents findings from surveys that demonstrate that networks of champions are a success factor in radical innovation Five case studies of noteworthy innovation projects illustrate why the collaboration of champions can make innovation projects more successful Furthermore the book presents hands on methods and includes best practice cases and guidelines on how to develop innovation communities This publication comprises empirical findings and practical experiences that are valuable for the following groups in particular Entrepreneurs Innovation R Innovation and strategy consultants Innovation and start up intermediaries Innovation researchers Government officials and politicians responsible for R D and innovation programmes and funding

Fair Shared Cities Marion Roberts, 2016-04-15 Bringing together a diverse team of leading scholars and professionals this book offers a variety of insights into ongoing gender mainstreaming policies in Europe with a focus on urban spatial planning Gender mainstreaming was first legislated for in the European Union with the Treaty of Amsterdam in 1999 and although many interesting developments have occurred throughout the decade that followed there is still much to do in terms of policy knowledge production dissemination and education This work contributes to all three objectives by advancing the state of knowledge as well as providing educational and professional tools in the field of gender sensitive planning in Europe The volume begins by explaining the concept of gender mainstreaming in relation to its origins in the second wave of the women s movement and critiques of planning architecture transport planning and other built environment disciplines It then provides a brief history of how gender mainstreaming was incorporated into European law before focussing on the theoretical issues and questions that surround the concept of gender mainstreaming as they relate to urban space and the planning of cities and regions including a discussion of the persistence of inequalities between the sexes in their access to urban space and services In particular the division between waged and unwaged work and its impact on the social construction of gender and of the physical built environment is considered The differences between definitions of feminism and their implications for action in planning and design are also explored paying regard to the tensions between a feminist vision of a transformation of gender relations and the requirements of gender mainstreaming to accommodate the different needs of women and men in their everyday lives in urban space Throughout the book key issues recur such as the importance of time and space in the experience of urbanism resistances to change on the part of institutions and social structures and the importance of networks Education and training also appear as common themes as do citizen participation and the structures of governance The chapters are organised into four sections concepts structures empowerment and spatial quality Contributors demonstrate a variety of approaches to the intersections of gender women cities and planning dealing with substantive and procedural issues in planning at both local and regional scales They stress the links between environmental sustainability and gender sensitive urban development The book concludes by putting forward an outlook for future action
