Shared Responsibility Families And Social Policy:

Shared Responsibility Robert Moroney, One of the fundamental issues confronting those who create analyze or work within the framework of modern American social welfare policy is the relationship of the family and the state in the delivery of social care through social services Dr Moroney develops the idea of the family as both recipient and dispenser of social services Simply and effectively he paints the landscape with respect to American families He focuses on two special cases families with frail elderly and families with severely mentally handicapped children The notion of shared responsibility between the family and state the nature of social welfare response through government programs and the professional response of social workers to families in need and some of the dilemmas inherent in formulating family policy in a multicultural pluralistic society are examined Shared Responsibility Robert M. Moroney,1986-11 Families, Social Services, and Social Policy Robert Moroney,1980 Families, Social Services, and Social Policy Robert Moroney,1980 Families and Social Policy Linda Haas,2006 Explores the latest research on the impact of government policy or lack of policy on family life in various developed and developing nations around the world Shared Responsibility, Shared Risk Jacob Hacker,Ann O'Leary,2012-01-19 How can the American social welfare system be repaired so that workers and families receive adequate protection and if necessary provision from the ravages of the market This book addresses this fundamental problem and analyses how the privatization of risk has increased hardships for American families and increased inequality It also proposes a series of solutions that would distribute the burdens of risks more broadly and expand the social safety net Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications , America's Family Support Programs Sharon Lynn Kagan,1987-01-01 Essays discuss the prevention of child abuse day care family education program funding and staffing family research and program evaluation Families, Schools, and Delinquency Prevention Glenn C. Loury,James Q. Wilson,2013-03-09 Are there ways to intervene early in a child s life that might reduce at a reasonable cost the probability of his becoming a serious delinquent The results of some small scale social experiments have been published suggesting that certain kinds of preschool education and parent training might have desirable and lasting effects In addition there is growing evidence that some kinds of medical intervention and certain forms of school organization and ethos could help reduce the rate of misconduct The authors provide a full scale assessment of the evidence that might lead to the design of new research and action efforts Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States. Superintendent of Documents,1968 Family Group Conferencing Gale Burford,Joe Hudson, Family Group Conferencing indicates a large scale shift in assumptions about the way child welfare services are planned and delivered away from models that emphasize pathology and toward those seeking an ecological understanding of the families and social networks involved The contributors also present a wealth of information on related approaches such as community conferences circles and wraparound services The British Journal of Social Work noted that there are issues relating to both process and outcome This book offers some answers that are intelligent and passionate From Child Abuse to Permanency Planning Vicky Albert, 2017-07-05 More than two million child abuse reports are filed annually on behalf of children in the United States Each of the reported children becomes a concern at least temporarily of the professional who files the report and each family is assessed by additional professionals A substantial number of children in these families will subsequently enter foster care Until now the relationships between the performance of our child welfare system and the growth and outcomes of foster care have not been understood In an effort to clarify them Barth and his colleagues have synthesized the results of their longitudinal study in California of the paths taken by children after the initial abuse report foster care a return to their homes or placement for adoption Families and Health Care Kathleen Ell, 2018-01-18 This book offers an antidote to the medicalization of health care and observes the special needs of socioeconomically disadvantaged persons with respect to health It is useful for practitioners in the fields of mental health family and child welfare gerontology and industrial practice

Mental Retardation and Mental Health Jack A. Stark, Frank J. Menolascino, Michael H. Albarelli, Vincent C. Gray, 2012-12-06 In late 1985 The President's Committee on Mental Retardation PCMR sponsored a National Strategy Conference on Mental Retardation and Mental Health in Washington D C The purpose of this conference was to bring together our nation's leadership in the fields of mental retardation and mental health in order to delineate the state of the art relative to the diagnosis care and treatment of citizens with mental retardation mental illness as well as to chart a national course for the support and integration of citizens with these challenging needs into the confluence of family and community life The President's Committee on Mental Retardation recognized that citizens with these needs constitute one of the most underserved and at times forgotten segments of the population With this in mind the PCMR called together government professional and parental representatives from across the nation to define the nature and extent of the problem programs and services that promise hope for substantive improvement in the quality of life of citizens with mental retardation mental illness

Reinventing Human Services Kristine Nelson, Paul Adams, 2011-12-31 Dissatisfaction with a human services system that is unresponsive stigmatizing and ineffective has led to a ferment of experimentation in recent years Reinventing Human Services examines the historical and economic context of current efforts to reinvent human services showing the urgency and the difficulty of the task It draws on successful examples in Britain Canada and the United States to develop a new paradigm for social work practice one that integrates individual family and community levels of practice and reconceptualizes professional community relations The interdisciplinary team of authors includes scholars researchers and practitioners from the disciplines of economics urban planning communications criminal justice psychology marriage and family therapy education and social work Social Treatment James K. Whittaker, Elizabeth M. Tracy, 1989 The book has two principal purposes To provide an introduction to interpersonal helping in the context of social work practice and to develop a conceptual framework for interpersonal helping called social treatment that will enable the social worker and members of other helping professions effectively to use all the various methods and strategies currently practiced The book offers an orderly and systematic way of proceeding through a complex and often confused area of practice in it large issues such as remediation versus prevention are explored along with concrete suggestions for intervention with individuals families and small groups Theoretical systems are considered not merely for the techniques they suggest but also for the values and views of man inherent in them The helping process itself is analyzed from the point of view of the consumer as well as the worker A conceptual framework for practice is developed that allows for systematic eclecticism in theory and technique providing a framework for evaluating and comparing different methods of social treatment The author defines social treatment as an approach to interpersonal helping which utilizes direct and indirect strategies of intervention to aid individuals families and small groups in improving social functioning and coping with social problems Beginning with a discussion of the concept of remediation within the context of the larger contemporary issues of social reform and environmental protection Professor Whittaker proceeds to consider several critical issues in present social work practice such as client advocacy service delivery systems and professionalization Subsequent chapters discuss the multiple roles that social work practitioners perform the major theoretical bases of social treatment the treatment sequence from intake to after care and the full range of helping activities that practitioners undertake indirectly on behalf of their clients The final chapter explores current trends and future directions in social treatment In the Appendix a framework for evaluating methods of interpersonal helping is developed and 21 approaches to social treatment are described and resource bibliographies are provided This book brief lucid and systematic is a major step toward that redefinition and will be invaluable to beginning students and advanced practitioners in social work and in all the other professional and paraprofessional fields engaged in providing human services James K Whittaker is Charles O Cressey endowed professor in the School of Social Work University of Washington He is a frequent consultant on child care training both in the Seattle area and nationally and is a consultant on research and training to the Child Development and Mental Retardation Center University of Washington He has served as director of the Social Welfare Program He is also a founding member of the International Association for Outcome Based Evaluation Research on Family and Children s Services in Italy as well as an associate board member of European Scientific Association for Residential and Foster Care for Children and Adolescents in Belgium
