

A 19th-century landscape painting. A vibrant rainbow arches from the top right corner down towards a river in the middle ground. The river flows from the left towards the center. In the background, a large, rounded hill or mountain rises, its slopes covered in dense, autumn-colored foliage in shades of orange, yellow, and brown. The sky is a pale, hazy blue. In the foreground, a grassy field with patches of brown earth leads down to the river. Several dark-colored horses are grazing in the field. A few trees, including some tall, dark evergreens, are scattered along the riverbank and on the hillside. The overall style is characteristic of 19th-century landscape art, with a focus on natural beauty and atmospheric perspective.

Sharing Traditions Five Black Artists:

Sharing Traditions National Museum of American Art (U.S.),1985 Sharing Traditions National Museum of American Art (U.S.),Lynda Roscoe Hartigan,1985-02-01 The lives and work of 5 black American painters and sculptors of the nineteenth century are examined The Harvard Guide to African-American History Evelyn Brooks Higginbotham,2001 This massive guide sponsored by the W E B Du Bois Institute for Afro American Research at Harvard University and compiled by renowned experts offers a compendium of information and interpretation on over 500 years of black experience in America Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1986 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Department of the Interior and Related Agencies,1986 Henry Ossawa Tanner Naurice Frank Woods, Jr.,2017-07-06 This book examines the life and work of artist Henry Ossawa Tanner He was one of the most celebrated American artists of his era yet largely because of his race he quickly vanished from recorded accounts of the period in which he worked This book helps restore his legacy Ebony ,1985-07 EBONY is the flagship magazine of Johnson Publishing Founded in 1945 by John H Johnson it still maintains the highest global circulation of any African American focused magazine Critical Issues In American Art Mary Ann Calo,2018-02-12 This anthology of essays on different critical approaches and methodologies for the analysis and interpretation of American art and artists is designed for students and teachers in American art history and American studies programs It contains twenty selections from academic journals on American art from colonial times to 1940 Mary Ann Calo provides an introduction to the anthology explaining its purpose and organization and each selection has a brief introduction about its main focus and scholarly approach These case studies show the diversity of scholarly thinking about interpreting American works of art which should be useful for teachers and comprehensible and interesting for students This anthology contains twenty articles on American art from colonial times to 1940 The selections are mainly from academic journals and aim to provide the student and teacher with different critical approaches and methodologies for the analysis and interpretation of American art and artists Mary Ann Calo s preface to the anthology explains its purpose and organization and each article will have a brief introduction about its main focus and scholarly approach This text meets the need in American art history studies for an anthology of essays on critical approaches and methodologies Child of the Fire Kirsten Buick,2010-02-17 Child of the Fire is the first book length examination of the career of the nineteenth century artist Mary Edmonia Lewis best known for her sculptures inspired by historical and biblical themes Throughout this richly illustrated study Kirsten Pai Buick investigates how Lewis and her work were perceived and their meanings manipulated by others and the sculptor herself She argues against the racist art discourse that has long cast Lewis s sculptures as reflections of her identity as an African American and Native American woman who lived most of her life abroad Instead by seeking to reveal Lewis s intentions through analyses of her career and artwork Buick illuminates Lewis s fraught but active participation in the creation of a distinct American national art one dominated by themes of indigeneity sentimentality gender and race In so doing she shows that the sculptor variously complicated and facilitated the dominant ideologies of the vanishing American the notion that Native Americans were a dying race sentimentality and true womanhood Buick considers the institutions and people that supported Lewis s career including Oberlin College abolitionists in Boston and American expatriates in Italy and she explores how their agendas affected the way they perceived and described the artist Analyzing four of Lewis s most popular sculptures each created between 1866 and 1876 Buick discusses interpretations of Hiawatha in terms of the cultural impact of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow s epic poem The Song of Hiawatha Forever Free and Hagar in the Wilderness in light of art historians assumptions that artworks created by African American artists necessarily reflect African American themes and The Death of Cleopatra in relation to broader problems of reading art as a reflection of identity

A Southern Collection ,1993-02-01 A Southern Collection presents select masterworks from the permanent collection of the Morris Museum of Art on the occasion of the institution s inaugural exhibition Drawn from a comprehensive survey collection of painting in the South from the late eighteenth century to the present day the museum s opening exhibit explores an artistic terrain as rich and diverse as the South itself arranged in categories that reflect critical chronological developments in the art world A survey of painting activity in the South begins with the travels of itinerant portrait artists working prior to the Civil War At the same time landscape painting encompasses a sensitive response to the swamps bayous and fertile fields of the South Late in the nineteenth century strong and vivid genre painting competes with the nostalgic effects realized by Southern impressionists whose shimmering liquid images are invested with an elusive spirit of place In this century those strains of realism and naturalism that characterize the classic body of Southern writing appear in the representational art of painters who defied the modern abstract dictum And finally the exciting compelling works of a current generation of both self taught artists and sophisticated contemporary painters complete this fascinating though sometimes neglected chapter in American art history

Race and Racism in Nineteenth-Century Art Naurice Frank Woods Jr.,2021-06-28 Painters Robert Duncanson ca 1821 1872 and Edward Bannister 1828 1901 and sculptor Mary Edmonia Lewis ca 1844 1907 each became accomplished African American artists But as emerging art makers of color during the antebellum period they experienced numerous incidents of racism that severely hampered their pursuits of a profession that many in the mainstream considered the highest form of social cultivation Despite barriers imposed upon them due to their racial inheritance these artists shared a common cause in demanding acceptance alongside their white contemporaries as capable painters and sculptors on local regional and international levels Author Naurice Frank Woods Jr provides an in depth examination of the strategies deployed by Duncanson Bannister and Lewis that enabled them not only to overcome prevailing race and gender inequality but also to achieve a measure of success that eventually placed them in the top rank of nineteenth century American art Unfortunately the racism that hampered these three artists throughout their careers ultimately denied them their rightful place as significant contributors to the development of American art Dominant art historians and art critics excluded them in their accounts of the period In this volume Woods restores their artistic legacies and redeems their memories introducing these significant artists to rightful new audiences Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1990: National Endowment for the Arts United States.
