Anglo European botany it is customary to think of the vernacular as that which is not a Latin or Latinized scientific plant name In Unmaking Botany Kathleen Cruz Gutierrez traces a history of botany in the Philippines during the last decades of Spanish rule and the first decades of US colonization Through this history she redefines the vernacular expanding it to include embodied cosmological artistic and varied taxonomic practices From the culinary textures of rice and the lyrics crooned to honor a flower to the touch of a skirt woven from banana fiber she illuminates how vernaculars of plant knowing in the Philippines exposed the philosophical and practical limits of botany Such vernaculars remained as sovereign forms of knowledge production Yet at the same time they fueled botany's dominance over other ways of knowing plants Revealing this tension allows Gutierrez to theorize sovereign vernaculars or insight into plants that made and unmade the science which serves as a methodological provocation to examine the interplay of different knowledge systems and to study the history of science from multiple vantage points

Cosmopolitanism and Tourism Robert Shepherd, 2017-12-12 Within tourism studies the cosmopolitan potentials of tourism have often been situated within a broader conversation about globalization an approach that implies that cosmopolitanism is a predictable by product of globalization and becoming more cosmopolitan should be the goal of travel And yet a fundamental value of a cosmopolitan outlook namely to not only to be at home in the world but also to experience the world in an authentic sense depends on the culturally embedded parochial and particular world views which it rejects In Cosmopolitanism and Tourism Rethinking Theory and Practice contributors take this as a starting point What does a worldly consciousness mean to people situated in different cultural landscapes and to what extent might these intersect with cosmopolitan values How is cosmopolitanism marketed in tourism and tourist related industries such as service learning and study abroad And finally what roles do social and economic class educational background gender and other factors have in cosmopolitan claims The contributors to this edited collection address these questions in a series of case studies that range from Guatemala Bolivia and Ireland to China India and Dubai For more information check out A Conversation with Robert Shepherd author of Cosmopolitanism and Tourism Rethinking Theory and Practice The Senators of the Tenth Congress Philippines.
