autistic people has been widely observed and studied Articles on musical savants extraordinary feats of musical memory unusually high rates of absolute or perfect pitch and the effectiveness of music based therapies abound in the autism literature Meanwhile music scholars and historians have posited autism centered explanatory models to account for the unique musical artistry of everyone from B la Bart k and Glenn Gould to Blind Tom Wiggins Given the great deal of attention paid to music and autism it is surprising to discover that autistic people have rarely been asked to account for how they themselves make and experience music or why it matters to them that they do In Speaking for Ourselves renowned ethnomusicologist Michael Bakan does just that engaging in deep conversations some spanning the course of years with ten fascinating and very different individuals who share two basic things in common an autism spectrum diagnosis and a life in which music plays a central part These conversations offer profound insights into the intricacies and intersections of music
