The Variscan Orogeny K. Schulmann, J.R. Martínez Catalán, J.M. Lardeaux, V. Janousek, G. Oggiano, 2014-07-28 This volume summarizes the state of the art of Variscan geology from Iberia to the Bohemian Massif The European Variscan belt consists of two orogens the older northern and the younger southern The northern Variscan realm was dominated by Late Devonian Carboniferous rifting subduction and collisional events as defined by sedimentary records crustal growth recycling of continental crust and large scale deformations In contrast the southern European crust was reworked by major Late Carboniferous collision followed by Permian wrenching The Late Carboniferous Permian orogeny overprinted the previously accreted system in the north but with much lower intensity resulting in magmatic recycling and extensional tectonics These two main orogenic cycles do not reflect episodic evolution of a single orogenic system but a complete change in orientation of stress field thermal regime degree of reworking and recycling of European crust reflecting a major switch in plate configurations at the Early Late Carboniferous boundary

Alcock, Mariana Egri, James F. D. Frakes, 2016-05-01 The Roman Empire had a rich and multifaceted visual culture which was often variegated due to the sprawling geography of its provinces In this remarkable work of scholarship a group of international scholars has come together to find alternative ways to discuss the nature and development of the art and archaeology of the Roman provinces The result is a collection of nineteen compelling essays accompanied by carefully curated visual documentation seven detailed maps and an extensive bibliography organized around the four major themes of provincial contexts tradition and innovation networks and movements and local accents in an imperial context Easy assumptions about provincial dependence on metropolitan models give way to more complicated stories Similarities and divergences in local and regional responses to Rome appear but not always in predictable places and in far from predictable patterns The authors dismiss entrenched barriers between art and archaeology center and provinces even good art and bad art extending their observations well beyond the empire's boundaries and examining phenomena sites and monuments not often found in books about Roman art history or archaeology The book thus functions to encourage continued critical engagement with how scholars study the material past of the Roman Empire and indeed of imperial systems in general economic exchange in the period Beer jars and bread moulds together with their archaeological textual and iconographic contexts thus yield a framework for the economy which is fluid agent based and defined by small scale face to face relationships rather than the state Afrique de l'Ouest J.M. Circum-Atlantic Correlatives R.D. Dallmeyer, J.P. Lecorche, 2012-12-06 In December 1987 Project 233 of the International Geological Correlation Program hosted an international conference in Nouakchott Mauritania. Discussions were focused on the Tectonothermal Evolution Of The West African Orogens And Circum Atlantic Terrane Linkages. A wealth of new information was presented during the conference and it was apparent that the time was appropriate to prepare a systematic volume dealing with the geology of northwest Africa. The present volume is an outgrowth of this conference but is not merely a compilation of the papers presented in Nouakchott. Instead it represents a coordinated volume designed to present a balanced comprehensive view of our present understanding of West African geology and potential correlations in other Circum Atlantic Paleozoic orogens. We sincerely appreciate the efforts of all the reviewers whose comments have greatly helped to improve the quality of this volume. We also thank the various contributors for their diligence and perseverance in manuscript preparation. The calibre of the present volume is a reflection of their labor. Athens, Marseille, Autumn 1990. R.D. DALLMEYER, J.P. LECORCHE. Contents: Chapter 1 Introduction 3 R.D. DALLMEYER and J.P. LECORCHE Chapter 2 Geophysics and the Crustal structure of West Africa 9 J. ROUSSEL and A. LESQUER Chapter 3 Crystalline Basement of the West African Craton 31

Pre-Mesozoic Geology in France and Related Areas J. Chantaine, J. Duncan, Keppie, J. Rolet, D.S. Santallier, A. Pique, 2012-12-06 This book provides an up to date synthesis of the Pre Mesozoic Geology in France. Armorican and Central Massifs and Related Areas. Aquitaine Basin, Vosges, Provence, Pyrenees, Western Alps, Corsica and Sardinia. The geological record is systematically presented covering seismic reflection, gravity and magnetic data, stratigraphy, paleontology, structure, metamorphism, igneous activity and metallogeny. It is the most up to date English summary by French scientists providing access to the vast literature on the topic, mainly written in French. As such it should be of great interest to an international audience.

Forests: Elements of Silvology Roelof A.A. Oldeman, 2012-12-06 Silvology is the general science of forest ecosystems without the usual division between Man and Nature. This systematic treatment of forests intends to integrate and harmonize existing approaches with the help of systems modeling in a hierarchy of close system levels according to criteria of biological architecture, biomass production and species composition. Scientists and practitioners will appreciate this synoptic treatment of forests and their ecology, allowing the balance of holistic and reductionist viewpoints and the placement of phenomena and techniques. Topics covered include: introduction of the methods; sections on forest organisms; a special chapter on trees; eco units i.e. forest ecosystems developing after some zero event like fire, storm or waterlogging; silvatic mosaics built by the eco units of different size, architecture and species composition; a summary of silvological rules determining system's behaviour at every level e.g. fragmentation and fusion, transfer of functions, irreversibility and process oscillation.
